

STAR OF THE NORTH

W. H. JACOBY, EDITOR.

BLOOMSBURG, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 20, 1863.

DEMOCRATIC STATE NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR, GEORGE W. WOODWARD.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT, WALTER H. LOWRIE.

FOR SENATE, DAVID B. MONTGOMERY.

FOR ASSEMBLY, GEO. D. JACKSON, of Sullivan.

JOHN C. ELLIS, of Montour.

PROTHONOTARY, JESSE COLEMAN, of Orange.

REGISTER AND RECORDER, COL. JOHN G. FREEZE, of Bloom.

CLERK, DANIEL McHENRY, of Fishing Creek.

THOS. J. VANDERSLICE, of Hemlock.

AUDITOR, JOHN T. YOHE, of Minin.

CORNER, WILLIAM T. SHUMAN, of Catawissa.

Who are the Traitors?

BENJAMIN F. BUTLER, the hero of Big Bethel and Lowell—the successful financier in New Orleans, who pocketed over a million of dollars by his official corruption in that city—is engaged by the CURTIN State Committee to make speeches in favor of the shoddy candidate.

At a recent meeting of Abolitionists, who denounce the Union as it was and call for the restoration of it, he asked the traitors assembled: "Do you wish the Union restored as it was?" To which they answered vehemently, "No!"

And then the distinguished CURTIN orator added, "The Union as it was cannot be restored, and it would be folly for me to say that I am in favor of the restoration of the Union as it was."

We ask the conservative voters of the Commonwealth who desire to see a return of peace and prosperity to our unhappy country, and who believe that the Union may yet be restored to bless them and their children, to ponder well upon the reasonable utterances above quoted before they place their votes in the ballot-box.

Democratic Mass Meeting at Jerseytown.

On Thursday, the 8th day of October next, the Democracy of Columbia county, will hold a Mass Meeting, at Jerseytown. Let every man who is in favor of Civil Liberty, Freedom of Speech and the Press, and opposed to Tyranny and Despotism in every form, attend and hear the real Jacksonian doctrine proclaimed. Turn out in all your strength; come from afar and near, and show to Abolition's minions who are creeping about through the country that you are in earnest. Let the authorities who so badly control and administer the affairs of our Government hear from you in tones of thunder. Awake them up to the true condition of our suffering country, which is almost in its very death struggle, crying for help.

Abie and patriotic speakers are engaged, and will be present to address the people. JAMES C. BUCKA, Esq., of Lewisburg, Hon. M. E. JACKSON, of Berwick, and Col. Wm. BURKINS, of Lycoming, will positively address the meeting. This will be the meeting of the campaign.

Maj. George W. Woodward.

Among the Washington news items in the New York News we notice the following: "The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

The Judgment Against Curtin.

We have repeatedly called attention to the decided and unequivocal manner in which Abolitionism has been condemned by his own party. No public man ever went before the people, begging for their votes, with such a stained and blackened record as that which the Abolitionists themselves have presented of their own candidate for Governor. Corruption and imbecility have been indelibly stamped upon him by their own hands; and so universal is their belief in the truth of the damning charges against him, that no Abolition journal of any weight or influence has had the hardihood or brazen impudence to attempt to deny them. It has the positive evidence in their possession of his rank or reputation that caused the Hon. S. A. Puffer, acting through "self-respect," to resign his position as Attorney General—that induced the Pittsburg Gazette to say that "his nomination would be a disgrace to the Abolition party and his election impossible"—and that forced a large number of delegates in the Pittsburg Convention to earnestly protest against his being made the candidate of a party already borne down under the heavy weight of its manifold sins and transgressions. Can the honest voters of Pennsylvania repose any confidence in a man so utterly and universally condemned by his own party? Can they place the vital interests of the old Keystone in his keeping for three years longer, when his past record of service proves that he is an unfaithful public servant, and after he has been pronounced by Abolitionists themselves the most corrupt public man that ever disgraced this or any other country? Let them answer at the polls on the Second Tuesday of next October.

The Last Dodge.

The Republican party, hard up for electioneering documents, have taken an editorial, purporting to have appeared in the Richmond Inquirer, garbled it to some extent, and arranged it in a large and conspicuous poster, setting forth the "road to peace through Pennsylvania via Washington, as engineered by Southern Rebels and their Democratic Allies." They copy from Jeff. Davis' organ, matter to show that the Democratic party of the North have the sympathy of the Rebels in the present campaign, and only a short time ago this party published article after article, from this very same Richmond paper, showing that the Rebels looked on the Democratic party with scorn and contempt, and viewed them as the worst enemies they had to contend against. How is it now? To the contrary. The Republican party would have you believe that Jeff. Davis stands ready to assist in the election of a Democratic Governor in Pennsylvania. This is not the case. They tell you that Pennsylvania is again to be invaded by the Rebel Lee, and that by such conduct the Democracy are to be strengthened, and Peace procured to the South on their own terms. They would also have you believe that the Democracy are going to assail the Administration. All such stuff will do to read and circulate among crazy Abolitionists and old women, but among the stalwart Democracy you will have to produce something of a better character, and from a more reliable and influential source. We believe one of the roads to peace is through Pennsylvania, and through submission to the Constitution and the Union. The election of Judge Woodward will be starting the procession on this road to peace. Through the Democratic party, and submission to the Constitution and Laws in accordance therewith, can peace be restored and this Union once more reconstructed.

