

AGRICULTURAL.

SAVING GRAIN IN DAMP WEATHER BY STRAW.

A field of white oats near Plymouth was cut wet, and the weather continuing the same, was at last stacked in layers, with dry straw between. Where no dry straw is to be had, it may be dried in a sheaf, either by a simple kiln, or without risk of fire, by time, as follows: If the rick be made hollow, with the grain turned upward, a sufficient quantity of fresh quicklime placed within, and then all closed in from bottom to top, and covered over to exclude the external air, the lime will rapidly dry the air within, which will as rapidly take moisture from the grain; and so continue until the grain is dry or the lime fully slaked. And as quicklime will absorb one-third its weight of water, a ton of lime will take between 6 and 7 cwt. of water, and thus probably dry 6 or 7 tons of grain and straw; for all this water must come from the grain, if the air is excluded, and the lime raised from the soil by a bed of stones, gravel, or straw. The lime must not of course, touch the grain; and, therefore, room should be left for it to slake all through; and a sort of doorway must be left on the side of the rick, which can be opened for putting in the lime, and for turning it over; but must be closed up immediately, and kept close, except at such moments.

QUANTITY OF CORN PER ACRE.—I wish every skeptic upon the subject of raising 100 bushels corn to the acre, would carefully measure the ground and count the ears upon some garden patches of corn during the present summer, and they can be convinced how easy it is to raise 100 bushels of corn to the acre, upon land with the soil of garden-mould and a similar cultivation.

SIGNS OF A PROSPEROUS FARMER. 1. When a farmer is seen marrying young, it shows that Providence helps those who help themselves, and that in future he will have helps of more kinds than one.

2. When lights are seen to burn in his house before break of day, in winter especially, it shows that the day will never break on his 'breaking' in the winter of his adversity.

3. When you see his barn larger than his house, it shows that he will have large profits and small afflictions.

4. When you see him driving his work, instead of his work driving him, it shows that he will never be driven from good resolutions, and that he will certainly work his way to prosperity.

5. When you see in his house more lamps for burning red grease, than candlesticks for more expensive purposes, it shows that economy is working its way to happiness and plenty, with that light which should enlighten every farmer into the world.

6. When you always see in his wood-house, a sufficiency for three days, if not more, it shows that he will be a more than 'ninety days wonder' in farming operations, and that he is not sleeping in his house after a drunken frolic.

7. When he has a small house, separate from the main building, purposely for asses, and an iron or tin vessel to transport them, it shows that he never built his dwelling to be a funeral pile for his family and perhaps himself.

8. When his house is boarded inside and outside, it shows that he is going the whole hog, i. e. keeping plenty inside his house and poverty out.

9. When his sled his housed in summer and his farming implements covered both winter and summer, it plainly shows that he will have a good house over his head in the summer of early life, and the winter of old age.

10. When his cattle are properly sheltered and fed in winter, it evidences that he is acting according to Scripture, which says, that a 'merciful man is merciful towards his beasts.'

11. When he is subscribing for newspapers, it shows that he is speaking like a book respecting the latest improvements in agriculture, and that he will never get his walking papers to the land of poverty.

In dry pasture, dig for water on the brow of a hill; springs are more frequently near the surface on a height than in a vale.

New clover deep; it secures it against the drought.

It is better to cut grain just before it is fully ripe than dead. When the straw immediately below the grain is so dry that on twisting it no juice is extracted, it should be cut, for there is then no further circulation of juice to the ear. Every hour that it remains uncut after this stage is attended with loss.

THE POTATO ROT.—The loss occasioned by the mysterious disease in potatoes, threatens to be even more severe this season than last. A friend in Maine who sent his whole crop, valued at a thousand dollars to this city, will have it all returned upon his hands, as the infection has developed itself in every barrel.—Boston Journal.

It is improved by washing the seed carefully after the lapse of twenty-four hours, when the soil is dissolved, and the water filtered can be entirely removed.

Stanton's External Remedy.

HUNT'S LINIMENT, CALLED, IS now universally acknowledged to be the most efficacious remedy for rheumatism, neuralgic affections, contractions of the muscles, sprains, dislocations, contusions of the chest, sprains, issues, ulcers, pains in the back and chest, ague in the breast and face, tooth ache, sprains, bruises, salt rheum, burns, scalds, frost-bite, and all nervous diseases. The treatment of this most wonderful medicine in curing the most severe cases of the different diseases above named, and the high economy that have been bestowed upon it, when used as directed, and given the merit to call on the afflicted to resort to it once to the only remedy that can be relied on.

The following certificate of the restoration to health and the perfect cure of a deformed and crippled child, who was thought to be beyond the reach of hope, shows that, no matter how appalling the case may be, there is a remedy in Hunt's Liniment, that will conquer the most desperate case; and that, if the disease is curable, this celebrated liniment will do it. It has never failed in giving immediate relief when timely applied, as proved by the abundance of high and unimpeachable testimony, the particulars of which are to be found in the pamphlets which are to be had of every agent.

Oswining, June 10, 1845. G. E. Stanton, Esq.—Sir: I feel called upon by the tie of gratitude to offer the following testimony in favor of your External Remedy, Hunt's Liniment. My grandson, Clark E. Stanton, who is now ten years of age, has been for the last eight years a cripple, caused by falling from a chair when he was two years old, and wrenching his spine. From the time of the occurrence we have tried every means to restore him to his natural shape, but all without avail. We took him to N. York, and placed him under the care of a physician of skill, and, after remaining there for some time, we brought him home no better than when we took him there. He was thought to be incurable, and was so helpless that he could only walk by placing his hands upon his knees for support, giving him the appearance of a deformed hunchback. He was taken to Newburg and prescribed for by HENRY HARRIS, Justice of the Peace. This Liniment is sold at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by all the principal Druggists and Merchants.

Ordered and sent me at Sing Sing, N. Y., will be sent to G. E. STANTON, Proprietor, Wholesale Agents—Hoagly, Phelps & Co. 142 Water street, Fulton & Co. 110 Broadway. A. B. & D. Bands, corner Fulton and William, Apsinwall 89 William street, New York; Cutler & Welch, 78 South Second, Philadelphia.

DYSPEPSIA,

And all Diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

DYSPEPSIA, or Indigestion and its consequences.—An eminent Physician says: "It chiefly arises in persons who lead either a very sedentary or irregular life. It is not regarded as a fatal disease, yet, if neglected, it may bring on incurable Melancholy, Jaundice, Madness, or Vertigo, Palsy, and Apoplexy. A great singularity attendant on it, is, that it may often continue a great length of time without any remission of the symptoms.

CAUSES.—Grief and uneasiness of mind, intense study, profuse evacuations, excess in venery, excessive use of spirituous liquors, tea, tobacco, opium and other narcotics, immoderate repletion, or over distention of the stomach, deficiency in the secretion of the bile or gastric juice, exposure to cold and damp air, are the chief causes of this disease.

SYMPTOMS.—Loss of appetite, nausea, heart-burn, acidity and fluid eructations, gnawing of the stomach and worms, uneasiness in the throat, pain in the side, costiveness, chilliness, languor, loss of spirits, palpitations, and disturbed sleep.

TREATMENT.—DR. ALLEN'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND has never failed in affording immediate relief and a radical cure for this disease.

READ the following from Mr. Sharp, a well known and highly respectable citizen of the Northern Liberties, Philadelphia County. This is one of the most astonishing cures on record, and it will be seen by the following testimonial, and by other citizens of the same city.

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 11, 1847. Near the close of the year 1845, I had an attack of the Pleurisy and while recovering from it, I took
