

Letter from the Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 26, 1864.

Dear Mr. Democrat: Leaving old Columbia on Saturday last I had a pleasant journey and enjoyed the beautiful scenery through the country to this City. Business here is brisk, although not quite the usual average of travel, for the season of the year. Prices advanced yesterday on many articles of trade, from one to three hundred per cent. It is almost starting to contemplate the condition to which our country has come, and the end is not yet. Gold, to-day, is selling at $182!

The Boiler in Cornelison & Baker's Machine Shop, in Eight & Cherry Streets, exploded yesterday morning, and killed some 15 or 20 persons. A portion of the Engine, weighing over a ton, was thrown over two squares, falling into a Livery Stable and killed a man and two horses. There were about 300 men at work in the building at the time, and it was yet unknown how many were killed and wounded. These Engines are nuisances in Cities or Towns.

Among the exciting questions of the day is the agitation of the Removal Question of the Seat of our State Government to Philadelphia. The Harrisburgians stoutly demand the arrangement, and in order to secure its permanent location there, the municipal authorities, last week, appropriated $20,000 for the purchase of an Executive Mansion. The Senate, subsequently defeated the Removal Bill, which had passed the House, and there the question ended, for the present.

Disastrous reports from the Army, as much as some attempt to suppress the truth are believed here and in New York, and has caused the great and sudden rise in gold and goods. L. L. T.

Democratic Doctrine.

For the Columbia Democrat. Please permit space in your valuable paper, for the insertion of a few remarks to the Democracy, wherever your paper may appear. We should spare no means consistent with law and order, at the first opportunity, to regain power as our success is the only hope for the restoration of peace and union of these distracted and warring states. We have for three years been sadly experiencing the evil results of the incompetency with which public affairs have been administered, by those in power, and the unconstitutional purposes they are endeavoring to carry out. Has not this experience been sufficient to change the minds of those who unfortunately for us all, in eighteen hundred and sixty, left the Democratic party and voted for the Abolition candidates? If not, then, the future appears dark indeed. We should not despond because we failed to elect Woodward and Vallandigham governors, and slacken our efforts for success in the future, nor be intimidated at the threats of those in power, and their efforts to bind us with the chains of oppression, but with undaunted courage and pure motives press onward in the same constitutional path in which we have ever walked, regardless alike of all assumed laws and their execution which are unauthorized by the Constitution.

Second District: Major D. H. McPhail, at Harrisburg. The counties of Adams, Blair, Bradford, Cambria, Centre, Columbia, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Fulton, Huntingdon, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Luzerne, Lycoming, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Snyder, Union, Wyoming and York.

Mr. McCulloch, the Comptroller of the Currency, has addressed to the officers of the New National Banks, a cautionary circular in relation to the management of these institutions, from which we extract these true and timely remarks: "Be as constantly in mind, although the loyal States appear superficially to be in a prosperous condition, that such is not the case." That while the Government is engaged in the suppression of a rebellion of unexampled ferocity and magnitude, and is constantly draining the country of its laboring and producing population; and diverting its mercantile industry from works of permanent value to the construction of implements of warfare; while cities are crowded, and the country is to the same extent depleted, and waste and extravagance prevail as they never before prevailed in the United States, the nation, whatever may be the external indications, is not prospering.

"The war in which we are involved is a stern necessity; and must be prosecuted for the preservation of the Government, no matter what it may cost; but the country will unquestionably be the power every day it is continued. The seeming prosperity of the loyal States is owing mainly to the large expenditures of the Government and the redundant currency which these expenditures seem to render necessary. "Keep these facts constantly in mind, and manage the affairs of your respective banks with a perfect consciousness that the apparent prosperity of the country will be proved to be unreal when the war is closed, if not before; and be prepared, by careful management of the trust committed to you, to help to save the nation from a financial collapse, instead of lending your influence to make it more certain and more speedy."

A DEMOCRAT.

GOSWEN IND., April 6th, 1864.

Dear Sir: Enclosed I send you two dollars on subscription to the Columbia Democrat. Please send it along for I cannot do without it and the neighbors about here have taken a great fancy to it and think there is no paper like the good old Columbia Democrat. It is scattering bread upon the waters to be gathered many days hence, teaching the truth and exposing corruption whether it is found at home amongst party officials, or at the seat of Government amongst the ruling boys. Yours &c., J. R. I.

