

STAR OF THE NORTH.

WM. H. JACOBY, EDITOR. BLOOMSBURG, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 20th, 1861.

The principal topic of the newspapers for the last few days has been the capture of Mason and Stettin, rebel Commissioners, on board a British Mail Steamer, the San Jacinto, on their way to Europe...

It needs no prophet to see that neither of these powers could be Republic. They might be called by that name, but the spirit of Republican liberty would have fled...

We notice by some of our exchanges that Col. DANIEL H. NEUMAN, editor of the Easton Sentinel, which paper our readers will remember was destroyed long since by an abolition mob...

DAVID LOWENBERG, the fashionable merchant tailor, of this place, has just returned from the cities of New York and Philadelphia, where he has been purchasing a supply of new and fashionable cloths, vestings, etc.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—We are in receipt of this popular Lady's Magazine for Dec.—It is a splendid number. The title page for 1862 is the handsomest we ever saw.

Spies in the Camp. It is stated upon the highest authority, that the rebels from the Potomac to the New Orleans Gulf waters were credibly informed of the movements of our Great Naval Expedition...

Removed.—Col. Keller, of Adamsburg, has removed to Centre County. We are pleased to learn that he is very much pleased with his new home, and that he is doing a fair and promising business.

It will well pay.—Any one who has a taste for the beautiful in art, or the useful in science, to send twenty five cents in stamps to the lady Mrs. C. S. Patterson, of Pittsburg, Pa.

Liberty and Union.

Whatever results the present unfortunate civil war may work out, it will doubtless deeply impress upon the American people, from one extremity of our country to the other, the wellknown sentiment of Daniel Webster, "Liberty and Union, one and inseparable."

It needs no prophet to see that neither of these powers could be Republic. They might be called by that name, but the spirit of Republican liberty would have fled...

No true patriot, therefore, North or South can look forward to the building up of two separate powers on this continent, unless he fails to comprehend the inevitable consequences of such an even. The large majority of the people of the South doubtless prefer disunion rather than be deprived of what they believe to be their constitutional rights...

Abolitionism.

We regard it as one of the important signs of the times, that a general and strong desire is manifested, on the part of many of those who by political associations have been allied with the abolitionists, to get rid of the fellowship, and disconnect themselves from the evil company which has so damaged their reputations.

In this course we most heartily desire that they may continue, and however erroneous may be their interpretation of words names, we shall not stand upon definition, in cordially snuffing them, if they sincerely adopt orthodox views. We have been and are opposed on principle to abolitionism.

It may very likely come to that, and not long hence, either, that we shall be obliged to assert at the North the organized indignation of the people at the very thought of such a project as this of emancipation by our Government and army.

We record with gratification the return to these views of many excellent but hitherto misguided men among us. We have already mentioned the petition in circulation among the ultra abolitionists, and recommended in the anti-slavery papers by high Anti-Slavery men, which proposes a compensation to loyal owners for their slaves!

The Emancipation Scheme.

There are presses and individuals at present seriously engaged in discussing the plan of emancipating the slaves of the South by Presidential proclamation. This discussion means nothing, but as it is the preparatory sounding note for the full cry from the pack of fanatic leaders; and we may as well make up our minds now that it is the aim of the conspirators to plunge the country in a sea of bloody wars that would cause even the horrors of the French Revolution to pale in contrast.

Summer boldly struck the key note of open rebellion against the principles of our Constitution, in his outrageous speech and overstrained scholasticisms before the Worcester Convention. Others have been repeating his effort since. The New York Tribune, finding its generalship in the Bull Run advance too faint in military eyes, has thought proper to assume the John Brown role, and now incites the pike style of fighting, by arguing that the negroes shall cease to be regarded as property by the National Government, but be permitted to take a part of their own in this great controversy at arms.

The abolitionists have always been false in their professions of love for the laboring man. The negro is the great idea with them—the white man only a secondary consideration. This fact is fully proved by their constant advocacy of the emancipation of all the slaves in the Southern States when they know that if those negroes were set free they would fill every branch of employment to the exclusion of the white man, and that white men would be compelled to work with negroes and for a negroes wages.

This class of men are growing more rampant every day. They are the ones who complain of the Government's inactivity—who continually lament the slowness of the army movements—who affect dissatisfaction with every plan set on foot—and who cunningly declare that nothing will ever come of this war until the President proclaims unconditional and immediate emancipation for the slave, and till such a measure is openly sustained by the army at the point of bayonet.

to destruction? Are we become so enamored of their wise guidance already? Can we not all see and understand, that they would alternately lure and force us to the brink over which lies the deep of a national despair, that would be pointed to with a shudder of horror by all the future generations of men? We may as well be warned in time.—Boston Post.

Plans to invade Maryland. A correspondent of the National Intelligencer says there is not the slightest doubt that the rebels in Virginia still hold steadfastly the faith of quartering in Baltimore this winter. Gentlemen arriving in that city from the eastern shore of the State positively declare there is no obstacle at all in the way of their throwing troops into the lower counties, were they disposed to do it; and recent letters, received in Baltimore, declare the attempt will be made in large force.

Nor are the Secessionists in Washington one particle less sanguine so long as the Maryland coast of the Potomac is left unguarded. The captains of vessels who are acquainted with the nature of the Potomac coast declare that, even with a large force guarding the shore, it would be extremely difficult to prevent stolen approaches from the river.

Such an extent is valuable information conveyed by the Rebels of Baltimore to their friends in Virginia and so secretly and successfully, that it would seem nothing less than a chain of sentinels drawn around the city and a proclamation of martial law could prevent it. Many who declare themselves Union men are at heart Secessionists, and in communication with the enemy on every available occasion.

The abolitionists have always been false in their professions of love for the laboring man. The negro is the great idea with them—the white man only a secondary consideration. This fact is fully proved by their constant advocacy of the emancipation of all the slaves in the Southern States when they know that if those negroes were set free they would fill every branch of employment to the exclusion of the white man, and that white men would be compelled to work with negroes and for a negroes wages.
