The only rationanl and successful treatment, as indicated by nature, is to reduce the inflamation in and about the wound and to soothe the neighboring parts by rubbing in plenty of the Ointment as salt is forced into meat.

Persons suffering from these direful complaints should lose not a moment in arresting their progress. It should be understood that it s not sufficient merely to smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be well subbed in for some considerable time two or three times a day, that it may be taken into the system, whence it will remove any hidden sore or wound as effectnally as though palpable to the eye. There again bread and water poultices, after rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is the only sure treatment for
