13 Mr. Olds, Chairman of the Committee on Post Offices in the lower House of Congress, who some time ago reported a bill raising the postage on letters to five and ten cents, has submitted a substitute for his former bill. He now proposes to make the Treasury Department of the Government chargeable with all the letters and doorments at present carried free and to conjunct ue the rate of three cents on letters sent any distance under 3,000 miles. All letters sen to be prepaid. The substitute is, we think vastly preferable to the original bill.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY,
FOR CASHONLY.

The amount of goods in our line purchased by county merchants is usually quite small compared with their dry goods, bardware, and other bills; and this very circumstance absolutely compels jobbers in the book business, who sell on time to get larger profits in order to make up for the losses and extra expenses necessarily involved in a credit business of small amounts. It is also easy for the merchant to make a grangements to buy his book bill for cash; though it might not be so convenient for him to purchase his larger bills in this way.

These considerations have led us to adopt nour business, from this date, January. 1854, the following principles, viz: Small profist, uvarying prices, and terms always cash.

Being ourselves the sole publishers of a number of the leading and most extensive-ly-selling School Books in the country) as well as works in other departments, our facilities are unsurpassed.
