An Extract for Agricultural Friends.

FOR THE information of a few wily per sons residing in Columbia county, we pub lish below the FOURTH SECTION of an act to incorporate the State Agricultural Society, which became a law in 1851. This SEC-Agricultural Association of this county receives one hundred dollars out of the County Treasury. There are people who have not read this law, and we would advise them to peruse it, or at least this section, that they may better understand this important matter. It reads as follows:

that they may better understand this important matter. It reads as follows:

AN ACT to Incorporate the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society.—Penn. Laws, 1851, page 289.

Secriton 4.—That when any number of individuals into an Agricultural or Horticultural Society, or any Agricultural or Horticultural Society, or any Agricultural or Horticultural Society now organized within any of the counties of this Commonwealth, shall have adopted a constitution and by-laws for their government, elected their officers, and raised annually by the voluntary contribution of its members, any sum of money which shall have been actually paid into their treasury for the purpose of being disbursed for the promotion of agricultural knowledge and improvement, and that part be attested by the affidavit of their President and Treasurer, filed with the Commissioners of the county, the said county Society shall be entitled to receive annually a like sum from the Treasurer of their said county:—Provided, That said annual payment out of the county funds shall not exceed one hundred dollars:—Provided further, That but one such Society in any county shall be entitled to receive such appropriation in any one year under this act.

Approved the 29th day of March, 1851, by Wm. F. Johnston, Governor.

Hon. Richardson L. Wright.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch, a Republican paper, pays the following high tribute to the fashionable engravings. plitical and social worth of Richardson L Wright, the Democratic candidate for Auditor General. Coming from such a source the compliment cannot be otherwise than "Richardson L. Wright, Esq , Democratic "Richardson L. Wright, Esq., Democratic candidate for Auditor General, and for many years past a member of the Legislature from Philadelphia county, was in our city on Monday, at the St. Charles Hotel, and left on Tuesday morning upon a visit to some relatives in Washington county. We regret that both parties do not nominate as honest and upright men as Mr. Wright as honest and upright men as Mr. Wright as candidate for office. During his service in the Legislature he consistantly opposed corthe Legislature he consistantly opposed corruption, and although rather more ultra than the practice of his party in his votes on banks and corporations generally, he proved himself a valuable legislator. However men may differ from him in political principles, he is personally unexceptionable—as we haveevery reason to believe is the case with his connect. Mr. Contran the case with his opponent, Mr. Cochran, the Republican candidate."

The disposition of some people to follow the shallow humbugs got up by artful demagouges, is most singular. They prevail in every department of business and in every Even relig direful influence, but it too must contend against such disgraceful nonsense as Millerism, Mormonism and a thousand-and-one other equally absurd pretensions. Politics of course can not escape their pestiferous influence. All that surprises us is that there are so many people always so ready believe in them-to be fooled by them. Look at the list of them that have year after year been brought forward by the Opposition-troubled the people for a day, and then disappeared forever Who that lived then has forgotten the hardcider fever of 1840? Or who, how in 1854 the whole American nation was to be eaten up by the Pope, unless a political victory was given to the Opposition? But how soon did visions of the Pope cease when "bleeding Kansas" and "shrieking freedom" came along? Now these fraudulent seekers for sympathy are laid in deep and dishonorable graves and other false and dishonest humbugs are made to take PETERSON'S LADIES' NATIONAL MAGAZINE .-The October number has arrived, and a very good number it is, opening with a capital engraving, from an original design, which a little boy and girl are feeding young chickens, while Pater-familias, exulting in his healthy and kind-hearted children, looks on approvingly and delighted. A steel plate of Parisian Fashions a fine engraving of "The Young Heir's Return," crowds of other wood-cuts, with music, &c, make up a large array of illustrations. The reading matter in this magazine is always good-thanks to the tact an of Charles J. Peterson, its well-read editor, who is himself a very popular novelist.

CHARLES DICKENS' WORKS FOR THE MIL-LION.—T. B. Peterson & Brother, No. 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, have followed up their success in publishing the cheap edition of the Waverly novels by issuing, in the same style, the complete works of the inimitable Dickens. These extremely popular stories will be completed in twenty ight volumes, at the low price of twenty five cents each, or the full set for five dol lars. A volume will be issued every Satur-day, until the edition is completed. The author is going to visit us this fall, and an these stories, which, for humor, pathos power of description and originality o sketching character, are unrivalled by the works of any living writer. The Christmas tales are full of the cheerful spirit of the fireside. The third volume, published this day of this edition for the masses, contains continuation of the Pickwick Papers.

