PRESERVING BUTTER - A patent has been cured by Wm. Clark, of London, for the smaller seed, or about the same as millet on rather poor soil, sowed quite thick --That it is valuable as a forage plant, all know who have ever grown the millet to any extent; and to the farmers at the West it has been a great boon, from its quick and luxuriant growth. It is an annual, thriving best on warm, rich, sandy soil, and may safely be calculated to yield from two to three tons of cured hay per acre which horses or cattle prefer to the best timothy. To be obtained in the best form for hay, should be cut as soon as the seeds on the tops of the stalks begin to turn, and before the bulk of them are ripe. We commend it, either as Hungarian grass or millet, to the attention of farmers, not for making their fortunes, but as as excellent auxiliary as food for farm stock.

AN EASY WAY TO CUTIVATE POTATOES -Prepare the ground well and if not a strong turf the ground may be furrowed very shallow. Drop the potatoes any desired distance apart you please, cover them with a plow, making a sharp ridge. You will disturb some of the end hills by turning around; but with a little more seed and a hoe that evil may be remedied. The potatoes will be covered rather deep; but some days after planting take a common log chain, hook each end of the chain around a good bunch of timber brush, and hitch your team to a centre link of the chain, putting a spreader into the chain in order to carry the front end of the brush in each furrow, letting the brushy parts lap over each other; lay a short board across, and you may ride at ease, and see your ground swept as clean as you could desire. After the potatoes have begun to break ground, repeat the same ope-ration, and you will be pleased to see all the small weeds brushed out of the hills.— The remainder must be done by hoe and cultivator.

STARTING SEEDS EARLY --- Rev. Daniel Emerson, Summit County, Ohio, writes that he has been successful in giving garden seeds an early start, in the following manner :

Having selected the quantity needed, each sort is tied up by itself in a cloth, the name being plainly written on a slip of paper and ed with the seed. The packages are then buried about two inches deep in the earth for a week or two. When ready to plant the kinds needed for planting are taken from the bags and used. They will be found to have swelled, perhaps sprouted, and ready to grow. If the ground should be quite dry, it is best to water the drill af-ter dropping the seea and men cover with dry earth.

Mr. E. says by that plan he has never ed, though when put up they were often sprouted. If each seed is placed where it is wanted to grow it will save the labor of thinning, though many prefer to thin their rows, leaving the most prominent plants to grow.

LEACHED ASHES .- Thoroughly leached ashes contain no potash. In some places how-ever, they are not leached thoroughly and such ashes, when applied do good. Occasionally lime is mixed with them previous to leaching, to increase the causticity; when this is the case, this lime will pro
