Harper's New Monthly Magazine.

Harper's New Monthly Magazine.

The design of the Publishers, in 'ssuing this work, is to place within the reach of the great mass of the Mareiran people the unbounded treasures of the Periodical Literature of the present day. Periodicals enlist much of the literary talent and creative genius of the age. The best writers, in every nation, devote themselves mainly to the Reviews, Magazines, and Newspapers. Through the pages of these, the most powerful historical essays, the most elaborate critical disquisitions, the most exquisite delineations of manners and of Nature, the highest Poetry and the most brilliant Wit, have, within the last ten years, found their way to the public heart.

The ablest and best productions of Lamartine, Dickens, Alison, Lever, Buiwer, Croly, and Macauley, are found in Reviews, Newspapers, and Magazines. Their productious, however, intermingled with much that is of merely local and transient interest, are seattered through scores of Periodicals, so as to make it obvicusly impossible that, under present circumstances, any considerable number even of the reading public, and much more, that the great mass of the community, should have an opportunity of becoming familiar with them.

The Publishers of the New Monthly Magazine will contain 144 pages octavo, in double columns. The volumes of a single year, therefore, will present nearly two thousand pages of the Miscellaneous Literature of the age. The Magazine will contain 144 pages octavo, in double columns. The volumes of a single year, therefore, will present nearly two thousand pages of the Miscellaneous Literature of the age. The Magazine will transfer to its pages, as rapidly as they may be issued, the continuous tales of Dickens, Ballwer, Croly, Lever, Warren, and other distinguished columns to see the seading Quarterly Reviews of both Great Britain and the United Sta'es: critical notices of universal interest: notices of events in Science, Literature, and Art, in which the people at large have an interest, &c., &c. The "gossips of Rivertown," which forms a large part of this volume, by that fascinating and agreeable writer, Mrs. Alice B.
Neal, has received unqualified praise from the press in all parts of the country. To the readers of Neal's Saturday Gazette aud Godey's Lady's Book, she is to well known to need commendation, but those who have not read her sketches should take this volume. It forms a suitable companion to "Greenwood Leaves" and "Fanny Forrester's Alderbrook." It is beautif, lly printed from new type, on the best paper, and embellished with a very correct likeness of the author engraved on steel. We have published with a very low price, in order to command that extensive sale which it so richly merits.

Clubs of three will have the work 'forwarded by mail, postage paid, on remitting
