

[For the Country Gentleman and Cult vater.]

I have a little daughter-Her school-life's just begun : She's like the radiant supshine At break of early morn. Her little heart is cheery, Her pretty voice is sweet,

Her lipstike pouting cheeries, With kisses all replete. Her soul is full of brightness,

With winning words of gladness, She banishes all gloom. Flowers circle in her path, Pearls of love float mid-air, Kindred words are seattered wide-Happy hearts are beating there.

And through our happy home

Oh Thou who suffered children To come to Thee on earth, And with words of tender pathos Revealed the spirit's birth ; Oh keep her pure and holy.

Her beart with love natold, And when the lambs are gathered. Oh glean her to thy fold. Metrose, May, 1865. O. H. PECK.

The Crops and Markets. In the Market-Lane Express of May 22d, we have the following :

"Some frosts having followed the late copious rains, the young cereals were getting yellow and stunted; and where the wheat plants were thin and weak very little growth has made, but we have now good reason to expect a speedy revival, if many still insist that an average crop is doubtful. The markets have again been improving as to prices, and in many cases an advance of 1s. per qr. has been realised; but low values have so long been the order of the day, that millers still make their purchases with great reserve, maintaining that there are yet large stocks of home-growth in the country. For the country's sake it is to be hoped that this is partly true, as granaries for foreign have been emptying fast, nor does there seem much prospect that the corn used up will be readily replaced, the late large arrivals of the coast having gone of briskly,and been widely distributed. It would appear that the recent storms experienced in this country have prevailed in many parts of Europe, accompanied with much hail; and doing considerable local injury in France, Switzerland, and other parts,

. I have used soot and milk, for the prevention of cattle biting trees, efficaciously for the last fifteen years. I sometimes put seated or standing, that have yet been produced in s little soft soap with it, which makes it lay on better and last twice the time .-It many cases it washes off in a month or six weeks, and if not applied again the fault is in the man, not in the remedy. I planted an orchard in the autumn, and the first night the rabbits commenced nibbling. I had the trees painted the next day, and have seen no signs of it again until now very lately, and must paint them again .-It is the same with horses biting the bark of the trees. The only objection is the black color.

Teaching Hogs to Destroy Thistles.

We copy the following from an Irish journal :- "Tramp on the buds of a goodly number of the largest plants in the spring, and place on the buds a teaspoonful of salt; then turn your hoge on them. They will eat the roots of the salted plants first, and will thus acquire a fondness for them, and will continue them daily as long as they can be found. If but one hog be educated in this way, be will teach the whole heard to eat them, and they will exterminate all on the farm."

To Cure Wormy Trees. The following receipe is published in the New York Evening Post :

With a large gimlet or auger bore into the body of the tree, just below where the limbs start, in three places, a groove inclining downwards. With a small tunnel pour a shilling's worth of quicksilver into each groove. Peg it up closely, and watch the result. Had it been done when the sap first started on its upward ofrcuit it would have been more efficacious-yet, even now, it will greatly abate the puis-

The plan was first tried for a wormy apple tree by Samuel Jones, Esq., of Caman, Columbia county, N. Y., and with entire success. It is believed that far from demaging the trees, it will even add to the beauty of foliage. In case of the fruit shove mentioned the cure was surprising, not only the fruit becoming perfact and beautiful, but the very leaf seemed to grow larger and far more dark and glossy.

My treatment for Consumption and Bronchial affections has been attended with great success. I do not follow the beaten track of the past ages, but attack the disease upon principles that have a sound scientific basis; and I have restored thousands by simple remedite, that have been given over by other physicians as incurable. Under the ordinary treatment the patients always die, under my treatment there is some hope.
