TRANSPLANTING FRUIT TREES IN THE SPRING OF THE YEAR.

NT R. O. PERKINS, ISQ., OF BOSTON, MASS. First prepare the ground where they are to be put, so that the water will not remain on or near the roots. Examine the roots of the tree before planting, and cut out all rotten or defective roots; cut in (shorten) to sound wood above the wound. Be careful not to plant too deep, as this may be fatal to your tree. If the tree does not put out shoots in the spring, at the usual time, or as soon as others do that were planted at the same time, give it one good watering at the roots. and no more while it remains in a dormant state; but if the bark remains fresh, or does not turn black, wash the head and body with a watering potor syringe every evening at sundown, until it begins to shoot orgrow, when you may cease watering the head, and water the roots if required. I have had trees to remain until the last of July without putting out a leaf or shoot of any kind, and after that become as fine specimens as any in my garden.

No manure should be put to fruit trees, excent it be a little vegetable manure, quite rotten, and that mixed with the earth that is to cover the roots. The question is frequently asked whether it be best to plant depend on the soil into which they are to id assortment now opening by MARCUS SAMSON. be put. If the soil be a wet, clayey one, it is best to plant in the spring; but if it be a light, gravelly soil, the autumn is preferable, because you gain four or five weeks in the growth of your plant in the spring.

If water be allowed to remain about the roots of trees that are recently planted, and are not growing, it will probably rot them by becoming stagnant and putrid. Trees should be planted, therefore, so that the water will run over and off the roots, which is all they require to afford them no urishment.

Watering the head and body of a tree that is tardy in putting forth its shoots, is the safest, and indeed the only sure mode of bringing them out, while a continued watering of the roots is almos sure destruction to them.

Trees planted on a south wall or fence that do not put out shoots in due season should be covered for several hours when the sun is out, if the weather be warm,-The leaves may be considered a sort of suction pump, which draws up the moisture from its roots and produces its increased growth, whereas a tree without leaves, and that is not already attached to the ground, has no means of carrying off the moisture from the roots. For example, if two branches of equal size and weight, the one lowing gentlemen: with leaves and the other without them. are placed in vessels containing an equal quantity of water, and exposed to the sun. the one having leaves will take up the liquid, while the other will consume comparatively little.

Some ten years ago, I imported from Paris 210 pear trees on Quince stocks, whose roots, on their arrival. I found to be entirely black and dead. I shaved off with a drawing knife all the roots down to the stump. These I planted in trenches, tying them to crossbars to keep them firm, and then filled up the trench with good soil. The heads and bodies of these were regularly washed in dry weather, until they began to sprout, which most of them did in abundance during the summer, and I finally saved, out of the whole number, 174, which became as well rooted and as good trees as any in my garden.

This has hapened more than once .-Three or four years ago, I imported, among other trees, twenty plum trees, from six to seven feet high, the heads of which had been budded the previous year in and Stevenson's corners. France. These buds had grown from nine to twelve inches long, and were perfeetly fresh when they arrived; but the roots on examination were found entirely dead. Two of these I gave way. One was good for nothing, and the other seventeen I planted in my garden, having cut as well plant my walking stick. Sixteen them. of these are now flourishing trees, well grown and well rooted, new roots being induced by means of washing the upper part of the tree.

Remarks.-The foregoing will please such of our meaders as like plain, sensible advice, from a thoroughly practical man. We have ourselves seen with great surprise and satisfaction the trees referred to as having been so successfully transplanted by Mr. Perkins, under what were the most unfavorable circumstances. The great advantage of the mode he practices, of watering the bark, and not watering roots of a tree, in a half dormant state, our correspondent thoroughly convinced us of in his own garden. Our readers are solicited to put in practice the invaluable advice he gives them. There is no doubt that half the trees that die annually from the ignorance of transplanters, perish from a mistaken notion of deluging their roots with water daily, when their fibres are so feeble so to dread it as much as a ning's Mericulturial.

ing, and so often result in death FOR SCROFULA, Dr. Drake's Panacea is re commended as a certain cure. Not one instance of its failure has ever occurred when freely used t cares the disease and at the same time imparts vigor to the whole system. Scrolulous person can never pay too much attention to the state of their blood. Its purification should be their first aim; for perseverence will accomplish a cure of even hereditary disease.
FOR ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN, Scurvy,

Scorbutic Affections, Tumors, White Swelling Erysipelas, Ulcers, Cancers, Running Sores, Scab and Biles, Dr. Drake's Panacea cannot be too high ly extolled; it searches out the very root of the cure certain and permanent.

