A Moment's Plain Talk to our Readers.

We have a few suggestions to make in relation to our candidate for County Commissioner, and perhaps a more favorable opportunity may not present itself than the present. As this is an important office, it is of equal importance that the voters know something about the material which compose the candidates for Commissioner this fall. There are two candidates in the field asking for your votes. On the Democratic ticket we have JOSEPH R. PATTON, of Greenwood, who was regularly nominated in our County Convention, and who has a wide-spread circle of friends, ready to aid him with their support. We have the first word to hear uttered against this man's private or public character,—he stands before you with clean hands, untarnished by the waters of bigotry and fanaticism. He possesses all the qualifications requisite to make a good and efficient officer. With his abilities, experience, and good sound judgment, the functions of this office will be well attended to—the interests of the county carefully looked after, and a more sound and healthy system adopted for the governing of county affairs may not be expected. He is an experienced man—has been Commissioner before—in Northumberland county—and proved true to his constituents and the county's interests. To this fact the records of that county will attest. He knows well your wants, and is able to put machinery in operation to supply them. By electing him you do a creditable piece of work—you place a man in office who will take a clear and comprehensive view of county affairs and act in accordance with his mature judgment, which, his past official career teaches us to say, will be in the best interest of the county. No better man is, or has ever come before you for your suffrages than JOSEPH R. PATTON of Greenwood. We never had the pleasure of supporting a man for County office whose abilities and qualifications were superior. The Opposition have nominated a man for Commissioner by the name of John Staley, with whom we are unacquainted, and consequently know but little about. They say he made a good official. Well this may be so. But is that any reason why Democrats should sacrifice their candidate when he is equally as good if not better than Mr. Staley? No. This is unnatural—unreasonable. The Democrats are not guilty of doing the like, and will not allow themselves to be persuaded into any Opposition arrangement of the kind.

They tell us that we have a very good man. They are free to acknowledge this fact. But then they have the audacity to turn round and say they have a better one, and "that man is John Staley." This would do very well at some places for them to preach while soliciting votes, but it will not do here this fall. The Democrats think quite different. They have a man worthy of their support—one in whom they place abiding confidence, and they intend to make it manifest at the ballot box on the second Tuesday of October next.

If the Opposition have votes enough of their own to elect Mr. Staley it is all right, we have nothing further to say. But we have a word to say when the Republican party puts forth its bread and butter stories, spread over with molasses, in order to catch Democratic votes. Give them one member of the board this fall, next fall they will want another. Then, should they be successful, a Republican board would be the result. Ah! this won't do. The Democracy of old Columbia will not allow that. Place and power is what the Opposition want.—This is all they strive for, and to accomplish this, they will make use of every thing, right or wrong. They talk about screeching loose, purse strings, "the pockets of all," &c., and tell you by voting for their man your pockets will be filled, and a good time in general will be experienced. When they tell you this, they are not to be believed; for there is no truth in it.

They harp about shopkeepers. It is true there are some paper issued, but at the present time no great amount outstanding. What country is it that does not issue shillings? Is not Columbia county good for all the issues? Has she not always paid her debts? She stands clear on the Records at Harrisburg. Those who make the loudest noise let them undertake to collect taxes these tight times and they will find out where they stand and how it goes to keep up county finances. Some of them would not earn their salt—let alone keeping the County Treasury flush. Some of these chappies are in arrears, and had better fork over to Mr. Collector, or forever hold their peace.

LIFE OF COL. DAVID CROCKETT.—This interesting volume was written by himself and contains a very correct history of his early life, hunting adventures, services under Gen. Jackson in the Greco War, electioneering speeches, career in Congress, triumph in the Northern States, and services in the Texas War, &c. An account is also added of Col. Crockett's glorious death at the Alamo, while fighting in defence of Texan Independence. Col. David Crockett was one of the most remarkable men of the times in which he lived. Born in humble life, but gifted with a strong will, an indomitable courage, and unremitting perseverance, as well as an aptitude for accumulating information from his intercourse with men of superior education, he rose to posts of high honor and distinction.

