Mr. Clay's Decline.

The particulars which are contained in the subjoined article from the New York Express, relating to Mr. Clay's illness and general decline, will be read with melancholy interest. To watch the slow approach of death in one's own frame; to note the symptoms of a feeble pulse growing daily more feeble; to be conscious of a constitutional wasting away of vital energy, until life itself seems to play like the flickering flame of a well nigh exhausted lamp; absorbs of a moment's longer duration, and to behold in all these symptoms the inevitable advance of dissolution—such experience of this kind may be truly regarded as one of the severest trials to which human patience and fortitude could be subjected. This consolatory to know that all these preliminaries to the journey of a ticket change from time to eternity, have the tranquilizing effect of preparing the illustrious sufferer for the event—withdrawing his mind from the affairs of a receding world, as the opening vision of a world to come grows more and more effulgent with the prospective splendors of immortality?

"If a bad the pleasure of half an hour's conversation with Dr. Jackson, the eminent physician and friend of Mr. Clay, on Sunday at Philadelphia, in reference to the character of the disease of his distinguished patient. Dr. Jackson has spent many days with Mr. Clay at Washington recently, and has taken that deep interest in his case which springs not only from a high devotion to his profession, but from a sincere love and regard for Mr. Clay—He tells us that the exertions which Mr. Clay made in 1850–51 on behalf of the Compromise Measures, in which he manifested such generous feeling and interest, precipitated his life ten years sooner than it otherwise would have terminated. Mr. Clay is now in his 76th year, and although occupied all his thoughts by day, and which occupied all his thoughts by night as well as all his time—where he would return to his home, seal, which his friends were soon out of sight. They travelled over 180 miles without halt, having relays of horses on the way. They at length reached, unmolested, a lonely spot upon the sea coast, where, according to previous arrangement, a vessel was in sight awaiting, and bore him off in safety. He had no concert with William Smith O'Brien, John Mitchell, and others. He is also to be arrested at Burlington, in Vermont; Portland, in Maine; Brooklyn, on Long Island; Newark, in New Jersey; Erie, in Pennsylvania; Wilmington, in North Carolina; Covington, in Kentucky; Quincy, in Illinois; and Natchitoches, in Louisiana.

Burglary in West Chester.—The house of Mrs. Jane Gibbons was entered on Monday week, and robbed of a valuable gold lever watch, No. 8515, a quantity of silver spoons marked H. P. and J. G., and a number of other articles. The burglars broke open drawers, cooked a supper, set a table, and after enjoying themselves, departed, leaving all the spare candles burning light and luminous around the remnants of the banquet.

Singular Phenomenon.—In Baltimore, on Monday, about noon, a singular phenomenon was visible around the sun, consisting of a beautifully colored halo, or mid-day rainbow, whose prismatic hues were distinctly defined, and clearly visible to the naked eye. It attracted no little attention and wonder, but in the course of an hour it had entirely disappeared.

The Escape of Thomas Francis Meagher.

The rumors of the escape of this Irish exile from Van Dieman's Land are confirmed by the announcement of his safe arrival in New York. The New York papers contain a very interesting account of his mode of escape. The story was reported as a fiction, his existence to death having been committed, for the part he took for the revolutionary movement with William Smith O'Brien, John Mitchell, and others. He arrived in the brig Acorn, from Pernambuco, having escaped from Van Dieman's Land in an American whaler. He kept himself perfectly secret "until Tuesday" except to one or two friends. In the afternoon of that day, he called on Mr. Richard O'Gorman, Jr., and Mr. John B. Dillon, at their office, and took them by complete surprise. These gentlemen are both Irish exiles, who were embarked in the same cause with Meagher, but fortunately escaped without trial. Mr. Meagher had the pleasure of a ticket of leave at the time he escaped, but did not violate its condition. It ran as follows :—

"I undertake not to escape from the colony as long as I hold this ticket of leave."