INDIGESTION.-No medicine perhaps ha var been discovered which gives so much tone to the stomach and causes the secretion of a healthy gastric juice to decompose the food as Di Drake's Panacea. RHEUEATISM.—Dr. Drake's Panacea is u-ed with the greatest success in Rheumatic Complaints, especially such as are chronic. It cures by driving out all impurities and foul humone which have accumulated in the system, which are the cause of Rheumatism, Gout, and Swellings of the joints. Other remedies sometimes give temporary relief; this entirely eradicates the disease from the system, even when the limbs and bones are dreadfully swollen. CONSUMPTION can be cured. Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood, Asthma, Difficult or profuse Expectoration, Hectic Flush, Night Sweats, Pain in the side, &c., have been cured, and can be with as much certainty as an other simple disease. A specific has long been sought for but in vain until the discovery of Dr. Drake's Panaces. It is mild and sale but certain and efficacious in its operation, and cannot possi-bly injure the most delicate constitution. We would earnestly recommend those afflicted to give it a trial-and we belive they will not have occa sion to regret it. The system is cleansed and strengthened, the ulcers on the lungs are heated and the patients gradually regain their usual health and strength. Read the following testimony:

**Philadelphia, 184c, 14th, 1847.**

**Dear Sir.**—In reply to your question respecting the use of Dr. Drake's Panacea, I will say, that although a perfect disbeliever in the existence of a Panacea. The contraction of the parameters of the Panacea. of a Panacea, or cure for all diseases, however val-uable it may be in certain conditions of the systom, still I have believed that a cure for Con sumption would be discovered sooner or later, and life. Although not regarded as a fatal disumption would be uncovered sooner of later any scase, set, if neglected, it may bring on ininveterate cases. They were pronounced by the attending physicians to be FULNORARY CONSUMPTION, and abandoned by them as incurable. One of the persons had been under the treatment of several very able practitioners for a number of years, and they said she had "old fashioned Consumption combined with Scrofula," and that she might linger for sometime, but could not be permanently relieved. In both cases the effect of the Panacea has been most gratifying. Only four or five bottles were used by one of the persons before she began to improve rapidly. The other took about ten. I will only add that familiar as I am with consumption by inheritance and by extensive observation as a study, and knowing also the injurious effects in nine cases out of ten of tar, boneset, and other vegetable tonics, as well as of many of the expectorants and sedatives, should never have recommended the use of D Drake's Panaces if I had not been acquainted with the ingredients. Suffice it to say that these are recommended by our most popular and scien his Coachmaking Establishment a state form probably the best alterative that has side, costiveness, chilliness, languor, lowa theory of Consumption broached in France a years ago by one of ber m ters on medicine, and now established by facts which admit of no dispute. Very respectfu yours, L. C. GUNN. To use the language of mother, "Dr. Drake's Panacea is always salutary in its effects—never injurious. It is not an Opiate—it is not an Ex pectorant. It is not intended to bull the invalid nto a fatal security. It is a great remedy -and only remedy which medical ecience and skill has yet produced for the treatment of this hithe to unconquerable malady. And no person afflicted with this dreadful disease, will be just to himself and his friends if he go down to the grave without testing its virtues. A single bottle most cases, will produce a favorable char the condition of any patient, however low. TO THE LADIES.—Ladies of pale complex on and consumptive habits, and such as are de bilitated by those obstructions which females are liable to, are restored by the use of a bottle of two, to bloom and vigor. It is by far the best two, to bloom and vigor. It is by far the best remedy ever discovered for weakly children, and uch as have bad humors; being pleasant, they take it. It immediately restores the appetite, strength and color.

othing can be more surprising than its invigorating effects on the human frame? Persons all veakness and lassitude before taking it, at once come robust and full of energy under its influ ence. It immediately counteracts the nerveless ess of the female frame. Be careful and see that you ge the genuine Dr. DRAKE'S PANACEA-it has the

These continued more than two years, confining him to his bed. during which several pieces of the bone same a-way, It then attacked his arm, causing severe painful ulcers. Several pieces of bone came from nonths) he was under the treatment of several of our best physicians, (and took some thirty or more bottles of Sareaparilla and Iodine) and was pronounced by the Doctors, INCURABLE. He was then, upon the recommendation of Mr. Ha-zlehurst, taken to "Will's Hospital," where he continued under the care of Dr. Parish, three months. He was then sent home as incurable,— In a fewmonths the other leg broke out in openulcers. Spirits of Tar was recommended by friend-he took this about four months, without benefit-indeed he got worse, when I must say, I gave up all hope of his ever getting well; at this stage of the disease, I was advised by the Rev.