Democratic Mass Meeting at Jerseytown.

On Thursday, the 8th day of October next, the Democracy of Columbia county, will hold a Mass Meeting, at Jerseytown. Let every man who is in favor of Civil Liberty, Freedom of Speech and the Press, and opposed to Tyranny and Despotism in every form, attend and hear the real Jacksonian doctrine proclaimed. Turn out in all your strength; come from afar and near, and show to Abolition's minions who are creeping about through the country that you are in earnest. Let the authorities who so badly control and administer the affairs of our Government hear from you in tones of thunder. Awake them up to the true condition of our suffering country, which is almost in its very death struggle, crying for help.

Maj. George W. Woodward.

Among the Washington news items in the New York News we notice the following: "The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

"The camp of the Invalid Corps at Meridian Hill, Washington, is under the command of Major George W. Woodward, the son of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The corps now comprises nine thousand men. Major Woodward is engaged in forming them into regiments."

Dr. John and the Draft.

Dr. P. J. Jones felt some interest in the draft that he went to Troy for the purpose of seeing who was hit and who wasn't. When he gets home he sits down and writes an editorial for his paper, telling his readers all about it. How "the wheel was turned by the Marshal, the names drawn by a blind man, named Henry Vanduyck, who handed the ticket to the Commissioner, who in loud voice announced it, then handed it over to the Surgeon, who carefully inspected it to see that it was all correct, he then passed it over to the Clerk, who again announced the name, after which it was taken down by three other Clerks, and then handed over to another Clerk and placed in regular order on a string," and then the Dr. wrote the names down on his slip of paper, after which the thing was right. The board did not honor the Dr. with a prize in the Lottery they were conducting. It would have broken his heart if they had! He never could think of going, the Republican party might suffer did he leave and go into the army. And to pay three hundred dollars would be contrary to the doctrine of Quaker teaching! To pay money in sums of three hundred dollars, to conduct a war, holy or unholy, no Republican editor of Quaker persuasion will ever be guilty of. Not they!

The Latest War News.

Disastrous Results of the Fight—Heavy Loss of Guns and Baggage—Particulars of the Fight—Gallantry of Gen. Thomas' Command. CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—The Gazette publishes full accounts of the battles of Saturday and Sunday morning. It confirms the general statement of telegraph already published. The army was saved from destruction by the stubborn defence of Gen. Thomas' corps on Sunday. The report concludes: "Our losses have been most severe and can scarcely be tallied. 1,700 killed and 8,000 wounded. Col. Barrett tells us our loss in artillery will not fall short of fifty pieces. Our deficiency in transportation and baggage cannot be estimated. Nothing withstanding this, the report says it was a substantial failure to the enemy, if not a victory to us. They were killed in the attempt to destroy the army, and suffered in loss of life fully as much as the Army of the Cumberland."

From Gen. Rosecrans.

In a partial list of the wounded are the names of Lieut. C. B. Madden, Co. F. 79th Pennsylvania; Col. T. B. Stanley, of Negley's division, slightly wounded; Gen. Steadman, of Scribner's Army, and other officers. The 15th Ohio has but 176 of 450 effectives left. Some regiments are almost annihilated. General Garfield telegraphs from Rossville on the evening of the 20th, as follows: "Thomas has left Bard's, Brannan's, Reynolds', Wood's and Tamm's, and Granger's in good order and has maintained almost the exact position occupied in the morning, except the right wing has swung back. Lytle fought a most terrific battle, and has damaged the enemy badly. Gen. Granger's troops moved just in time, and fought magnificently. The fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely surrounded, and after their lines cut their way out in another place, but abandoned their prisoners. Another brigade was attacked just at the close of the fight, and its ammunition being exhausted, went in with the bayonet and drove the enemy, taking 200 prisoners, and have them yet. As the fighting was fiercer than any I ever saw before. Our men not only held their ground, but at many points drove the enemy splendidly. Langstreet's Virginians have got their bellies full. All divisions in the field had exhausted their ammunition. Turchin charged the rebel line and took 500 prisoners. He became entirely