Having made previous preparations for his flight, it does not be recalled in his stable, and well armed, with pistols, he addressed a letter to the magistrate of Ross, about twenty miles distant, and a township in the district out of which he was not permitted to go. In this letter he returned his ticket of leave, and said he would remain at his house that day till twelve o'clock, when the leave expires, in order to give the authorities an opportunity of arresting him if they could. Meagher waited on his friends in the afternoon to the close, and kept his friends waiting at a shore distance. The moment the police entered the house, he mounted his horse, and, mounting his horse, came round to the front of the house, and within pistol shot of them, and told them to arrest him if they could. In the next moment he put spurs to his horse, and, with his friends, was soon out of sight. They travelled for over 180 miles without halt, having relays of horses on the way. They at length reached, unmolested, a lonely spot upon the sea coast, where, according to previous arrangement, a vessel was in sight awaiting, and bore him off in safety. He had no concert with William Smith O'Brien, John Mitchell, and others. He is also to be arrested at Burlington, in Vermont; Portland, in Maine; Brooklyn, on Long Island; Newark, in New Jersey; Erie, in Pennsylvania; Wilmington, in North Carolina; Covington, in Kentucky; Quincy, in Illinois; and Natchitoches, in Louisiana.

THE STAR AND BANNER.

GETTYSBURG.

Friday Evening, June 4, 1852.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WINFIELD SCOTT.

VICE PRESIDENT,
JAMES C. JONES.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,
JACOB HOFFMAN, (Berks)

Bonnet's Process of Flouring.

☞The reader's attention has been directed to the advertisements of Mr. Geo. Arnold, of this place, who has recently introduced Bonnet's patented process of Flouring as it still in Germany township. The great advantages claimed for this invention, and which seem to be well supported by the testimony of those who have tested the system, are certainly deserving the attention of Millers and Farmers. We have recently used some bread from Flour made by both processes, and have no hesitation in pronouncing it equal to any that we have ever used. Mr. Arnold is prepared to put Bonnet's mode as may desire to introduce the process.

☞The application for Tavern License of Francis Brown, held over at the April Court, was granted at the Orphan's Court, last week—Jacob Trostle's was refused.

Those of Charles Schwartz and Matthew Timmins failed on account of the death of the applicants.

Baths.

☞The reader's attention is directed to card of Mr. Pitcher in to-day's paper, announcing the opening of his Bathing establishment for the season. His terms are very moderate.

The Congressional Nomination.

☞A good feeling seems to pervade the Whigs of this Congressional district—the disposition all round to bring to yield personal preferences and harmonize the party by selecting that candidate which shall prove most acceptable to the entire district. The hopes that seem to be cherished by the opposition press as to the possibility of difficulties in the Whig Congressional Conference, suchas might insure to the furtherance of Locofocoism, will all prove to be an illusion. The 17th Congressional District will be represented in the next Congress by a Whig, beyond all perseverance.

Who that Representative will be, is difficult to determine at this early day. A number of good names have been suggested in various parts of the district. Besides those urged in our own county, Franklin recommends D. F. Robinson, Esq., Juniata names Mr. Sellers, and Bedford suggests Samuel L. Russell, Esq., Dr. Cooper, and Hon. Alexander King. We have not as yet noticed any nomination from Fulton.

Of course our preferences are for an Adams county man, for the double reason that we should be in the hands of the representative from our midst, and that we believe we can furnish a candidate more generally known and more generally acceptable to the entire district than will be presented from the other counties. We have, during the past week, been put in possession of letters from various points in Franklin, Bedford, and Fulton counties, in which the writers express the most unqualified approbation of the claims of our townsman, Col. J. D. Paxton, and warmly urge his nomination. Colonel Paxton has an extended acquaintance in the district, and we have no doubt, if nominated, would poll a very heavy vote.

While, however, the Whigs of Adams county would be gratified in having the candidate selected from their midst, they will hold themselves in readiness to support warmly and in good faith any good man that may be named. With this feeling in all the counties of the district, the opposition may as well at once dismiss all hopes of misunderstanding or dissention in the Whig ranks.