The life of Col. Crockett was, as we have said before, written by himself, it is entirely without literary pretensions; but it is full of interest as well as instruction. It shows how much may be accomplished by a right aim, a strong will, and an indomitable spirit of perseverance.

This book contains four hundred and five pages, most handsomely printed. It is very prettily bound in red cloth, with splendid gilt work upon it. A copy of this book and a handsome present will be sent by mail, postpaid, upon the receipt of $1.00 for the book and 21 cents for postage.

Persons wishing to purchase a book or more, will address G. G. EVANS, publisher, 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

This is a reliable establishment.

WE HAD supposed those men who get defended at editors, because they do not support them every time they come out for office, were all gone; but this is not the case; we yet have a few of that stripe left. Some men, it appears, have an idea that an editor must support them, whenever they come up for office, if they only take the paper, regardless of qualifications. Not sorry to say, we had a candidate, judging from his actions of this character, praying before the County Convention this fall for a nomination, and he was defeated. After the struggle was over, and he finding himself laid upon the table to rest, in order to let off some of his malice and spleen, and display a portion of his unsound sense, he called around to discontinue his paper. We did not consider this over smart on the part of the candidate; had he acted differently we should not have known that he was hurt. There are several things very essential in the qualifications of a man to fit him for office. This candidate, from experience, has been taught that such is the fact. He is satisfied, probably, that his services were not needed, that the people of this county made good selections. Stick to the ticket, my good fellow.

TREMENDOUS EXCITEMENT.—While in our pen, paste and scissors career, we never witnessed a more amazing and exciting time, than the one we are about to relate, which happened a few days since in this place, just as our peaceful village was about preparing itself to enjoy a sweet nap in the arms of Morpheus, by the sudden arrival of a large assortment of new and fashionable goods at Mr. David Lovenberg's clothing emporium, one door above the AMERICAN HOUSE. Mr. L. has been very careful in his selections, and purchased to suit the times and the people. His goods are from the cities of New York and Philadelphia. Any thing in the wearing line, for men and boys, can be had at his store, from the highest price down to the lowest. He makes up clothing to order, and also keeps ready-made clothing on hand. Give him a call.

THREE PER CENT. A MONTH, or the Perils of Fast Living: A Warning to Young Men, by CHARLES BURDETT.—This work is published in Philadelphia, by the popular Gift Enterprise man, G. G. EVANS, and it is most excellent little volume, containing something like three hundred and ninety-three pages, of our memory serves us right. The title of this book sounds rather singular—Three per cent. a month—but its contents are as good as its title is singular. The book contains thirty-nine chapters; and it is very well written. To give our patrons an idea what the work is like, we will name some of the contents: "Looking for a Home," "The First Summer in the Country," "The Fast Man's Holiday," "The Carpenter's Wedding-day," &c. This work can be had, with a splendid gift accompanying it, by sending $1.00, and twenty-one cents for postage, to G. G. EVANS, 439 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

COMPOSIION ART JOURNAL.—We are pleased to announce that we have received the September Quarterly Number of this most excellent Journal, published by the Composition Art Association, New York.—Price Fifty Cents a number. It is most handsomely embellished with portraits, surpassing everything of the kind. The literature contained in this publication is of the first class. It is moral, instructive and interesting. A great deal of pains are taken in the execution of this work, to make it desirable and agreeable, and we think the publishers have accomplished this—a most beneficial object. Those of our readers, wishing something splendid, and the worth of their money, we would advise them to subscribe for the ART JOURNAL.

Hon. G. W. BAKER has taken editorial charge of the Daily Pennsylvania, published at Philadelphia; NIMROD STRICKLAND having retired. The Pennsylvania, while under charge of Mr. Strickland, was ably and fearlessly edited; and advocated Democratic measures and the Administration with much force and ability. Mr. Baker is an able and lucid writer. The paper will not lack in interest. The Opposition will find Mr. Baker's pen a severe one to contend with.

At the sale of Government arms, which took place at Washington on Wednesday, rifles sold at from $1 to $4; muskets, $1 to $2.50; cannon, $8 to $12. The horses averaged about $3 per set; flint, 1 cent per hundred.

