Let no one deceive themselves, that because a single excess of any kind does not occu sion immediately an attack of disease, it is there fore harmless. Every violation of an organi law, carries with it sooner or later its punishment. In the great majority of situations to which man is exposed in social life, it is the continued application of less powerful causes, which gradually, and often imperceptibly, effects the change, and ruins the constitutions. I elore danger is dreamt of. The majority of human sil menti is of slow growth, and of slow progres ments is of slow growin, and of slow progressions consequently admits only of cure. Scrofuls. con-sumption, dyspepsia, wite swelling, gout, chron-ic affections of the stomach. liver, spine, head, eyes, and extremeties, embrace this class—each being the effect of an alteration in vessels of nu trition, effecting vegitative life from an antecedent acquired or hereditary cause, nothing shor of powerful ALTERLTIVE medicines, promise the least hope to the invalid.
