Sacred Scenes and Characters, By the Rev. J. T. Headley. This work may be very properly considered a companion to the "Sacred Mountains," by the same author. It is designed to illustrate and "render more life-like" the sacred writings of the Bible, and to become intimately acquainted and perfectly familiar with its history, doctrines and laws to know its truth to imbibe its spirit, and most successfully to accomplish the task. The biographical notices, which are interspersed in the work, are not only interesting and "well conceived," but adds much to the value of the book, which is got up in a very neat and attractive style by the publisher. See Portland Transcript, Dec. 15th.

Mr. Headley is one of the most promising writers of this country, and his works are his best books—on which he has here one of the best. It possesses the unforgetting charms of perfect simplicity and truth. There is graceful frankness prevailing the composition, which engages the interest of the reader in the author as well as in the subject. His narrative, from Paris and London exhibit thousand traits of an ingenious nature, upon which a man of taste will delight to linger. We predict for it a circulation far beyond any of the author's former works.

Rambles and Sketches, By Rev. J. T. Headley. We have not for a long time set down to a book with more pleasing anticipations, or found those anticipations more fully realized, than in the perusal of the work before us, and we know it will be hailed with gratification by the many admirers of his talented author. His "Napoleon and his Marshals" was, perhaps, as popular and found at least as many enthusiastic readers as any book that can be mentioned. We think the Rambles and Sketches are destined to be as popular at least as any of his previously published works. There is not a dull chapter in the work, filled as it is with "an infinite variety." The author has ample room and verge enough for the employment of his fine talents to great advantage, and most successfully to accomplish the task. The biographical notices, which are interspersed in the work, are not only interesting and "well conceived," but adds much to the value of the book, which is got up in a very neat and attractive style by the publisher. We have on hand and present on the 11 day of September, when Messrs. Evans & Watson tested one of their Salamander Fire Proof Chests, at which time they consumed five cords of wood over it, commencing at 9 A.M. and continuing until 5 o'clock, P.M.; making one hour intense heat, amounting to a white heat. The Chests remained in the fire until the next morning, when it was opened in our presence, and all the books and papers taken out, having been preserved entire. The above paper, may be examined by calling at the Store of Evans & Watson, 83 Dock street.

THOS. HANSELL, 13th st., above Arch. SAMUEL L. DAVIS, 11 N. Third st. WILLIAM HARPER, Jr., Chestnut & Walnut.

Centenarians—Having been present when the contents of the Chest alluded to in the above certificate were exposed to view, I take pleasure in adding my testimony to the perfect security of the papers. No mark of fire was apparent on any of them. Respectfully,
S. V. MERRICK, Philadelphia, Sept. 16.

BALTIMORE, June 18. Messrs. Evans & Watson, Philadelphia. Gentlemen—We have much pleasure in recommending your Fire Proof Chests to the notice of the public—the one we purchased from you having saved our books and contents effectually, after undergoing a very severe trial during the fire, which destroyed the entire block of buildings on Arch street wharf, on the Schuylkill, on the 6th of June, 1849.

Yours, very res. ally,

G. Hummel's ESSENCE OF COFFEE.

ABOUT two years ago a new discovery was made in Europe, consisting of a substitute for the ordinary store coffee, called Essence of Coffee, which has gone into general use with astonishing rapidity, not only among the poorer classes, who at once adopted it, but is now in general use in the wealthiest families and the first hotels, and is highly recommended by the medical faculty.

It is extracted from pure, wholesome vegetable essences all similar preparations which have ever been offered to the public, either in this country or in Europe. Its superior quality has already been attested to in the cities by some of the most eminent physicians, and a number of the most distinguished of the clergy and highly respectable citizens. Coffee made from this essence according to the prescription obtains a more delicious and pleasant flavor than the common store coffee, and is certainly more wholesome, especially for persons in delicate health, which will be admitted by every physician who will take the pains to test the nature and properties of this essence.

One paper costing only 12 1/2 cts., is equal to four pounds of store coffee, will be bright and clear without the application of any other ingredient to clarify or settle it. The public are therefore invited to give this essence at least a trial before they condemn it.

A respectable merchant of Luzerne county in writing of it says:

"My customers have been using of the above Essence for some months past with general satisfaction, and I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public."
