The New York Tribune.—1857 8.

The Tribune was first issued as a daily on the 10th of April, 1841. Its weekly edinion was commenced in September of the same year; its semt weekly in May, 1845. It was the first daily in America to issue a double or eight page shert at a low price, and it has kept at least even with the foremost of its rivals in the rapid expansion of Newspaper enterprise, which the great extension of Railroad, and the establishment of the Telegraph system, have crowded into these last sixteen evenful years. No larger journal is alfordeded at so low a price so any quarter of the world; none in America, no matter at what price issued, pays ar equal amount, weekly or monthly, or invellectual labor. It employs correspondents regularly in the leading capituls of Europs, and at the most important points on this comment, with a liberal staff of writers and reporters at home, regarding full, early and accurate information as first object of a Newspaper, and the timely and thorough elucidation thereof as the chiefered of its editorials. In that spirit the TRIBUNE has been and will be conducted, extending and perfecting its correspondence so last as the increase of the patronage will justity, Should the current attempt to connect the Old with the New World by the magnetic wire prove successful, we shall, very soon, at a heavy cost to ourselves and, we trust, a corresponding actuantage to our readers, publish each morning a synopsis of the preceding day's occurrence throughout Eurode, Northern Africa, and Western Asia, with regular reports of the markets, the monetary aspects and harvest prospects of hither Europe. With a good atlas beside him and his daily paper on his fireside table, the American farmer or artisan within a day's rade of the city may then study each evening the doings of the civilized world throughout the day preceding; and it seems hardly possible that any one who can read, but especially one who has childred to educate, will longer deny himself the pleasure and profit of a daily journal though were mails are unfrequent, a sem reekly, or even a weekly paper, may seem weekly, or even a weekly paper, may seem sufficient.

The TRIBUNE deals with questions of Political Economy, Public Policy, Ethics, material Progress and whatever may affect the intellectual, moral, social and physical well-being of mankind, dogmatic. Theology alone excepted. Its leading idea is the honoring of honest, useful work in whatever sphere or capacity, and the consequent elevation of the laboring class in knowledge, virtue, and general esteem. It is necessarily hostile to Slavery under all its aspects, to Intemperance in whatever form or degree with its accessories, to War save in defence of Country and Liberty against actual invasion, and to every form of Gambling. Desiring to see production extended and encouraged, while wild Speculation and useless traffic are curtailed, it lavors the policy of sustaining and diversifying Home Industry by a discriminating Tariff-a policy which, tends to increase the price of Grain to the farmer while diminishing that of Bread to the artisan by reducing the distances are exchanged and of by reducing the distances across which their by reducing the distances across which their respective products are exchanged and, of course, reducing the cost of their transfer.—
Regarding Filibusterism in all its phrases, and every form and device of National covetousness, with unqualified abhorience as the bane of Republics and in their triumph the grave of Equal Human Rights, we seek by every means to woo and win the attention of our countrymen from projects of aggrandizement abroad to enter praise of development and beneficence at home, foremost which we rank a Railroad through the heart ment and Fenelicence at home, Joremost which we rank a Railroad through the heart of our territory to connect the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific. Believing that the goods of this life are not yet fairly distributed, and that no one ready to work should ever famish in unwilling idlework should ever famish in unwilling iddeness, it lends an open ear to every suggestion of Social improvement which does not bountervail the dictates of eternal morality nor war upon that natural right of every one to whatsoever he has fairly produced or honestly acquired, whose denial must sink mankind into the chaos and night of barbarism and triversal squalor. With a profound consciousness that idlers, drunkards, libertines and profligated can never be other (in the main) than needy and wretched, it bears aloft the great truth that Providence is better than Panishment—that the child trained up in the way he should go, will rarely in after years desert that way of the thorny paths of Vice and Crime—that a true Education—religious, moral and industrious as well as intellectual—is the most effective temporal anchole to the errors and woes of our race. Which has been published near seven months, has met with such a success as to justify the Proprietor in enlarging the Daily Edition to the size of the Washington Union.

The States will continue to represent the sound constitutional principles of States' rights which have ever been upsheld by the National Democracy, but it will not be so entirely political that its columns will interest the politician exclusively, nor so subservient to party as to betray principle at the command of power, or disguise its convictions at the suggestions of expediency.

In addition to the discussion of important political questions, its columns will be devoted to the proceedings of Congress, to the current transactions of the government, to general news, and matters of interest appertaining to Literature, Agriculture and Commerce.