GOODY'S LADY'S BOOK.—We are free to acknowledge that this magazine surpasses all other publications in richness, finish and beauty. This number for October, which is already received, is a most splendid one. It is certainly not more than simple justice to Mr. Goody, the oldest magazine publisher in this country, to award to him the credit of being ahead of all competitors in catering to the tastes of the ladies. This work as we have oft told our readers, is published in Philadelphia, at the low figure of $3 per annum. By club it can be had still cheaper.

WE are sorry that the Mechanics' celebration at Epy, Columbia county, was not successful. Gen. Clement, the Democratic nominee for District Attorney in this county, was invited to address them, and went on for that purpose, but had not a fitting opportunity of giving the mechanics of that county a specimen of his fine oratorical powers. The General is a fine speaker, and is appreciated as such not only in this but in the neighboring counties. At the late term of the Court, in the trial of an important criminal case, he displayed unusual abilities, and made an impression upon the people in attendance at the Court that will act with great force at the October election. If the question of ability has any weight with the voters, (and we believe that it has great weight,) Gen. Clement will receive a large majority of the voters in this county.—Sunday Gazette.

Hon. DAVID TAGART, President of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society will please accept our thanks for a complimentary ticket to the State Fair, which will be held at Pottsville, Philadelphia, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, the 27th, 28th, 29th, and 30th instant. It purports to be a grand affair. A large attendance is anticipated. We had the pleasure of visiting the Fair Grounds last week. It speaks well for the Society.

AUTUMN.—The local of the Buffalo Republic says a pretty thing in the following:—"We saw a dead leaf fall yesterday. It may not be the first leaf of Autumn—the dying year—yet we look upon it with about the same feeling that a man experiences when he discovers his first gray hair, or the misery felt by a fashionable lady when all at once the fact comes home to her that her eldest daughter is a marriageable female.—The crow's feet in the corners of the eyes are the falling leaves of life, and the dead twigs the gray hairs that have lost their sap, and tell only of what has been. Yet Autumn has its fruits, as age has its experience; with experience comes faith, as plenty comes with autumn. Let us then hoard up faith, as Autumn gathers up its bounty."

CARBON COUNTY.—The Democracy of Carbon County have nominated the following ticket:—Assembly, Z. H. LONG; District Attorney, ALLEN CRAIG; County Commissioner, ABRAHAM SHORTZ; County Treasurer, ROBERT KLOTZ; Coroner, EDWIN BAKER; County Auditor, DANIEL HEBBESLING; County Surveyor, HIRAM BELFORD; Director of the Poor, GEORGE STEYLER.

The Pennsylvania of 10th inst., contained the card of Judge STRICKLAND, announcing that he has retired from editorial management of that paper, the experience of a few months having assured him that he could not, with a proper regard for health, give that personal attention and supervision necessary to conduct a daily journal. He is succeeded by Judge BAKER, a gentleman of talent, education, and a ready and forcible writer.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE for October has been received at this office in good time. It is well filled with useful information, for the young and old. It is an excellent Magazine, one of the first-class. We prize it highly. It is published by T. S. ARTHUR, Philadelphia, Pa. Terms, $2.00 per annum, in advance.

MYSTERY AFFAIR.—Harrisburg, Sept. 9.—A report has been current here to-day, that a mulatto girl had made a statement before an officer in Carlisle, Pa., to the effect that money had been paid her to keep quiet in regard to what she knew of the murder of a man by a citizen of Philadelphia, during a quarrel which occurred in a gambling hell of this city, and of the burial of the body of the murdered man near the house. She was brought here and made a similar statement before Judge Pierson and the District Attorney. When the murder was committed is not stated.

The Coroner and District Attorney refuse to give any particulars regarding the affair, until they have made an investigation. It is known here to-night that the party supposed to be implicated has been arrested in Philadelphia, on the strength of a telegraphic despatch from the authorities of this city.

