MANAGEMENT OF FRUIT TREES-PRU NING -- Every cultivator of fruit should thoroughly examine his orchard and fruit prosiching busy reason. Those who have large trees should give them the necessary pruning. A slight trimming every year or two is much better than the more frequent pristice of heavy pruning after years of neglock. The work should be done this month as early as possible, that the wounds may become well dried before the sap flows .-There is more judgment and, care needed in proning large trees than in any other part of their management. The operator should constantly bear in mind, that a neat, handsome head is to be preserved; that the bost shaped and most thrifty branches are to be left ; and that the light of the sun should be admitted, as far as practicable minute parts of the tree. A thrifty growth of the branches will thus be kept up; und in connexion with good cultivation of the soil, the fruit will possess the large size, and fine flavor and appearance, so eminently desirable, and usually seen on young trees. The advantage of adsiltting the sunlight must be obvious to every one who has noticed the difference between the rich flavor of fruit fully exposed to the solar rays, and that which has grown under a thick mass of branches and leaves. Indeed, so important is this influence, that the exposed side of an apple is offen found much richer in flavor than the shaded side-the rich acid of the Esopus Spitzenburg, and the sugary sweetness of the Tallman Sweeting, are most strikingly observable under the dark red surface of the one, and brown, sunny check of the other.

Lärge wounds made in pruning, should be protected by a suitable air-tight and water proof coating, otherwise they will dry and crack, admit rain, and finally become diseased from decay. The cheapest good costing is a mixture of tar and brick dust. solution of gum shellac, in alchohol kept corked tight, and applied with a brush .-Albany Cultivator.

BEDDED TREES .- Trees in which buds were inserted last summer, should now be headed to the bud, that it may grow freely by receiving all the sap. To cause the new shoot to grow straight, leave two or three jushes of the stock above the bud; to this the new shoot is to be closely tied as soon as it is a few inches long, and so remain till midsummer, when the stump is to be pared down, closely to the bud .--Ibid.

LINE IN PLANTING TREES .-- Many object to planting trees either for ornament or use, in consequence of the numerous failures they experience. This, however, is should be recollected, is not a necessary result. With proper care, there is no will sell at moderate prices—all warranted. Will sell at moderate prices—all warranted. hands of every person, who, by business, or gener-al course of life, is predisposed to the very many alignents that render life a curse, instead of a blessing, and so often result in death. FOR SCROFULA, Dr. Drake's Panaces is recommended as a certain cure. Not one instance of of its failure has ever occurred when freely used i it cures the disease and at the same time imparts vigor to the whole system. Scretulous persons can never pay too much attention to the state of their blood. Its purification should be their first aim. for never will according to the state of

of a Panacca, o cure for all diseases, however valuable it may be in certain conditions of the sys tom, still I have believed that a cure for Consumption would be discovered sooner or later, and curiosity led me to try your medicine in two very inveterate cases. They were pronounced by the attending physicians to be FULNONART CONSUMP. riox, and abandoned by them as incurable. One of the per-ons had been under the treatment of several very able practitioners for a number of years, and they said she had "old fushioned Con-sumption combined with Scrofula." and that she might linger for sometime, but could not be per-manently relieved. In both cases the effect of the Panacea has been most gratifying. Only tour or five bottles were used by one of the persons before she began to improve rapidly. The other took about ten. Fruit and forest trees, shrubs and perenial plants of all descriptions, may, at this season, be removed with perfect success. In setting, we usually put a small quantity of lime in the hole-about half a peck to a tree, mixing it thoroughly with the mould, in order that it may be easily accessible to the roots, which ramify in every direction in quest of food. An English publication says that an extensive plantation of trees has been formed within a few years, without the loss of a single tree, and has been effected simply by putting a small quantity of lime in the hole before depositing the use. Four bushels are said to be amply officient for an acre. The effect of the lime is "to push on the growth of the plant in the first precarious state." There seems to have existed, at first, an apprehension wet liming the tree would force it on prematurely, but this apprehension experience hesperied to be perfectly groundless .-VJ. Agriculturist.
