WATER SHOULD NOT EVAPORATE ON SOILS.

Another correspondant asks a question which it is pertinent to canisder in this connection. He writes :—"You urge drainage and deep culture. Why? To allow the water to leach through the soil? It not do more harm than good if allowed to escape in that way?" We cannot suppose that our correspondent can be really serious in asking such questions, though he may be, for we know that they are natural ones for the thoughtless, or for these ignorant of natural laws, to entertain.

In reply, we would provide that the water which falls from the clouds should pass down through the soil, because, 1. It adds element to its fertility. Rain contains ammonia. Indeed, it is perhaps the most important meane of conveying the ammonia of the atmosphere to the roots of plants. But if there is no provision by which it may pass down through the soil it (the water) evaporates, the ammonia is liberated in the atmosphere again, and the process of evaporation cools the surface of the soil and retards vegetable growth or development. Water should not be allowed to stand on the surface of soils, whether grain or grass lands, to evaporate.

2. The air follows water and operates to disintegrate the particles of soil and liberate food for the plant to take up, as well as furnishes food direct. And air being admitted, the moisture of the atmosphere supplies the plant in time of drouth—in other words, the soil is in condition to absorb and retain moisture sufficient for the purposes of vegetable growth, without obstructing that groth by a surplus which must be got rid of by the chilling (to the plant) process of evaporation.

3. Not the least important is the increased action of light and heat, from the sun, in the developement of the plant. All know that the hot, dry seasons develop the most good, nutrities in forage and fruit. The grape gives more sugar, the sugar cane yields a greater per cent. of sacharing matter, the seeds of the grains are more perfectly developed, the juices of the grasses are more nutrious, even though the growth is far less, in a dry season than in a wet one. And on deep tilled, well drained soils, it has been again and again demonstrated that drouths do not diminish the quantity, and are sure to improve the quality of the product.

No, good friend, rain-water is manure if properly used. But it must not evaporate. It is God's way of irrigating your soil—a wonderful provision of which you should take advantage. It falls upon the earth, does its work, bubbles out at the hill side in springs—the mouths of God's underdrains—follows the path of rivulet and river to the ocean, ascends in vapor, becomes clouds and descends as rain. So on your little domain you must make the minor under drains and water-course which God in His wisdom has taught you are necessary. And you will reap the reward of your labor in more abundant harvests, fewer failures, a more healthful climate, and less suffering during both the wet and the dry seasons.

NATURE AN ECONOMIST.

What an economist is nature, so made by God! She economizes even the light she so immensely possesses; catches it on the moon as a candle, after the sun has gone down, as we say, when he is but rising on other lands, and sends it inconceivably far to us from the stars. She economizes heat, equalizing it for the life and health of the whole world, by currents in the air and ocean and of the electric fluid. She economizes water, to answer a thousand successive important purposes, in a thousand different places, with the same drop. How nicely and carefully she sifts out its minutest portions from the briny sea, to cleanse the air and revive the plants at this season, to fill the springs, and paint the sky, and support all human life! How, with her mighty elemental agencies, she crumbles and bears down the barren rock from the mountains and the hills, to fertilize, for boundless and endless crops, the valley and the plain! How she makes the ashes of the dead spring into the grass, and blossom into flowers! How, applying the same economy to crude mineral, from the very gravel in the ground she distills a curious, delicate wash to protect the tender stalks of the growing grain, though you may not think what perhaps cuts your hand to bleeding in this varnish of flint.

How she saves every hair, particle, nail-pairing, and exhalation, to turn it to some account! How she converts ice, and the snow that manures the poor man's ground, into harvests of corn and wheat! How she nourishes her vegetable offspring, so that her animal may not die of hunger! The roots of a shrub, thirsty for a supply that had been drawn aside by an artificial channel, have been known, in their resolution not be defrauded, to find their way to the aqueduct under ground, and bore a hole through its soft wooden plug, that every fibre might drink its fill, as was divinely intended.

AN INTERESTING HISTORY OF
DR. SCHENCK'S OWN CASE,
WHILE LABORING UNDER CONSUMPTION,
And how his Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills act on the System in curing that disease, and the GREAT SUCCESS ATTENDING IT!

The above is a correct likeness of Dr. Schenck taken many years ago, after he had recovered from Consumption, by a course of his "SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP." The likeness, although it does not represent him anything like as bad as he was at the worst, yet it is in strong contrast with the hale and vigorous looks of the Portrait below, which is the true likeness of him at the present time. The contrast between these two portraits is so great that many would not believe them to be the same person. Yet there are hundreds of persons, in and around Philadelphia, who will recognise both portraits to be true representations. When the first was taken he weighed 107 pounds; at the present time his weight is 220 pounds.

New York, Wednesday, March 30, 1864.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Thirty years ago I was in the last stages of Pulmonary Consumption, and given up to die. I resided in Philadelphia, and Dr. Joseph Parrish, then of this city, or next me to Moorestown, N. J., a distance of nine miles, which took me two days to get there. On my arrival I was put to bed, and there laid for many weeks. This was my native place, where all my family lived and had died of Consumption. Dr. Thornton, who attended my father in his last illness, was called, and gave me over to death, to finish up my affairs. He had seen all my family go that way, and thought I was to go, too. When I heard of the remedies I now offer to the public, which cured me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrating my whole system.