Small Note Law.

☞In the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia county, it has been decided that the prosecutor under the small note law is not a legal witness against the defendant, being interested in one half the amount of the penalty. The Judge held that the law having provided the action of debt as the form of remedy, it embraced the incidents of such action, in respect to the admission of evidence. This will prevent suits for the penalty, where no one is present at the passing of the notes except the person prosecuting.

A Judicious Reform.

☞The General conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in session in Boston, has ruled out part of the old church discipline which required that ladies and gentlemen should set apart during service in church, by a majority of 160.

☞The General Assembly (old school) of the Presbyterian Church closed its session at Charleston (S. C.) on Saturday last. The next session will be at Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. E. B. Humphrey, of Louisville, Ky., was elected Professor at Princeton, in room of Dr. Alexander, deceased.

CONGRESS AND POLITICS.—It appears that the interest felt by the politicians in Congress in regard to making a President is so great, that the Senate has found an opportune pretext for adjourning over from Monday until Thursday, the ostensible reason being the making of summer arrangements in their chamber. The House, too, adjourned until Friday to enable members to attend the Baltimore Convention.

The Locofoco National Convention.

☞This body met in Baltimore on Tuesday last, in the Hall of the Maryland Institute, and may be still in session as we go to press. There is a liberal sprinkling of spirits, Ohio, White, and grey," representative of nearly every shade of political notion—from rabid, uncompromising Free-Soilers, to equally uncompromising worshippers of the Slave Power.—"Union Democrats" and "Southern Rights"—Know Nothings and Anti Know Nothings—Protectionists and Free-traders—"Old Line Whigs" and "Barnburners,"—"Old Fogies" and "Young Democracy,"—with innumerable other factions by which the great Jeffersonian party of Democracy of the present day is characterized. The attendance is unusually large—the rival factions making unwonted efforts to secure the presence of large delegations, some of the States sending as high as 500 delegates and more. As might have been expected from the commingling of such a vast body of ill-assorted spirits, the day's proceeding were characterized by much confusion and disorder.

Finally the Convention organized temporally by appointing Gen. Romulus M. Saunders, of North Carolina, Chairman.—Gen. Andrew W. Doyle, of Indiana, being subsequently chosen as the permanent presiding officer. After adopting the two-thirds rule, and spending a good deal of time in fruitless discussion of points of order, the Convention adjourned.

It is difficult to predict who the nominee of the Convention will be. Gen. Cass, it is understood, has a majority of delegates, but the adoption of the two-thirds rule settles the hopes of his friends. On Tuesday night, the friends of Buchanan, Douglass, and Butler, respectively, professed to indulge high hopes of success; but the difficulty of concentrating a two-thirds vote upon any one of the leading candidates renders it not at all improbable that a new man may be brought forward, as in 1844. A day or two, however, will decide.

It is not unworthy of remark that the person selected to "open the ball" and call the Convention to order, was B. F. Hallett, Esq., of Boston, the acknowledged leader of the Free-soil Democracy of Massachusetts, and a bitter opponent of the "Compromises" of the last Congress!

SECOND DAY.—The Convention was occupied the entire second day in fruitless discussions of various topics—an indefinite number of resolution being offered, nearly all bearing upon the slavery issue, and indicating a spirit of opposition to the Compromises of 1850, which will be difficult to reconcile. They were all referred to the standing Committee on Resolutions.

A resolution providing that no nomination should be made until the platform of the party is fully laid down was offered by Mr. Nabers, of Mississippi, and after a long and animated debate was laid on the table, 155 to 122.

The Committee on Credentials made majority and minority reports, upon which a long, bitter, and acrimonious discussion arose,—the confusion and disorder increasing until it was impossible for any one to be heard—in the midst of which the Convention adjourned to Thursday.

It was thought the Convention would sit until Friday or Saturday.

