TEMPERANCE SONG. Tune-What never part again !" There is a charm that Temperance brings, A blessing to the soul, On every thrilling chord it sings To harmonize the whole.

CHORUS. Where temp'rance lifts her magic wand, A blessing floats along the land. Her voice is heard along the shore, My children touch the bowl no more: What touch the bowl no more No, touch the bowl no more. What touch the bowl no more ? Our hearts are pledged, our danger oe'r. We touch the poisoned bowl no mor

The charm that heal'd our own, The charm that broke the venem'd dark That bowed our manhood down. Where temp'rance, &c.

To seck each others' weal, The pledge that gives our nature scope, For other's wees to feel. Where temp'rance, &c.

We hope in him whose mighty arm The weakest can sustain. For every wound he has a balm A cure for every pain.
Where temp'rance, &c.

Pair temp rance is the gift of love, Though round her demons tave. Deputed by a power above,
A sinking world to save. Where temp!rance; &c.

And still the voice of temp'rance cries, And rings from sea to sea : The suber only can be wise, The temp'rate only free.

Come hither, my child, and bend thy knee, And lift thy face to mine, would keep from sin and sorrow free, A brow so fair as thine.

Thine eye is soft as a young gazelle's, Thy step so light and wild, And music has thrown her magic spells Around thy voice, sweet child. Thy lip doth rival the coral's glow, And only feeds on bliss : And on thy cheeks of stainless snow,

The rose has left a kiss; And the silken waves of thy flowing hair Outshine the Campac tree, Oh! all of beauty the angels wear,
Is prototyped in thee.

Fortune has granted my earnest boon time may roll, each waining moon Will find thee fair as now.

And sorrow will flee thy lightsome heart, And sickness touch thee not, And Death will burnish his fatal dart, Thou'lt kindly be forgot.

> The State of New York, with her populader of population among the States of the Union. Pennsylvania, numbering some 2, 825,000, and showing an increase of 600, 987, comes next. The increase of popula tion in Pennsylvania for the last ten years has been greater in proportion than that of New York-greater in proportion, even, than that of Ohio, which ranks third in population, and numbers 1.983,140 inhabitants -an increase since the census of 1840, of 463,673. Virginia stands fourth in population; she numbers 1,428,868, and has increased within ten years 189,663.

> The greatest relative increase in population since 1840 has been in the new North Western States and in California. From a population of 31,000, ten years ago, Wisconsin has risen to 305,000; from 43,000, Ipwa has increased to 175,000. The relative increase in California baffles all calculation Her population now is estimated at not much less than 200,000.

> Plank Roads.-In the January number of Hunt's Merchant's Magazine, there is an interesting article on the subject of plank roads. From it we learn that plank froads were first constructed in Russia. We next find them introduced into Canada by Lord Sydeulum-this was some ton or twelve years ago. In 1846 the first plank road was built in the United States, at the villago of Cicero, in the State of New York. Since that time they have multiplied mapidly in that State, and are the great medium of communication between the producer and consumer-open to all kinds of
