DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT HARRISBURG .- On last Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, a des-tructive and fearful fire broke out in Harrisburg, doing much damage, and causing a great deal of excitement. The fire originated in a stable belonging to Mc'Gowen's Hotel; and spread with such rapidity, that the flames could not be checked, and the adjoining buildings were all enveloped before the firemen could bring their streams to bear upon them The fire kept on spreading until it reached the Presbyterian Charch, which was entirely consumed. A thrilling and grand sight was presented in the burning of the church, but appalling to many a heart who witnessed it. It is impossible to ascertain the loss, as a great deal of property was destroyed. In the midst of the busy scene, and in constant danger of the buildings, lay the corpse of a child-the sadness of whose household presents a sombre contrast to the scene without. Several persons during the fire were injured.

THE FORKS HOTEL .- This well known and popular house is now conducted by Robert Населения, successor of James Freeze, Esq. The worthy and gentlemanly landlord is giving the house a thorough "over hauling" -painting the brick and penciling the same, also re-papering the rooms, with considera-ble expense attending it.

The proprietor having had a considerable experience in hotel keeping, the public may rest assured of receiving accommodations of the best kind, and his eatables and drinkables will be of the very best quality. A more pleasant place for the traveller to spend a few days can't handily be found in this sec-His stables and cheds are in a good condition; with an attentive hostler.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE ESTABLISHMENT.-Mr John Neyhard desires to give the ladies and gentlemen of Bloomsburg and vicinity, an opportunity of getting boots and shoe manufactured with special reference to their superior judgment and good taste. As a workman, Mr. N. stands foremost in the ranks. We certainly never wore better, easier and prettier boots than those manufactured by Mr. Neyhard. He is just commencing on his own responsibility, in the new enterprise, of establishing shoeshop, therefore he respectfully solicits liberal share of your patronage. Give him a trial, customers, and we'll vouch for the GIFT ENTERPRISES .- We learn that the Mayor of New York, has broken up the gift concern of C. E. Topp & Co., and placed a man named Hall under $1000 bail to an-It appears that Hall was the owner of the enterprise and hired two girls named C. E. and Mary Todd to answer his letters. They were also arrested, but were dischar-Hall was arrested after having been at the post office for letters, about two hundred of which he had then received. These letters were opened by the Mayor and contained $300 in money. It is presumed that Hall's receipts were over $1500 per week.

Quite an exciting scene occurred at Philadelphia on Thursday. A fire took place n Eighth Street, and after it had made considerable headway, it was ascertained that an old woman and a young girl were in the fifth story of the building. The excitement great and the scene was thrilling It was not exactly known in what part of the story they were, and there were no ladders present. At length two police officers bravely determined to rush in through the fire and rescue them, if possible. They were warned that they would be suffocated, but regardless of all, they tied handkerchiefs around their mouths, dashed through the flames, and succeeded in finding the woman and child whom they lifted in their arms and retraced their way into the streets amid the cheers of the crowd.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—We see it stated that the Luzerne Union establishment was disposed of by Sheriff Sale to H. B. Wright, Esq., and E. S. Goodrich, Esq., has taken the cuitorial charge of the paper. BH. Gonatrich, we learn, is a gentleman and a scholar possessing talent and energy requisite to afford his readers an instructive and interesting journal. May he meet with success politically and pecuniary bores" which injest this class of a serve to be hit off through the columns of a sewspaper. It is this class of people that a sewspaper in late to meetings, lectures, it a point never, by the nearest accident, to "up to time." Invariably, too, they wear heavy boots, walk as if the place was made with a most unmistakeable energy. As a general thing they continue to come in, in the very midst of the most eloquent pas-sages or the most melting symphony, when they are sure to attract the attention of the authence, and divide the honors with the accredited hero of the exercises. They, sometimes, consider it a reproach to sit near the door, but must needs steer under full sail towards the "highest seat in the synagogue." They are never satisfied merely to come in, but must herald their advent by a grand flourish of trumpets. This specimen of a "bore" is a very aggravating of and tries people's patience sadly.

Another class of "bores" are those who keep up a continual coughing and spitting in churches and lecture halls. Besides be ing annoying to the preacher and congregation, it certainly shows a want of good breeding.

Not long ago, whilst listening to a very able discourse from one of our most em nent divines, our interest was considerably abated in several of the finest parts of the sermon by the actions of a couple of the fair sex, who sat opposite to us. They commenced to give a few delicate coughs and cleaning of their throats, which put the surrounding part of the congregation on "nettles" during the whole of the discourse. We felt much provoked, and wished the young ladies far enough in "Jericho."

On these points mentioned, all we have to say is, that no real lady or gentleman would be guilty of such manifest readiness, and it too generally comes from a class of which better things are expected.

The different classes of "bores" to whom the above article has reference will please make a note.

We clip the following paragraphs from the Pottsville Register, of April 3rd, upon the subject of Good Friday and Easter: "Yesterday occurred this solemn festival, commemorating, as it does, the crucifixion of Jesus, "the Second Man," and "the Lord from Heaven." At Rome, it is observed in the service of the Tenebrae-a ceremonial representing the entombment of the Saviour Cross-buns are used on this day in England, and, we think, on the Continent, in imitation of ecclesiastical eulogia, or consecrated loaves, formerly bestowed in the church as alms, or given to those who, from any impediment, could not receive the host. OUR FRIEND Baltzer Leacock, has establish ed a fish market at the "American House," where the citizens of this place and vicinity can be accommodated daily with a su-perior quality of fish of different kinds.— The principle fish at his stand are Salmon Pike, Shad, Rock-fish, Halibut, and oth species of fish, which he will sell cheap by the piece or pound. Customers will do well by calling upon him in the early part of the day as fish are very ready sale and will go.