WALTER SCOTT'S NOVELS -Anne of Geirstein forms the fourteenth weekly issue of T. B. Peterson & Brothers, cheap edition of Waverly Novels for the Million. These celebrated novels are now being published at the rate of one a week, and the whole twenty-six volumes can be had free of post age, by sending five dollars to the publishers. As persons now have an opportunity here to secure his works, which has never before been offered, and which may never occur again, the present chance should be taken advantage of by all, who wish to procure these standard works of fiction, at a comparatively low price. Address all orders and remittances to the publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa., and they will receive immediate attention.

ARE THE VOTERS READY ?- But a few days now intervene before the October election!

Are the voters of this County aware of the great importance of success on the second Tuesday in October? We urge upon our friends thus to make preparations for a FULL VOTE. Let arrangements be made to poll every vote. Your opponents will not lose an available vote. We must be equally active and vigilant, and a certain triumph awaits us, not only in the County, but in the State.

WE would remind all whom this may oncern, to remember that in order to secure vote at the next general election, it is necessary to be assessed, at least ten days previous. No legal voter should fail to examine the assessor's list to see whether his name is upon it, and if not, proceed at once to have himself assessed. Young hands at voting should attend to this matter. It is necessary that the Democrats poll their full vote this fall. Get ready for the election, and do not neglect it. Go to the polls early on the day of election; and see that your neighbor does not stay at home, neglecting

To him it must be a pleasing reflection that the machinations and abuse of his enemies have failed to sever the sterling Democracy of his own county from his standard. The time is not far distant when the people of the whole Union will acknowledge that the national honor has been degraded and outraged by the most contemptable and reckless assaults upon the person of the highest officer of the nation, and this, too, aside from all object of public good. Personal, selfish and revengeful in their assumed causes for attack, his enemis have sought to coerce the ation to their aid, forgetful and wholly regardless that he was the chosen, represen gardies that he was the chosen, represen-tative and custodian, before the world, of the honor of this people. HARVEST IN IRELAND.-The London Time ays in regard to the harvest in Ireland, that there has been a supplementary summer in Ireland this year. A fortnight ago peoble thought that the great heat was all over, and that a premature autumn might be Never was there a greater delusion. For more than a week Dublin has been roasting under a sun more hot and brilliant than that of July, and in the country generally the weather is equally brilliant. The Cork Constitution thus reports that on Friday the self-registering thermometer at the Cork Institution marked 72 degrees in the shade, and on Saturday it went up to 73. On Sunday and yesterday it reached72. The highest point gained at any previous period of this month was 71 degrees.—
At the period of last year corresponding with Saturday, Sunday and yesterday, the highest was 65. The getting in of the harvest is progressing rapidly, and a considera-ble quantity of corn has been lodged in the haggards. Wheat and barley have turned out very well, but the oats crop, it is generally stated, will prove under an average .-The green crops have received the greatest benefit from the late rains. Potatoes are turning out remarkably well-better than was some time ago expected. Apprehen-sions of blight are dying out, and the crop is now, with little exception, looked on as INDIAN TROUBLES IN TEXAS.-We have advices from Galveston to the 10th inst .-The Austin Gazette learns from Captain Ford that it is his belief that the depredations, in the way of killing and stealing horses and cattle, a few miles above Austin, have been committed by Indians. They seem to have made their appearance about the same time at several points on the frontier. On the 23d and 24th of August, they stole a number of horses and killed a negro man in Comanche county, and it is reported they were hovering around the town of Bandera near that period.

The Cameron Sentinal states that a rumor had reached that place, through a gentleman from the upper country, that a portion of the Reserve Indians, who were being conducted to their new quarters, by the government troops, escaped, a part making towards the Lampasas Springs, the balance striking for the head waters of the Colorado.

THE FASHIONS .- The late Parisian fashion of ladies going dressed with the utmost church, has brought out in plainness to America a similar desire, and at present modest dresses, of the Quaker grades of colors, with plain full skirts without flounces, are becoming the bon-ton of the day. These "couleurs ecues," as the French call them, are elegant in their simplicity, and will look far more tasteful and lady-like than the brilliant notions vulgar taste love

PROGRESS OF THE RAILROAD.—The track of the Sunbury and Erie Railroad is now laid to Rattle-snake run, seventeen miles west of Lock Haven. HON, SAMUEL OAKES .- The Pittsburgh Dispatch, in speaking of our late attentive and faithful representative, Hon. Speech of Hon. Robert Toombs.

