

LATER FROM BERLIN. The British mail steamer which sailed on Liverpool on the 12th inst. arrived at Halifax on Friday. From a glimpse of her news, it is believed that the modification of the Navigation Law enacted in the House of Lords by a majority of ten votes—a result which will give new strength to the "Whig Ministry." The House of Commons has been adjourned a second time by a larger majority than before. Mr. Roscoe is about to bring before Parliament a bill for the better government of the British Colonies, and he has also moved for a committee to ascertain the amount of debt due from foreign governments to British subjects.

In the matter of the writ of error, brought by Smith O'Brien and McManus before the House, it has been decided that they cannot be maintained. Therefore the judgment of the Queen's Bench in Ireland stands affirmed, and the prisoners are to be transported on the 1st inst. Mr. Duffin's prosecution is a broken arrow.

From Paris the report is still repeated that the rupture between the President of France and his cabinet continues; a ferry quarrel has taken place at the harbor, and the French government is in a state of confusion. The cabinet is in a state of confusion, and the President is in a state of confusion. The cabinet is in a state of confusion, and the President is in a state of confusion.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake. When the order of the day, bringing on the discussion of the President's resignation, was read by the President, M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.

FRANCE AND ROMANIA. In the French Assembly on the 19th inst., the vote of the President to Gen. Oudinot, gave rise to an interesting debate. At the commencement of the sitting much agitation was visible when M. Millard asked why the resolution was not put on Monday night when it was proposed in the Chamber, and it was explained that it was omitted by mistake.