Sacrel Scenes and Characters.—By the Rev. J. T. Headley. This work may be very properly considered a companion to the "Sacred Mountains," by the same author. Is object is to illustrate and "render more life-like" the sacred writings. It is not the author's design to supersede the Bible. But his wish is excite a solicitude to obtain, and to become intimately acquainted and perfectly familiar with its history, doctrines and laws; to know its truth to imbibe its spirit, feel its power, and partake of its salvation; in a word, to prize in sorre measure as it deserves, this treasure which is indeed beyond price. We predict for it a circulation far beyond any of the author's former works.

[The News, Jan. 7th. Rambles and Sketches.—By Rev. J. T. Headley. We have not for a long time sat down to a book with more pleasing anticipations, or found those auticipations more fully re-

ley. We have not for a long time sat down to a book with more pleasing anticipations or found those auticipations more fully re alized, than in the perusal of the work be alized, than in the perusal of the work before us, and we know it will be hailed with gratification by the many admirers of the talented author. His "Napoleon and his Marshals" was, perhaps, as popular and found at least as many enthusiastic readers as any book that can be mentioned. We think the Rambles and Sketches are destined to be as popular at least as any of his previously published works. There is not a dull chapter in the work, filled as it is with "an infinite variety." The author has ample room and verge enough for the employment of his fine talents to great advantage, and most successfully has he accomplished the task. The biographical sketch of the author is interesting and "well considered," and adds much to the value of the book, which is got up in a very neat and attractive

Mr, Headley is one of themost promising writers of this country, and we have here one of his best books—one on which he can safely rest his fame. It possesses the unfatiguing charms of perfect simplicity and truth. There is graceful frankness perveding the composition, which engages the interest of the reader in the author as well as in the subject. His rambles about Rome, Paris and London exhibit a theusand traits of an ingeniuous nature, upon which a man of taste will delight to linger. We predict for this a sale could 2 to that of any of the author's works.

will delight to linger. We predict for this a sale equal to that of any of the author's works. [New York News.]

The collection is one of which no suthon need he ashamed. It consists, indeed, of some of Mr. Headley's most brilliant and highly finished compositions of those specimens of his abilities by which he may be judged with the greatest safety to his fame as a word-painter and abilities by which he may be judged with the greatest safety to his fame as a word-painter and thinker.

C. IIwmmol's ESSENCE OF COFFEE.

A BOUT two years ago a new discovery was made in Europe, consisting of a substitute for the ordinary store coffee, called Essence of Coffee, which has gone into general use with astonishing rapidity, not only among the poorer classes, who at once dispensed with the use of the celebrated Chickory Coffee, but is now in general use in the wealthiest families and the first hotels, and is highly recommended by the medical faculty.

wealthiest families and the first hotels, and is highly recommended by the medical faculty.

It is extracted from pure, wholesome vegetables, and excels all similar preparations that have ever been offered to the public, either in this country or in Europe. Its superior quality has already been attested to in the cities by some of the most eminent physicians, and a number of the most distinguished of the clergy and other highly respectable citizens. Coffee made from this essence according to the prescription obtains a more delicious and pleasant favor than the common store coffee, and is certainly more wholesome, especially for persons in delicate health, which will be admitted by every physician who will take the pains to test the nature and properties of this essence.

One paper costing only 12½ cts., is equal to four pounds of store coffee, will be bright and clear without the application of any other ingredient to clarify or settle it. The public are therefore invited to give this essence at least a trial before they condemn it. A respectable merchant of Luzerne county in writing of it says:

"My customers have been using of the above Essence for some months past with general satisfaction; and I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public.

The editor enters upon his tisk with a deep sense of the responsibilities he bas assumed: but while he distuasts his qualifications for the ardnous duties which the persuasions of friends more than his own inclinations have imposed of him, he takes his post with a firm determination that the expectations of these friends shall not be disappoisted by any want on his own part of energy, constancy, courtesy, and a firm adherence to those great principles on which the honor, glory and prosperity of the country depend.

The Union will advocate principles, not ment, and it will be so conducted as to furnish no pre-text for the influptation that it will be devoted to the service of any political aspirant, or become the organ of any combination formed for the personal or political advancement of its members contrary to the principles and usages of the democratic party by rebuking those who would depart from its principles, or mar the beauty o its creed by the introduction of dangereus dec trines.

its creed by the introduction of dangereus Joc trines.

This great object of the Union is to compass political results; yet its co'umbs will not be devoted exclusively to politics. It will endeavor to keep up with the spirit of the age, and to present all discoveries in science or art, and mere especially to thronicle all improvements relative to agriculture, commerce and manufactures which may promote the interests and lead to the adoinment of the country.

The cause in which we have embarked cannot be sustained without a liberal patronage. A daily paper at Washington requires a heavy expenditore; and we therefore appeal to all those who wish us success to aid in procuring the means of succass by using their exertions to obtain patrons and subscribers. Our hopes are based solely on such support, and on the strength of the democratic party of the United State.

Solosion Nevilard, Esquire, Surveyor of the County of Columbia:

Sin—The act passed the tenth day of April, 1835, authorizing the graduation and valuation of the unpatented lands in this Commonwealth, by the Commissioners of the several counties, and which has been extended from time to time by supplemenary acts, expues on the tenth day of December, 1851 (see Pamphlet Laws, 1849, page 38), after which time no abatement of any interest can be made on the purchase money due on such lands. I have, therefore conceived it to be my duty to give this notice to all the County Surveyors. You will take such measures as you may deem proper to circulate this fact, in order that those interested may avait thenselves of the benefit of a law which favors those who own unpatented lands very much.

There is no appropriation made to defray the expenses of publishing this notice in the different counties, or else I should have taken that method of giving notice in the newspapers.