Who have Favored Disunion.

"We hold that the secessionists could have had a peaceful dissolution of the Union had they really desired it, and had the people of their States, after a free and fair discussion, decided to separate from the Union. So we told them at the time; so some of the leading Republican journals told them—all in good faith. President Lincoln, Governor Morgan, and nearly all of us, openly favored a convention of the States which (and which only, as the disunionists well know,) would have had power to decree a peaceful dissolution of the Union."—New York Tribune.

There it is—says the Cleveland Plain Dealer—the bold undisguised declaration of Horace Greeley that not only himself, but President Lincoln, and "nearly all" of the Republicans were in favor of a peaceful dissolution of the Union. Moreover, Greeley avers that they so told the Secessionists. This, it is to be observed, is no declaration made some time ago, but is published in Monday's issue of the Tribune. There isn't a "loyal" sheet in the country which will have the hardihood to deny that Greeley has now made free confession of his guilty complicity with the Southern rebels, charged Lincoln with being particeps criminis. When it is remembered that the Southern leaders in rebellion are charged with having been plotting the great revolts for years, it should be given in characters of fire upon the memory of the American people, that with full cognizance of the designs of Davis, Yancey, Toombs & Co. the leading Republicans, through their mouth pieces, assured them that they might peacefully dissolve. The strong fact demonstrated by this confession is that the Republican party really coveted the disruption of our glorious Union and ardently thirsted for division of the nation, rather than there should be any for their participation of the South in the public councils. We have now the very key to the anti-slavery excitement which was fomented by radical journals and stump speakers. It sprang from genuine hatred of slavery, and no genuine philanthropy for the negro but was a mere engine used to bring about a separation.

This was the real object of the statistics so often prepared by Wendell Phillips to show that both North and South would be bettered by dissolving political connection.—This was the object of Mr. Lincoln's celebrated argument in favor of the right of even a segment of a State to revolutionize. This was the object of the bitter invectives in Congress against the South, winding up the taunt that "the South couldn't be kicked out of the Union." For this object such men as Thompson were imported to widen the breach, and such legislation as the "personal liberty bills" made chronic and the foolish enthusiasm John Brown urged on to his mad raid in Virginia. It may be asked what has brought about a change in the sentiments of these men? We reply that there is no real change.—The terrible recoil after the bring on Sumner, seared the Abolitionists, and the hope now of utterly subjugating and crushing out the Southern people, placing negro soldiers over them, and sharing with these black troops in a general plunder of Southern estates, besides the immediate enjoyment of all the offices, emoluments and pickings incident to the war, make them for the present prone to Union, but at heart they are as honest and absolute traitors as they ever were.

A pretty set of fellows to be denouncing Jeff Davis and the Confederates! We notice that A. J. Detrick, Esq., of Williamsport, for several years past one of the leaders of the democracy of Lycoming county, and a Mr. Harvey, were arrested recently, at Washington city, on the charge of attempting to incite a cavalry company to revolt. Through the interference of Hon. Jas. T. Hale, member of Congress from this District, and Senator Buckalew, they were, however, soon released, and it is now announced that they were unconditionally discharged the arrests having been made through a misapprehension.

And of course there was no apology, as there was no excuse, for the outrage committed. Some "loyalist" suspects, and honest and decent men suffer, and that without redress. "A misapprehension, in deed—How many hundreds of men are now in dungeons by order of the "loyalists," who have never been brought to trial because arrested "through a misapprehension" which the officials dare not admit.—Our friend Detrick would have been another victim but for powerful friends and prompt action.

OUR soldier boys, accompanied by a large number of citizens, repaired to Mifflin on Sunday morning last to assist in the burial of brother soldier by the name of Washington Beck, who recently died at Fort Monroe. Mr. Beck entered the service last fall, and was attached to the 178th Reg. P. V. M. He subsequently returned home, and volunteered to fill the quota of Mifflin in the last draft, and had been in service but a few short weeks.—He was berated with the honors of war.—His age was 19 years 9 months and 27 days.—Berwick Gazette.

Is it possible that any soldier can be so foolish as to leave the city without a supply of Holloway's Ointment and Pills? Whoever does so will deeply regret it.—These medicines are the only certain cure for Bowel complaints, Fevers, Sores and Scoury. Only 30 cents per box or pot.

