SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE OF PA. June 30, 1851. Solomon Neyhard, Esquire, Surveyor of the County of Columbia:

Sin:—The act passed the tenth day of April, 1835, authorizing the graduation and valuation of the unpatented lands in this Commonwealth, by the Commissioners of the several counties, and which has been extended from time to time by supplemenary acts, exputes on the tenth day of December, 1851 (see Pamphlet Laws, 1849, page 38), after which time no abatement of any interest can be made on the purchase money due on such lands. I have, therefore conceived it to be my duty to give this notice to all the County Surveyors. You will take such measures as you may deem proper to circulate this fact, in order that those interested may avail themselves of the benefit of a law which favors those who own unpatented lands very much.

There is no appropriation made to defray the expenses of publishing this notice in the different counties, or else I should have taken that method of giving notice in the nowepapers. Very respectfully yours, J. PORTER BRAWLEY, Surveyor Gen.

Sacred Scenes and Characters—By the Rev. J. T. Headley. This work may be very properly considered a companion to the "Sacred Mountains," by the same author. Its object is to illustrate and "render more life-like" the sacred writings. It is not the author's design to supersede the Bible. But his wish is excite a solicitude to obtain, and to become intimately acquainted and perfectly familiar with its history, doctrines and laws; to know its truth to imbibe its spirit-feel its power, and partake of its salvation; in a word, to prize in sorre measure as it deserves, this treasure which is indeed beyond price. We predict for it a circulation far beyond any of the author's former works.

Rambles and Sketches—By Rev. J. T. Headley. We have not for a long time sat down to a book with more pleasing anticipations, or found those anticipations more fully realized, than in the perusal of the work before us, and we know it will be hailed with gratification by the many admirers of the talented author. His "Napoleon and his Marshals" was, perhaps, as popular and found at least as many enthusiastic readers as any book that can be mentioned. We think the Rambles and Sketches are destined to be as popular at least as any of his previously published works. There is not a dull chapter in the work, filled as it is with "an infinite variety." The author has ample room and verge enough for the employment of his fine talents to great advantage-and most successfully has he accomplished the task. The biographical sketch of the author is interesting and "well considered," and adds much to the value of the book, which is got up in a very neat and attractive style by the publisher.—See Portland Transscript, Dec. 15th.
