THE HOME JOURNAL.

a chronicle of the times, abounds in intelligence designed to endiver, an American Home. Its editors (Ceef P. Morris and N. P. Willis) devote their entire time, skill and experience, to the risk of giving, each week, everything worth knowing. They particularly keep an eye on all the whirms and novelines of the day. The utmost pains are taken to present the facts and outlines of all news. In the literary department, we aim at sketches and readable criticism, and in our condensations of the productions of the vast new-paper world of Europe, we endeavour to avoid the tiresome and the local, and transfer to our columns the piek of English information and brilliancy, while we endeavour to select with a true sense of pure morals, true wit, and genuine humour. In addition to the above, we have made new new arrangements for a feature that is always attractive in the family journal. From several different sources we are to be supplied with the news and cossip of New-York Society. In a metropolis like ours, centre the more sparking elements of the life of our contray at large, and collision and attrition bring out much which would else be dormant. Affoat, in society gossip, is a small world, of which the ordinay newspapers make no report, and of, this we think we can promise armsing photographaps. In announcing also, his usual editorial labors, we claim the privilege of leaving them to designate their own style and title as they appear. They are to be guite different from anything which has ever been published in this journal from his pen, had we are very sure that they will be no less attractive, to say the least. The graphic and highly-finished sketches, by "The Lady of Shallot," "Timothy Quaint" and others, will be continued. We have also new correspondents in London and Paris, who will send us much that could never reach us shrough foreign journals.