We publish the succeeding extract o beech delivered at Augusta, Georgia, on the 8th of September last, more especially to show by the extract from Mr. Madison and the connection, that formerly and now statesmen have felt the conflicting princi ples which enter into the question of gov-ernment for our Territories—the principle that Congress is supreme, under the Contitution, over common territory which has been purchased or conquered for all the es, and the general, great principle of local self-government. As the Constitution does not contain any clause of delegate power for the government for the Territories. and consequently does not determine the proportion in which these two principles shall be observed in drafting a government for the Territories, it became a subject for the calmest, most patriotic and comp ing spirit of adjustment:

the calmest, most patriotic and compromising spirit of adjustment:

By the laws of nations a people who are conquered or bought are governed by the will of the conquerer or purchaser; they have no road to sovereignty except through revolution or compacts. Until our Territories acquire sovereignty by one of these modes, I shall continue to hold that the jurisdiction of Congress over them is exclusive and paramount; I say exclusive and paramount—I do not say unlimited. All power must necessarily be limited by the ferms of the grant, and the objects of the grant. The power of Congress over the Territories is an implied power, therefore, limited by the objects of the grant. In the language of Mr. Madison, "the right being given from the necessity of the case, and in suspension of the great principle of self-government, ongh not to be extended further nor continued longer than the occasion might fairly require." Yet it exists, and is wholly inconsistent with popular sovereignty. From the day of the adoption of the present Constitution to this hour the Federal Government have claimed and exercised the right to govern the Territories according to their own will and pleasure, subject only to the Constitution of the United States. It has steadily claimed and exercised the powers to control their legislation in all cases whatsoever, without question or protest; therefore, neither principle nor authority has this new position of Senator Douglas a single leg to stand upon, yet I do not belong to those who denounce him; the organization of the democratic party leaves this as an open question; he is at full liberty to take either side he may choose, and if he maintains his ancient ground of neither making nor accepting new tests of political friend, and will accept him as the representative of the party whenever it may lender him; and in the mean time, if he should ever wander after strange gods, I do not hesitate to tell you that, with his errors, I prefer him and would support him to morrow against any opposition man in Am to morrow against any opposition main to America.

I have but a single point remaining to present to you on this occasion. We are told that we must put a new plank in the democratic platform, and demand the affirmance of the duty of Congress to protect slavery in the Territories, whenever such Territories fail to discharge this unquestionable duty. Some of the opposition leaders say it you will do that we will act with you. Now I reply, I do not think it is wise to do the thing proposed; and, in the teaders say it you will do that we will act with you. Now I reply, I do not think it is wise to do the thing proposed; and, in the second place, I do not think the inducements proposed helps the proposition. While I have already asserted full and complete power in Congress to do this thing, I think with Mr. Madison, that such a power should be most prudently and carefully exercised; that it ought not to be exercised; that it ought not to be exercised until the occasion for it is imperative. There has been no occasion for its exercise from 1789 to this hour; there is no case to-day calling for it, and I am more than willing that the Territories shall continue to govern them-selves in their own way, so long as they respect the rights of all the people of the States and their own fellow-citizens. I will States and their own fellow-citizens. I will not insult them by supposing them capable of disregarding the Constitution as expounded by the Supreme Court; I will not insult them by assuming that they are incapable of honest self-government, and are capable of abusing power to the injury of their fellow-citizens. If they should show themselves incapable of honestly exercising the powers with which we have intrusted them, perhaps the judiciary may be adequate to right. with which we have intrusted them, perhaps the judiciary may be adequate to right the wrong. It may be that the power of the Executive may be adequate to that purpose, but if all these safeguards fail, I shall then be prepared to protect all the rights of all the peeple in the Territories as well as elsewhere by all the powers of the Governments.

But I shall.

But I shall prescribe no new tests of pary fealty to Northern democrats; those who emain of them have hitherto stood with remain of them have hitherto stood with fidelity and honor upon their engagements. They have maintained the truth to their own hurt, they have displayed a patriotism a magnanimity rarely equalled, neve excelled in the world's history, and I shall endeavor in sunshine and storm—with you excelled in the world's history, and I shall endeavor in sunshine and storm—with your approbation if I can get it, without it if I must—to stand by them with a fidelity equal to their great deserts. If you will stand with me and them we shall conquer faction in the North and in the South; we shall save the country from the curse of shall save the belerogeneous compound now calling itself the opposition, and shall leave this great country four children as we found it—united, strong, prosperous and happy.