FIRE AT EASTON.—Easton, Sept. 17.—The stable attached to the United States Hotel caught on fire this morning. The stables were occupied by the horses attached to Dan Rice's circus, and twelve of them were smothered. Those lost, however, were mostly team horses, and his loss will not exceed $5,000. The fire originated through the carelessness of a driver, who let a fluid lamp fall, causing it to burst and scatter the flames among the combustible contents of the stables. The damage to the hotel was trifling.

The following telegram has been sent all over the country. If it is not a "sensational item," manufactured for the occasion, it would appear that Mr. Breckinridge does not intend to be a candidate at the present time for the Presidential nomination. Mr. Breckinridge is one of the most brilliant statesmen in the country, young, talented, ardent and enthusiastic. His Democratic record is pure, and he has the confidence of his countrymen who would delight to do him honor, now and hereafter. It has before been intimated that the Vice-President was content to look to the future and would leave the present battle to be fought by older contestants longer in the field. Although not accustomed to take for gospel everything which appears as telegrams we have reason to believe that the information contained in the following dispatch, is correct:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, 1859.
Attorney-General Black, in conversation with a Democratic editor in Pennsylvania, said that he was in receipt of a letter from Vice President Breckinridge, in which he said that he was not, and would not be, under any circumstances, a candidate for the Presidency. This is from a source entirely trustworthy.

The New York Herald announces the same fact in the following words:
Judge Black has received a letter from Vice President Breckinridge, deprecating any use whatever of his name in connection with the nomination for the presidency. It is said that he prefers a seat in the Senate. The recently elected Legislature of Kentucky will elect him as the successor to Mr. Crittenden, whose term expires March, 1860.

HARD TIMES AMONG WESTERN PREACHERS.—The Upper Iowa Conference, which closed its session last week in Iowa City, we learn from the Northwestern Methodist Advocate, must be a hard field. Many of the former preachers have labored in the face of absolute want, not merely of money, but of the necessities of life. The "daily bread" has been wanting, and many families on the frontier have lived on hominy instead. The editor remarks: "We have said that there were hard times in the northwest, such as nowhere else, and so he says now. What would some of our eastern brethren say to going to quarterly meeting, and after coming within families be compelled to leave their horses and walk through the slush? After preaching, the class leader says, 'We have nothing to eat'; but finds in the meantime some meal has been procured, and the preachers share it. Next morning, love-feast is held without bread, for there is none! The service is preached and the audience dismissed without the administration of the Lord's Supper, for the people can provide no bread! Yet the Methodist preachers who endure these things say not a word of desisting. Truly the days of heroes are not past. The men who are there will not desert the sheep in the wilderness. In some instances, but for the small missionary appropriations, our brethren and their families would have been utterly penniless. Yet there is no flinching. Men stand true to their post. They can afford to die, but not to desert. They share with the people in their poverty, and when days of abundance shall come the people will share with them of their plenty. Some of the preachers were compelled to work, 'laboring with their own hands,' to provide for their families. Yet the sentiment of the Conference against a secularized clergy was clear and unmistakable. By the way, some time since, a "frontier layman" reported that an Iowa presiding elder received from one circuit, as his claim, for one quarter, two chickens and one pound of butter. We have seen the preacher, in charge, who says there were fifteen chickens and six pounds of butter sent in quarterly collection. Of these the presiding elder received six chickens and bought four pounds of butter, and the pastor desired the matter corrected, as his people believe in paying up the presiding elder!"

But Methodist preachers are not alone in their sufferings. A Presbyterian mission in one of the Western States writes to the Central Herald: "I have not a dollar in cash, and not a dollar's worth of provisions in the house. Of those who subscribed $200 to my support last November, I know not a man to whom I can go for a measure of meal or a pound of meat. Times have been awfully hard for six months past.—Johnny-cake has been the staff of life, and almost life itself!"