They soon ripened the matter on my lungs, and I would spit off more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning, as soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pain, night sweats—all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and I have been growing in flesh ever since. For many years I have enjoyed uninterrupted good health, keeping the liver and stomach healthy with the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, as I am of a bilious temperament. My weight is two hundred and twenty pounds. On my recovery people would send for me, far and near, to see if their cases were like mine. For this purpose I pay professional visits in the large cities. The consumptives wish to see the egg that makes these medicines, and who was cured of consumption by them. To make new lungs is impossible; but cavities in the lungs and chronic ulcerations of the bronchial tubes can be healed. Such cases are dying hourly under the ordinary treatment of physicians, and just such are cured by the proper use of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills.

I am now a healthy man, with a large cavity in the middle lobe of the right lung, the lower lobe very much hepatized and complete adhesion of the pleura. The left lung is sound, and the upper lobe of the right lung is in a tolerably healthy condition. The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is they try to do too much; they give medicines to stop the cough, to stop chill, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and, by so doing, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies. After I make a careful examination of the patient with the Respirometer, and find lungs enough left to cure, I direct the patient how to use the three remedies. Remove the cause and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of consumption, liver complaint, dyspepsia, catarrh, canker, ulcerated throat, elongation of uvula, is more prevalent than in any other section of the country. This is frequently caused by a foul stomach. You may burn it out with caustic time and again, and all they will get is temporary relief. Correct the stomach and liver, and they will heal up themselves.

Good nutrition is the remedy. If you have any disease in any part of the body, it will remain there and decay more and more until you can get this part in the condition to digest food, and make new blood to take the place of diseased matter. This is the only way to heal cavities in the lungs and ulcerated bronchial tubes. Correct the stomach and liver, and nature will do the healing. Many persons have an idea that certain medicines are great purifiers of the blood.—When blood is once diseased, it cannot be purified; it is diseased the same as the diseased matter in the system; but get the apparatus in order, the liver and stomach, and give it plenty of nourishing food, it will make new blood, which will take the place of that which is diseased.

Schenck's Pulmonic syrup is one of the best preparations of iron in use. it is a powerful tonic of itself, and when the Seaweed Tonic dissolves the mucus in the stomach, and it is carried off by the aid of the Mandrake Pills, the Pulmonic Syrup is made into blood.—This is the only way to cure consumption. If I can get a good appetite, and food does not digest, I cannot cure the patient. Never mind the cough; remove the cause and it will stop of itself. This is the most trouble I have with my patients at my rooms. They say, "Doctor, I feel stronger; I can eat; my night sweats are better, and I feel encouraged this way; but my cough is so bad yet;" and they are astonished to hear me say that does not matter; remove the cause and it will stop itself. Schenck's Seaweed creates a good appetite in about nine days, when there is no ung disease, unless the liver is so engorged that the Mandrake Pills cannot unlock the ducts of the gall bladder in that short space of time, in order to allow the stuff to bile to pass off. Keep the liver and the stomach healthy and there is less danger of consumption or any other disease. It is hard to take cold when those organs are healthy. Those that are bilious, low spirited, dreary, feeling stupid, coated tongue, poor appetite, nervous, stomach full of wind, everything that is eaten lies heavy, loss of muscular power, try one bottle of SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and one box of SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS. It is only a cost of one dollar and twenty-five cents, with full directions. This is sufficient, in many cases, to satisfy what the medicines are. Frequently one bottle makes a great change in the system. Any person that enjoys ordinary health, by using the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills occasionally, must get the digestive organs in such a healthy condition that they become healthy. I can produce a number of my old consumptive patients now enjoying good health, weighing nearly 200 pounds. I will conclude by stating three cases I have made in New York, and which are all different, and wish any one who feels any interest in the matter to visit them.

First is Mrs. Farlow, residing then at No. 107 Houston street. Her husband called upon me at my room, 32 Bond street, and wished me to call and see her. He said I could do no good; that he had all the best medical attendance, and that she was too far gone with Consumption to be cured; but she had heard of some great cures I had made, and he desired to gratify her wishes. I called, and found her lying confined to her bed in the last stage of bronchial consumption, and without doubt must have died soon. I examined her lungs, found both bronchial tubes very much affected, but no cavities had formed, her cough was very severe, the spit-box was half full of thick pus. Pulse 140, legs swollen very much; and worse than all she had chronic diarrhœa. Her bowls had been moved eleven times that day. I told her she had lungs enough to be cured, but that this diarrhœa had been long standing, and her stomach was in such an ulcerated condition that I was afraid nothing could be done. She insisted I should try and do what I could for her, observing that she would not last long in the condition she was in, and I could not make her any worse. I gave her first a dose of my Mandrake Pills, and the tonic and syrup freely. That was on Tuesday, and by the next Sunday the diarrhœa was nearly left, her appetite had returned and she could sit up in bed and eat her dinner. She is now well, and gave me a long certificate, certified to by the Rev. Dr. Dowling.