The Printer's Estate.

The printer's dollars—where are they? A dollar here, and a dollar there, restorer over numerous small towns, all over the country, miles and miles apart—how shall they be gathered together? The paper maker, the building owner, the journeyman compositor, the proof reader, the tailor, and all assistants to him in carrying on his business, have their demands, hardly ever so small as a single dollar.—But the miles from here and there must be diligently gathered and the liabilities will never become sufficiently bulky. We imagine the printer will have to get up an address to his widely-scattered dollars something like the following: "Dollars, halves, quarters, dimes, and all manner of fractions into which ye are divided, collect yourselves, and come home! Ye are wanted! Combinations of all sorts of men that help the printer to become a proprietor, gather such force, and demand, with such good reasons, your appearance at his counter, that nothing short of a sight of you will appease them. Collect yourselves, for valuable as you are in the aggregate, single you will never pay the cost of gathering. Come in here in single file; that the printer may form you into a battalion, and send you forth again to battle for him, and vindicate his feeble credit!"

Reader, are you sure you haven't a couple of the printer's dollars sticking about your clothes? GENIUS FOR SUCCESS—I have great confidence (says "Elsie Venner," in young men who believe in themselves, and are accustomed to rely period. When a resolute young fellow steps up to the great bully—the World—and takes him boldly by the beard, he is often surprised to find it come off in his hand, and that it was only tied on to scare away timid adventurers. I have seen young men more than once, who came to a great city without a single friend, support themselves and pay for their education, lay up money in a few years, grow rich enough to travel and establish themselves in life, without ever asking a dollar of any person which they had not earned. But these are exceptional cases. There are horse-tamers born so, we all know; there are women-tamers who bewitch the sex as the pied piper bewitched the children of Hamelin; and there are world-tamers, who can make any community—even a Yankee one—get down and let them jump on its back as easily as Mr. Rarey saddled Crusier.

Why yes, of course, that is all so—but it is not so very hard a matter we fancy.—"The Nigger" has the whole Yankee community down and leaping on its back with great glee and satisfaction; and the fun of the thing is, that the said "Yankee community" seems to like it. Jumping on its back! Yes indeed, and the Yankee is carrying Sambo and Dinah. Go on, the "Community" is certainly bewitched.

Soldiers and their Duty.

Gen. Rosecrans, at St. Louis, has issued an order relating to breaches of the civil law by soldiers. It contains the following: "honorable, soldier like and statesman like sentiment, which every true patriot and lover of law and order will heartily endorse: "Officers and soldiers are reminded that their functions being to establish law and justice against armed opposition too strong for the officers of the civil power, their uniform becomes a sacred badge, and whoever wearing it, commits or permits wrong or outrage to persons or property, gains that badge, and stabs the country he professes to serve. Military power is a trust more sacred and honorable than a trust of property. He who misuses this power to gratify or benefit himself is more guilty and dishonorable than the violators of a pecuniary trust. Impartial justice and the strictest regard for the weak and defenceless are therefore the duty and the glory of the true patriotic soldier. They are, also, the marks of true nobility and courage, while cruelty and injustice are the sure badges of baseness and cowardice."

The author of the above is one of those high-minded soldiers who has too much military pride to see the army converted into a lawless mob. If all high military functionaries had heretofore thus taught we should not hear of as many outrages by soldiers upon citizens as are now occurring daily throughout the country. The truth is, the soldiers are not alone to blame. The greatest offenders are those cowardly abolition orators and editors who, for partisan purposes, have stimulated soldiers to the perpetration of these crimes, which, if not stopped, will soon provoke a spirit of retaliation that had better not be awakened—a retaliation that will be visited upon the real offenders—a retaliation that may not be bloodless. Let the real offenders be warned in time!

WADSWORTH said in the United States Senate not long ago that "when he heard a man in these times talk all the time about the Constitution, he suspected him of being a traitor." Daniel Webster once said: "The Constitution of the United States is a written instrument, a record of fundamental law; it is the bond, the only bond of the Union of the States; it is all that gives us national character."

Webster was a statesman and a patriot; Wade is a demagogue and a traitor. Webster is dead, but living in the respect of mankind. Wade is living, but dead to all virtuous respect in the world.