The "STAR" is pretty well crowded this week with advertisements, therefore excluding from its columns much interes ing matter which we had intended to pub lish in this number. Our readers will please bear with us a little in this respect, and we shall endeavor to present to them a little more news in the future.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The public was apprised through the comms of the "Columbia Democrat" som time in the fall of 1857, of my neglect and heartless disposition exercised towards a poor orphan girl, that I had brought from the Schuylkill County Poor House; all of which was pictured off by the machine that is the embodiment of all political light and knowledge, in his own estimation, and from whom a moral lecture of duties would, to say the least of it, come with very bad grace, especially to those that know the man. I had not intended to notice this attempt to slander and traduce my character, as presented in the columns of the Democrat," had it not been for the indussatisfaction of those who are extremely curious, I append to this communication from the Alms House of Schuvlkill county. under date of March 22d 1858, the follow ing letter :-

Schuylkill Co. Alms House, March 22, 1858.

Mr. Joseph R. Vanderslice, Dear Sir:

Yours of the 16th inst. has been received, and in reply you are informed that Ann Zechman still remains in the Alms House, her health has been good since you brought her here.

SHERIFF'S INTERPLEADER ACT.—This imnd Luzerne counties only, has been extended recently by act of assembly to the entire State. It is modeled after a British statute of William IV, and has proved a most salutary law. It effects its object in a much more direct, and satisfactory manner than could be attained under the old practice. Its application is this:

The Sheriff, of any county, levys upon real or personal estate, as the property of a defendant in an execution, a third party steps in, and notifies the officer of his title to the property, and protests against the sale.

Heretofore, except in the counties above named, the Sheriff, after being indemnified by the Plaintiff, had usually proceeded with the sale, and the third party's only method of obtaining redress, was by a tedious and expensive action against him for

Under the new act, that officer, in all cases where the title of property under levy is disputed, may ask the proper court for a Rule on the Plaintiff and claimant, directing them to appear, to try, and have decided the question as to the title of the property. It is a short method of riding our courts of extended litigation, and a wholesome safe guard against the machinations of defrauding debtors.

> WHY COUSINS SHOULD NOT MARRY.-In the annual report of the Superintendent of the Kentucky Institution for the Deaf and Dumb we find the following conclusive argument against the marriage of cousins.

"From ten to twelve per cent. of deat mutes are the children of cousins. It is times through the heart, and is supposed to have died almost instantly. The boys had greately to be regretted that the law forbidriages are a violation of a law of nature, a is evidenced by the afflictions visited in al-Suade Trees.—Now is the time to set out shade and other trees. Our town is a little behind in this respect. A little more pride should be made manifest in planting shade trees in front of the houses, both for the appearance and comfort they afford on a hot summer day. There is a good deal of room for this kind of improvement.

the Montgomery amend than the Black Republicans bargained for. The dullest of them begin to discover that there is a cat in the meal-tub. It is a "sell" of the worst sort a genuine First of April affair.

The House bill provides that in the elections to be held under it in Kansas, those residents shall vote who are qualified to do so under the existing Territorial laws. The qualification of the control of the cont will support the Constitution and laws of the United States, the fugitive slave law inclutrious, slanderous tongues who have succeed and according to the provisions of the magnitude the crime first intimated by the "Columbia Democrat," all of which is a loss fulsehood and a cruel attempt to traduse quiring a test of fidelity to the Constitution and the laws of the United States, especially to the fugitive-slave law, and a solemn ab negation of having interfered to obstruct the execution of the fugitive slave law. We say this provision is a novel one to be inserted in a Black Republican measure.

The Federal Constitution provides that into the Union;" but the House bill improves upon that provision. While requiring the voters in Kaness to support the Constitution of the United States, the House itself takes the liberty of altering that instrument in a radical particular; for their bill provides that the President, by and with the advice and consent of the border ruffians and aid emigrants in the Territory, shall admit Kansas into the Union by his own proclamation Now, the President is a trustworthy man, and may be implicitly confided in to do all that an honest man ought to do in any matter or emergency, public or private. We are sure he would not violate the trust reposed in him by the Black Republicans of the House in the least particular. But yet we doubt whether even he ought to be empowered with the discretion of violating the Constitution of the United States. Eternal rigilance is the price of liberty. "The oneman power" is an everlasting bugaboo with uts." We had, therefore, better stick to the Constitution than trust even Mr. Bu-chanan. The act would be imprudent in tself; the precedent would be very danger-

We will suppose a case that might happen, in order to expose another difficulty into which this House bill might drag the Black Republicans. What if, with the army with the "ruffians" hovering in swarms on the Missouri border, and "fraud" stalking sovereign and supreme over the Territorywhat if, by the united means of these three dread agencies, a vote should be obtained favorable to the Lecompton Constitution; or, failing this, what if by these three powerful means a pro-slavery Constitution, and this Constitution should be carried by the potential agencies alluded to-and what if, in either of these events, the President should admit Kansas by the first of his own procla-mation as a star state fitto the Calon! Here would be a rare kettle of fish prepared by the Black Republicans themselves in this House bill of theirs. The Herald's declaration would be realized, and Mr. Giddings would discover that he had at last "swallowed a nigger" in his old age. The Black Republicans would find that their big oaths -worse than those which the army swore in Flanders-by which they pledged themselves before heaven and earth that they would never, directly or indirectly, vote for admitting a slave State into the Unio all broken into flinders.