THE PUBLISHING HAMPERS.—The family originally came from England and settled on Long Island, near the village of Newton. The father and mother became the followers of John Wesley, and we believe that a majority if not all the present members of that firm belong to the Methodist Church, and have pews in the St. Paul's new marble Methodist edifice in Fourth avenue. Socially they are all excellent men. The senior, James Harper, ex-Know-Nothing Mayor of New York, is fond of a good joke, and cultivates the company he may associate with by relating many a laugh-provoking anecdote. John, the next oldest, is an excellent man with a clear head, active habits and great business tact. Fletcher, the third brother, is a kind-hearted, pleasant and agreeable man; also laughs heartily at a good joke, and is, when not absent in Europe on business, the talking man of the concern, with authors, idlers and outsiders in general. Wesley, the fourth, we believe is the youngest of the brothers. He is the local and active business man of the firm, under whose supervision all the various mechanical operations of the house are carried on. He is quick, industrious and of few words, but has a mind that is as keen as a brier. The "quarto" of brothers deserve great credit for their success. They commenced in humble but respectable spheres—the eldest as printers; and James, the eldest, we are told, in his younger life worked many a day pulling at a hand-press in a job printing office. From printers they got to be publishers, and have arrived at the head of their business.—Richmond Inquirer.

FOR PRESIDENT.—The Chambersburg Falcy Spirit raises the name of Judge BLACK to the head of its columns for the Democratic nomination at Charleston, and advocates this selection in a strong editorial.

A HISTORY OF ALL RELIGIONS:
Containing a statement of the origin, development, doctrines and government of the religious denominations in Europe and the United States, with biographical sketches of eminent divines. By SAMUEL M. SMUCKER, LL. D. Published by Duane Robinson, Quaker City Publishing House, 33 South Third Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The subject of Religion and the Doctrines of Sects must always have an absorbing interest for the thoughtful observer, and a work which furnishes the desired information, in a convenient and accessible form, at a moderate price, has been urgently demanded, and will be sought for with avidity, and must command a large sale.

In the present work, the origin, development, doctrinal belief, Church government and peculiarities of over eighty different religious sects, are treated in a style clear, compendious and accurate, and will afford all the information which might be procured with great difficulty and expense, and much labor and research, from the larger polemical works and encyclopedias.

Dr. Smucker has evidently prepared this work with much care, and it exhibits great ability and learning. The articles on the different religions are very impartially written, and show the careful study of an unprejudiced and sound mind; and the importance and value cannot be too highly estimated of such superior and unbiased effort in a work of this kind, as too often those pretending to give correct information upon such subjects are prejudiced in favor of some particular sect or denomination. Mr. Robinson has brought out the work in a very handsome form, and the public is indebted to him for a very valuable, instructive and useful book. The price, $1.00, is remarkably low for such a volume, and in order that it may have a rapid and extensive circulation, he will send it to any address, accompanied with a valuable Gift, on the receipt of the price and twenty cents to pre-pay postage.

Mr. Robinson will send free, on application, his new, enlarged and revised Catalogue of Books and Gifts, containing all information relative to the establishment of Agencies in the Gift Book business. Address DUANE ROBINSON, Quaker City Publishing House, 33 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

THE ERIE RAILROAD ROT.—New York, Sept. 18.—In consequence of the Erie Railroad being blocked up at the Bergen tunnel by the laborers, who refused to let any trains pass until the arrears of their pay are forthcoming, the Company has dispatched a steambot to Piermont to carry thither the passengers destined for the West, and to bring to this city those detained there that had arrived by trains from the West.

New York, Sept. 18.—Evening.—The obstruction on the road have been removed, and forty of the rioters have been arrested. The trains are now running regularly. A strong force of police and military remain on the ground to prevent any renewal of the disturbance.

HOLLOWAY'S Ointment and Pills have effected another wonderful Cure of Sore Legs.—Anthony H. HERRICK, of Martinsburg, was a sufferer for twenty-eight years from sore legs, so badly at times, that human nature could scarcely bear it, as they were covered with wounds and proud flesh. His friends had given up all hopes of his ever regaining the use of his limbs, as he was in a pitiable state, the more especially as the doctors told him it was constitutional. Having heard from several people the good effects Holloway's Pills had produced in cases of this nature, he made up his mind to give them a trial, and using them for a few weeks, he felt much better, and by continuing them for two months and a half, he was perfectly cured, after being 28 years a cripple, and considered beyond human aid.