A PILE OF MONEY TAKEN AT TERRE HAUTE.—A temporary agent of the American Express Compay at Terre Haute, within the past two or three weeks, has taken packages, and parts of packages of various amounts of money passing through that office, in such sums as to make an aggregate reaching nearly $40,000. This was all staked and lost at gaming tables. The last sum taken was an entire package of $14,-000 for the Pike County Bank. This was all lost in one night at a gaming saloon .-Growing desperate at heavy loss, the last of a series of considerable length, the express agent pulled a pistol from his pocket and demanded the money. It was handed back to him, and his depredations in the express office discovered the next day.

BRIBERY.-The Opposition candidates for the Legislature in Berks county, publicly offer $200 each to the voters of that county if they will elect them. Never in the his tory of politics have we seen anything so barefaced. They propose to pay the mon-ey in this way: Failing to have the compensation of members reduced to $500, they will pay $200 a piece into the co. Treasury Perhaps the people of Berks co. will not choose to be bribed for $600 in the aggregate which would amount to exactly 33 cents a voter there being 16,000 voters in Berks county. Messrs. Hottenstein, Klopp and Holloway must have rather a poor opinion of the value of votes in Berks county .- [Lebanon Advertiser.

Vice President Breckinridge The Albany Allas and Argus, speaking Mr. Breckinridge's disclaimer as a candid

"We have no doubt that Mr. Breckinridge is sincere in his dusclaimer of a Presidential candidacy. He is but 39 years of age, and the expiration of a term or even two terms in the Presidential office would place him in retirement in the meridian of his life. It would be better that a career should not thus quickly culminate, if it were so soon to close; and if Mr. Breckinridge life, he will do well to shun the premature honors of the Presidency.

honors of the Presidency.

"Still he is not beyond the reach of the Democracy of the nation; who, if they wanthin, will have him, not for his sake but because of their own necessities. He declined, on the floor of the Cincinnati Convention, to be a candidate for the Vice Presidency; but the Democratic delegation of New York will not forget how their enthusiastic acclamation, which soon communicated itself to the Convention, was confirmed by it and by the country."

A DELIGHTFUL DAY .- The wet spell over, and yesterday morning a clear blu sky, bright sun and invigorating air, with ufficent dampness to keep the dust off combined to render us a delightful day. The streets and buildings have been wash ed clean by the rain, and both man and day to make one feel in a good humor with all the world, and in peace with the balance of mankind. In Page county, the disease is also prevalent, bu not very fatal. In one family of nine per sons on the Blue Ridge, that of Mrs. Clise eight were confined to bed at one time.

A CURIOSITY .- A workman at the spok factory in the Phœnix Works in Newark on Friday, while cutting a piece of oak, taken from the heart of an oak tree which grew in the wilds of Carolina County, Md., found imbedded in it a penny of 1749. On one side is the head of the King, and the words 'Georgius II, Rex," and on the reverse Britannia, 1749."

A New Work by Emerson Bennett, Author of 'Clara Moreland,' 'Praine Flow-er,' "The Relugees,' 'Blanche Bertrand,' "The Artist's Bride,' &c., &c., entitled WILD SCENES ONTHE FRONTIERS:

HEROES OF THE WEST.

"Westward, the course of Empire takes its Way!"
This work, is the only one in Book form, which for several years has emanated from the pen of the gitted author, who treads now alone the path once trodden by our own Cooper. It will contain graphic pictures of the conflicts of the hardy Pioneer, whose strifes and struggles with his Indian foe, rival the tales of fiction and the tragic counterfeits of the mimic stage. Also thrilling narratives of the daring deeds, the heartrials, the heroic devotion and self-denial of noble women, the mothers of the West! Beneath the over-arching forests, hand to hand, and foot to toot, the intrepid adventurer has encountered in deadly combat the ruffian desperadoes who made their haunts in the backwoods, and his gallant achievements have thrown a half of formance over the waving prairies, the grand old mountains, and the majestic rivers of the land of the setting sun!

Not are these pages wanting in those genter scenes which make up home-life, and which are pictured with all the skill and fidelity for which the author is pre-eminently distinguished. His delineation of Frontier character, and of the secnery of the Borders, has always the advantage of an accuracy which is the result of an intimate, personal acquaintance.

The work will be printed on fine white Westward, the course of Empire takes its Way!

THE 'GREAT REPUBLIC' MONTHLY;
A Magazine devoted entirely to the elevation of American authorship, wholly national, in no wise sectional or sectarian; having for its motto the words of the great statesman:

man:
"NO NORTH, NO SOUTH, NO EAST, NO WEST;"
having nothing to do with politics, aiming only at the lighest in ART, LITERATURE and SCIENCE, and employing the best writers in every branch, is again before the American public, seeking their support.
This Magazine is now finishing the first year, and drawing near the close of the SECOND VOLUME, and has met with unparalleled success.
