Glances at Europe.

By HORACE GREELY, Octavo, Cloth, Price $1

THIS volume comprises the observations made during Mr. Greeley's recent European tour, on Society, Man, and Custom, Art, Literature, Agriculture, Foreign Politics, and a great variety of other attractive and exciting topics. It has copious notices of the Great Exhibition or World's Fair in London, complete descriptions of the Cultivation of the Soil in different countries; brilliant criticisms of the Works of Art in the Great European Capitals; and graphic Sketches of Public and Domestic Life in London, Paris, Rome, &c., written in the frank, unpretending, and pungent style, for which Mr. Greeley is widely celebrated.

A more authentic, instructive, and amusing Book of Travels has probably never been issued from the American press. The vast amount of information which it contains presented in such a lively and off-hand manner, that the perusal of the volume becomes as interesting as a novel.

Whoever would obtain a fresh, vigorous, and complete view of the present state of England, should not fail to make himself acquainted with its contents. Even the discussion of the driest topics, which it sometimes takes up, is enlivened with such frequent flashes of humor, and pervaded with such genial and sparkling gaiety, that no one who commences the volume can lay it down without finishing its perusal.

We confidently anticipate a very extensive circulation for this work throughout the United States. The name of Horace Greeley, which is as widely known as that of any other American citizen, will excite a general curiosity to learn the results of his European adventures. Agents, Booksellers, and the Trade generally, will please send their Orders without delay to DEWITT & DAVENPORT, Publishers, Tribune Buildings, N. Y.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

For the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, CROUP, ASTHMA, WHOOPING-COUGH AND CONSUMPTION. In offering to the community this justly celebrated remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, it is not our wish to trade with the lives or health of the afflicted, but fairly to lay before them the opinions of distinguished men, and of the best medical authorities of the age, for whom they can vouch. We are not proud of our own merits, but we are proud of the merits of our medicine. We do not offer it to cure the cough, but to cure the disease which produces it. We do not offer it to cure the lungs, but to cure the system. We do not offer it to cure the blood, but to cure the cause. We do not offer it to cure the symptoms, but to cure the disease. We do not offer it to cure the patient, but to cure the cause. We do not offer it to cure the disease, but to cure the cause. We do not offer it to cure the cause, but to cure the cause. We do not offer it to cure the cause, but to cure the cause.
