OTPIETEDES. THE undersigned having just received the latest Paris and New York Fashions.

HE undersigned naving ustreceived the latest Paris and New York Fashions, would again beg leave to inform his numer ous friends and all the world about Blooms burg, that he is now better prepared than ever to accommodate any one with the neatest easiest and best fitting suits of Clothes that have been turned out lately; and not only that, but he will also do them up in the best order, upon the lowest terms.

His shop is at the old stand, (too well known to need further notice) wherehe may at all times be found, seated upon the beach of repentance steadily drawing out the threna of affliction, hoping it may in the end prove advantageous to him and his customers. He would also advise his fiends to bear in mind that poor, afflicted tailors must live, or they can't be expected to work. Therefore Wheat, Rye. Corn, Oats, Potatoes, and with all now and then a little CASH will come mighty hand. Toom those who are back-standing on the books.

JUST PUBLISHED. New Method For The Piano Forte.

BY CHARLES GROBE.

Opus 1100.

Price, $2 50 nett.

Bound in Cloth, 3 00 nett.

A good instruction book for the Piano has long been wanting, and Mr Charles Grobs has performed the labor, in getting this one up in the most admirable and satisfactory maner. It will prove itself one of the root valuable guides in the instruction of the art of playining on the Piano.

Considering the anthor's well known capacity, and long and unremitting devotion to the task of elementary teaching, we have strong reason to hope that the public are now to be furnished with a thorough, systematic, progressive, and entertaining meth-iematic, progressive, and entertaining method for the Pano.

We can confidently recommend it to teachers and pupils as better adapted to the purpesses of elementary instruction than any others with which we are acquainted.

The plan pursued in this work is substantially the same as that developed in Ollendroff's method of teaching languages. It commences with the simplest elements.—

The progress made will be gradual, so that every step will be perfectly intelligible, and be rendered of positive value to the pupil.—

Every difficulty is met with single, and, after thorough analysis, overcome by practice.

This method will, undonbtedly, provide teachers with a well digested, progressive, and entertaing plan by which a sound and correct knowledge of the art of playing the piano may be acquired with comparatively little labor, and in so short a space of time as will almost seem incredible to those who have confined themselves to some of the tedious systems heretofore in use.

This work contains ten engraved figures, illustraing the different positions of the hande and fingers; and also a likeness of the author.

Its typographical accuracy and appearance have never been equalled in any musical work that has heretofore been issued from the press in this or any other constructions age, on the receipt of the marked price.
