THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN.

We do not believe that even in this age of cheap publications any work can be more reasonable than the terms of the Scientific American at $2 per annume with 25 per cent. discount for clubs of 10 to form a yearly volume of 832 pages quarto, with an immense number of original engravings of patanted machinest valuable inventions, and objects of scientific interest. There is not an industrial pursuit which does not receive a share of its attention. It contains official lists of patent claims, important statistics, practical recipes for domestic purposes and has long stood, both in this country and in Europe, as the highest authority in the mechanic arts and siences. There is no publication more valuable to the farmer, the miller, the engineer, the iron founder the mechan ic, or the manufacturer. We have never opened a number without learning something we never knew before, and obtaining valuable information for the benefit of our readers. The Publishers, Messrs. Munn & Co., of 37 Park Row, New York, have deserved the success which they have achieved.