Mrs. Bartholomew, 23 West Forty-fifth street, came to my rooms with a tumor on her liver. She was low-spirited, skin sallow, tongue coated, bowels costive, no appetite, and fast rushing into the grave. The said tumor had been running over fourteen years. I gave her Syrup, Tonic and Pills, and told her to take them just as the directions were printed. She came back to my rooms, 32 Bond street in two weeks, somewhat better; her tongue had begun to clean a little around the edges, her skin whiter and her eyes brighter, and the tumor discharging very offensive matter, much faster than it had ever done before. She kept gradually improving, and in about two months she came to my rooms very much frightened, saying that the tumor had nearly stopped running, and was healing up, and that every doctor had told her that if it ever healed it would cause her death. I told her that the disease had all left her system, and nature would heal the ulcer up. They are now healed, and have been for about a year, and she is as hearty and robust a woman as you will find in a days walk. She is glad for any one to call on her, and takes great pains to visit any one that she hears has anything like her case, and tries to get them to come and see me. The next case is Miss Scofield, from Stamford, Conn. Mrs. Bartholomew got her down to see me, and she has been ever since at her house. When she first came to my rooms, she was much emaciated with a distressing cough, spitting large quantities of blood. I examined her lungs with the respirometer, and in all my practice never found one with one lung so far gone and the other lung so sound. I could not give much encouragement. I thought she would die; but to my astonishment the Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills all seemed to go right to work, the lung is all healed over, leaving a cavity as large as a goose egg; good appetite, fine spirits, and has gained some thirty-five pounds in weight. She has some cough yet, which I do no not think will leave her before June. I should think it would be of great interest to some unprejudiced physician to visit these cases, particularly Miss Scofield, or any of them who have been cured by my medicines. They are numerous in New York, but the above three all differ from each other: and if my medicines are doing what I represent they are, they should have the credits and the afflicted know where and how they may be cured.

IMPORTANT TO ALL
INVALIDS.
IRON IN THE BLOOD.

It is well known to the medical profession that IRON is the Vital Principle or Life Element of the blood.—This is derived chiefly from the food we eat; but if the food is not properly digested, or if from any cause whatever, the necessary quantity of iron is not taken into the circulation, or becomes reduced, the whole system suffers. The bad blood will irritate the heart, will clog up the lungs, will obstruct the liver and will send its disease-producing elements to all parts of the system, and every one will suffer in whatever organ may be predisposed to disease.

The great value of

is well known and acknowledged by all medical men The difficulty has been to obtain such a preparation as it as will enter the circulation and assimilate at once with the blood. This point, says Dr. Hayes, Massachusetts State Chemist, has been attained in the Peruvian Syrup, by combination in a way before unknown.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP

Five Safes in one fire. All came out right; with contents in good condition.

The Salamander Safes of Philadelphia against the world.

EVANS & WATSON,

have had the surest demonstration in the following certificate that their manufacture of Salamander Safes has at length fully warranted the representations which have been made of them as rendering an undoubted security against the terrific element.

Philadelphia April 12, 1856.

Messrs Evans & Watson: Gentlemen—It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you, that owing to the very protective qualities of one of the Salamander Safes which we purchased of you some five month since we saved a large portion of [illegible] our books, &c., exposed to the catastrimous fire in Runstead place on the morning of the 11th inst.

When we reflect that these safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied and that they fell subsequently into a heap of burning ruins, where the vast concentration of the fire must caused the brass plates to melt, we cannot but regard the preservation of their valuable contents as most convincing proof of the great security afforded by your safes.

We shall take great pleasure in recommending them to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED
STOMACH BITTERS.

A pure and powerful Tonic, corrective and alterative of wonderful efficacy in disease of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either Sex, arising from Bodily Weakness whether inherent in the system or produced by special causes.

NOTHING that is not wholesome, genial and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulents.

It is well to be forewarned against disease, and so far as the human system can be protected by human means against maladies engendered by an unwholesome atmosphere, impure water and other external causes, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS may be relied on as a safeguard.

In districts infested with Fever and Ague, it has been found infallible as a preventive and irresistible as a remedy and thousands who feared to fall under apprehension of an attack, escape the scourge; and thousands who neglect to avail themselves of its protective qualities in advance, are cured by a very brief course of this marvelous medicine. Fever and Ague patients, after being paled with quinine for months in vain, until fairly saturated with that dangerous alkaloid, are not unfrequently restored to health within a few days by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this agreeable Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit inside Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is most conclusive, and from both sexes.

The agony of Bilious Colic is immediately assuaged by a single dose of the stomulant, and by occasionally resorting to it, the return of the complaint may be prevented.

As a general Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional weakness, premature decay and debility and decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are retarded, it regulates to a nicety, forces and reestablish them. Last, but not least, it is the safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

No family medicine has been so universally, and it may be truly added, deservedly popular with the intelligent portion of the community, as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.
