iff water, will digest or dissolve, Five Pounds of Rocal Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.

DIGESTION.

Digestion is Chiefly performed in the stomach by the aid of a finid which freely exudes from the inner cout of that organ, when in a state of health, called the Gastric Juice. This Zaid is the Great solvent of the Food, the Purifying, Preserving, and Stimulating Agent of the stomach and intensines. Without it there will be no digestion,—ho conversion of food into blood, and no mutrition of the body; but rather a foul, torpid painful, and destructive condition of the whole digestive apparatus. A weak, half dead, or injured stomach produces no good Gastric Joice, and hence the disease, distress and debility which ensue.

PEPSIN ASDALLENT,—Pepsili is the chief element, or great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice. It is found in great abundance in the solid parts of the human stomach after de uth, and sometimes causes the stomach to digest itself, or eat itself up. It is also found in the stomach of animals, as the ox, calf, &c. It is the material used by farmers in making cheese, called Rennest, the effect of which has long been the special wonder of the dairy. The curdling of milk is the first process of digestion. Reinnet possesses astonishing power. The stomach of a calf will curdle nearly one thousand times its own weight of milk. Baron Liebig states that, One part of Pepsin dissolved in sixty thousand parts of water, will digest meat and other food. Piseased stomachs produce no good Gastric Juice Rennet or Pepsin. To show that this want may be perfectly supplied, we quote the following

These were nearly all desperate cases, and the cures were not only rapid and wonderful, but permanent.
