Loyalty in High Circles.

The Congress of the U.S. boastingly authorizes that the already drained treasury of the U. S. be drawn upon to the tune of $25,-000, to be presented to the widow of Abraham Lincoln. This is surely a charitable act, considering that the Lincoln estate amounts to near one hundred thousand dollars, and that her son, Robert, has amassed a very large fortune in his infancy.

Such are the works of a congress, which is claimed to be raled by the true friends of soldiers, while the same body refuses to listen to any proposition concerning the bounties of soldiers, and withholds backpey and pensions from widows of soldiers who were killed in the army, because of some alight informalities in the proceedings or want of a revenue stamp upon the marringe certificate, notwithstanding thousands of these widows have large families of children to support and are wholly destitute of means. The Ramp House Select Committee on Freedmen has reported a bill authorizing the setting apart of three million acres of good land in Arkansas, Mississippi and lorida, to be allotted in parcels of not over ony scres each to freedmen. This would make 750,000 parcels, and at least that nomber of families, representing about half a million of negroes, would be accommodated. What is to be done with the remaining negroes, amounting to about two and a balf millions, is not stated, but it is likely that if this bill shall pass, another one will be offered granting about fifteen million more acres of good land to them, in some of the intermeddling of Congress with this matter,

> The bill in question has probably higher object than the opening up of another wide and rich field for "loyal" speculation; but, according to any of the views we have presented, the matter is deserving of reprobation. If it must be that the negro race shall be fostered and supported entirely at the expense of the white laboring masses, let there be land sufficient purchased for them somewhere under the ropics-their natural position-and let them be colonized there at once. If speculators choose to follow them, no one will object, unless it be the negroes. But let there be no more fields for "loyal" speculation opened, nor a Pandora's box of evils prepared for future generations .- Patriot & Union.

THE Rump Congress, it seems, is determined to force the right of soffrage upon the negroes of the District of Columbia. Upon leaving the question to the people to decide, the Abolitionists were defeated. Not being satisfied with the decision made by the people of the District, the fanatics have just learned that they, in Congress, have entire prisdiction over the matter, and now are doing all in their power, against all law and reason, to establish the right of suffrage to that ignorant and inferior race of people, known as the American Citizen of African descent. Wonder if it would be necessary to keep up a Freedmen's Bureau any longer in Washington city, at the expense of the general Government, should the Abolition party succeed in making the negro a legal oter? It might be necessary to enlarge rather than lessen the facilities for maintaining the blacks in the event of the Abolitionists accomplishing what they are so industriously laboring for. The Puble Debt.

A Mr. Randall, a Democratic Congressman from Pennsylvania, a few days ago, introduced a resolution in the House of Representatives at Washington, to the ef fect that the public debt created during the late rebellion, is sacred and inviolate, and must be paid, principle and interest, and any attempt to repudiate and impair the same should be universally discountenanced. &c.

Why the introduction of this matter into the political arena at this early day, we cannot divine. There has been no attempt made yet by the people, in any quarter, to impair this debt. We are opposed to the and more particularly by the Democratic It is bad enough to have an expensive party. The people will attend to this debt selves, as they generally, do with all things relating to their welfare. We are opposed now, and hope will continue to be, to any attempt to repudiate or impair any honest debts contracted by the Government at any time. Every dollar contracted by the govprinciple and interest. But there have been government and sold in New York for two twenty-two dollars a piece-will be fresh in the memory of the people.

But we cannot see any use in the Democ racy taking this uncouth abolition offspring into their keeping. It belongs to the abomost earnestly wish the negroes well, and litionists. It is a child of their own creation.

The abolitionists, for upwards of thirty years past, have been trying to create a difficulty between the North and South .-No efforts were left untried to make life and property insecure in the South. Emissaries were constantly sent to the South in order to create insurrection among the blacks, and with what success the newspapers of that period gave only too sad a tale. The mails too were loaded down with publications of an incendiary character and distributed in the South for the same purpose. And petitions, couched in the most insulting language possible, were forwarded to Congress with a view of firing the Southern heart .-The consequence or effect of this was the rebellion, and the debt referred to, was the result of the rebellion. Hence, the abolitionists are exclusively responsible for the

The following criticism upon the recently established journal, named "Our Young Folks," published in Boston, by Massachusetts radicals, portrays a little of the character of the Educational Monthly. The critis cism is made by a correspondent of the Monthly, yet we suppose the publication is an endorsement of it. The writer says :--

"Thus guided, I have been pained to discover, in that otherwise al most faultless little magazine, Our Young Folks, a drop of poison, that must penetrate the young minds and hearts which are learning from its pages their lessons for life.
