IMPORTANT TO ALL INVALIDS.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

It is well known to the medical profession that IRON is the most important element of the blood. This is derived chiefly from the food we eat, but if the food is not properly digested, or if from any cause what ever the quantity of iron in the blood is diminished, the circulation is impeded, and the whole system suffers. The blood then becomes thin, and the heart, which pumps it, is obliged to labor more and more, until it is worn out, and the patient dies. It is therefore, of the highest importance, that every one who is afflicted with any of the above mentioned symptoms, should take a course of the following medicine, which will not only restore the iron to the blood, but will also improve the general health, and prolong life.

IRON AS A MEDICINE.

It is well known and acknowledged by all medical men, that iron is the most important element of the blood. It is therefore, of the highest importance, that every one who is afflicted with any of the above mentioned symptoms, should take a course of the following medicine, which will not only restore the iron to the blood, but will also improve the general health, and prolong life.

POETRY.

What I Live For.

I live for those who love me,
For those I know, are true,
For the heaven that smiles above me,
And waits my spirit too;
For the human ties that bind me,
For the task by God assigned me,
For the bright hopes left behind me,
And the good that I can do.

I live to learn their story,

Who suffered for my sake,
To emulate their glory,
And follow in their wake:
Bards, Martyrs, patriots, sages,
The noble of all ages,
Whose deeds crown history's pages,
And Time's great volume make.

I live to hail the season,

By gifted minds foretold,
When man shall rule by reason,
And not alone by gold.
When man to man united,
And every wrong thing righted,
The whole world shall be lighted,
As Eden was of old.

I live to hold communion,

With all that is divine,
To feel there is a union,
To twist Nature's heart and mine;
To profit by affliction,
To reap truth from fields of fiction,
To grow wiser from conviction,
And fulfil each grand design.

I live for those who love me,

For those who know me true,
For the heaven that smiles above me,
And waits my spirit too;
For the wrong that needs resistance,
For the cause that lacks assistance,
For the future in the distance,
And the good that I can do.

THE FREMONT MANIFESTO.

The Cleveland Convention.

The following call for a Mass Convention of Republicans to nominate a candidate for the Presidency, in opposition to the nominee of the Baltimore Convention, appeared in the New York Tribune of Friday last:

To the People of the United States.

After having labored ineffectually to defer as far as was in our power the critical moment when the attention of the people must inevitably be fixed upon the selection of a candidate for the Chief Magistracy of the country; after having interrogated our consciences and consulted our duty as citizens, obeying at once the sentiment of natural conviction and a profound affection for the common country, we feel ourselves impelled, on our own responsibility, to declare to the people that the time has come for all independent men, jealous of their liberties and of the national greatness, to coalesce together and unite to resist the swelling invasion of an open, shameless, and unrestrained patronage which threatens to nullify under its destructive waves the rights of the people, the liberty and dignity of the nation.

Deeply impressed with the conviction that in a time of revolution, when the public attention is turned exclusively to the success of arms, and is consequently less vigilant of the public liberties, the patronage derived from the organization of an army of a million of men, and an administration of affairs which seeks to control the remotest parts of the country in favor of its supreme chief, constitute a danger seriously threatening to the stability of republican institutions, we declare that the principle of one term, which has now acquired nearly the force of law by the consecration of time, ought to be inflexibly adhered to in the approaching election.

We further declare that we do not recognize in the Baltimore Convention the essential conditions of a truly National Convention. Its proximity to the centre of all the interested influences of administration, its distance from the centre of the country, its mode of convocation, the corrupting practices to which it has been and inevitably will be subjected, do not permit the people to assemble there with any expectation of being able to deliberate at full liberty. Convinced, as we are, that in presence of the critical circumstances in which the nation is placed, it is only in the energy and good sense of the people that the general safety can be found, satisfied that the only way to consult it is to indicate a central position to which every one may go without too much expenditure of means and time, and where the assembled people, far from all administrative influence, may consult freely and deliberate peaceably with the presence of the greatest possible number of men whose known principles guarantee their sincere and enlightened devotion to the rights of the people and to the preservation of the true basis of republican government—we earnestly invite our fellow-citizens to unite at Cleveland, Ohio, on Tuesday, the 31st of May next, for consultation and concert of action in respect to the approaching Presidential election.

Col. Wolford, who made the late telling assault on Lincoln's Administration, has appointments to speak in Kentucky.

A FALSE WIFE.—In August 1861,

William Rhodenbaugh, of Berlin, Mercer county, Illinois, a house carpenter by trade, having a comfortable home and five acres of land, a wife and four children, believed it to be his duty to join the army and help put down the rebellion. He enlisted in the 27th Ill. Vol. (Gen. N. B. Buford's old regiment) and marched to battle. While absent, fighting the battles of the Union, a villain who generally went by the name of Job Fuller, though he had several other names, came into the neighborhood, procured employment of one and another, in the region, and made the acquaintance of Rhodenbaugh's wife. He came into the neighborhood last summer, and soon after making the acquaintance of this woman, he made her house his home, until sometime in February, when, learning that her husband was coming home on furlough, she sold off everything that belonged to her husband, stock, tools, furniture, &c., &c., destroying his account books, papers, &c., and left the place with this man Fuller. One of the children died last October, and she took the other three with her. She went to her mother's in Pennsylvania, with the children, and Mr. Rhodenbaugh's friends succeeded in getting the two oldest, and the woman left for parts unknown, with the other.

This man Fuller is described as a tall man, about 6 feet, rather heavy and tawny colored looking, black hair and beard and dark eyes, and is said to be a deserter from the army. They took away some $400 in money, obtained from property sold and money sent to the woman by her husband. The woman was about 31 years old, rather under size, rather thin, fair complexion and light brown hair.

There is said to be plenty of evidence that she and this man Fuller lived together in a state of adultery, and Mr. Rhodenbaugh will take the earliest means to obtain a divorce from her, and endeavor to place detectives on their track for the purpose of bringing them to punishment.

Mr. Rhodenbaugh requests that Mon-ter county papers will copy this notice.
