and the Englishman us usual brought up from the cellar the morning's rations of whiskey in a mug, what he supposed sufficient for all hands. In consideration of Starkey being the "new hand" he handed him the mug first. Starkey, nothing loth, drained it without stopping to take breath. The Englishmen, amazed at the fellow's "capacity" said ironically. "Have some more, Mr. Starkey ! "Oh, no," said Starkey, innocently, "I never take big drams, like some folks l"

MOB LAW REVIVED. - A mob of cowardly ruffians destroyed the State and Union office, at Portsmouth, N. H. on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Foster, the editor, had a plain way of talking Democratic truth that the Administration lackeys didn't like, and a gang of bullies were obtained to silence a man whom they could not answer by logic and argument. We trust that this lawless vagabondiem will be checked at once by the proper pu thorities, and that the rights of a free press, under legal restrictions, will be guaranteed in New Hampshire. The General Government cannot afford, at this time, particularly, to suffer such an outrage to pass by unnoticed and unpunished.