Mr. Dallas, of this State, is now spoken of as the candidate on whom the friends of the Convention may ultimately fall. Doubtful!

LATER.—By telegraph dispatch via Chambersburg, we learn that the first two ballots on Thursday resulted as follows :

	1st ballot.	2d ballot.
Cass,	116	118
Buchanan,	93	95

It will be noticed that each increased two votes on the 2d ballot. This does not include the scattering votes.

☞The Washington correspondent of the North American says Gen. Scott can rally to his standard one hundred and forty delegates on the first ballot, and that they will be rallied if it be considered necessary or desirable.

☞Kossuth's visit to America, according to the Tribune, is now drawing to a close. He will soon leave for England, where his children are, and where he desires to remain until the expected outbreak upon the Continent sails him to engage in the active work of the revolution.

☞The National Intelligencer of the 21st, gives a tabular statement of the number of Deaf and Dumb, Blind, Insane and Idiotic persons returned by the Seventh Census of the United States. The aggregates are as follows : Deaf and Dumb, 10,103 ; Blind, 9,702 ; Insane, 15,768 ; Idiotic, 15,706. The need of sustaining the public institutions established for these helpless beings, will be better than ever understood after such a showing.

☞The Senate of Maryland has concurred in the amendments of the House to the bill to suppress the circulation of small notes into that State.' So that the bill is now a law, to go into effect next October in relation to notes of banks out of the State ; and to prohibit the issue by the Banks of Maryland of notes of a less denomination than five dollars after the first of March next.

☞Maj. A. G. Ege was one of the delegates from Carroll county in the recent Locofoco State Convention, of Maryland. The Major has been boring all points of the political compass and has at length returned to his first love.

☞The Whigs of New Jersey, have appointed Scott delegates to the National Convention.

Notices.

☞Blackwood's Magazine, for May, has been received from Messrs. Scott & Co., the New York publishers. It contains eight articles entitled as follows :—Gold—its Natural and Civil History ; Life of Mahomet ; Thomas Moore ; My Novel; by Bulwer ; Our London Commissioner ; The Gold Finder ; The Visconts of Bruttelai ; The Democratic Confederacy. ☞The American Whig Review for June has a fine Portrait of Hon. James Cooper, U. S. Senator, and a variety of interesting, useful, and entertaining matter. The Review is ably conducted and deserving of liberal support. With the next No. commences the reduced terms—$3 per annum. Published by Stringer & Townsend, 150 Nassau street, N. Y., publisher.

☞The Student, by Messrs. Fowler & Wells, 131 Nassau street, N. Y., for June, is on our table. It is a cheap and judiciously conducted publication designed for the family circle, being devoted to topics connected with the physical, moral and intellectual improvement of youth. $1 per annum.

☞The reader's attention is directed to the advertisement of Horner's Almanac, in another column. This periodical has reached an unprecedented circulation, and is one of the most valuable publications of the day.

Plain Talk for a Loco.

☞There is no mistake that the extraordinary progress of the Whig party of late is making in the people of every section of the country since Wm. Bigler has become Governor of this State, are awakening even some of the Locofocos to the danger of an overwhelming debt which is threatening us. At the late Whig County Town, an organ of that party in Old Berks, "speaks out in meeting" after this fashion ;

ANOTHER STEP TO THE REAR.

The Appropriation bill of the late session of our State Legislature is one of the most voluminous documents of its kind on record. It is literally a bill of items, the most extraordinary which has ever been conjured up as to the amount of its appropriations, not only for the ordinary expenses of the government, but as to almost everything else within its capacious grasp. Should the bill pass into a law for the expenses of the government, it ought to have had a true title—one expressive of its meaning—as long and one which would have no objects. As we said in our last, it votes away, out of the treasury, the enormous amount of two million one hundred and ninety-two thousand four hundred and thirty-three dollars and forty-four cents, being the amount for which the treasury and which must necessarily increase our already enormous debt. The title of the bill is as follows, and it does not express its true object, and should have been :

"An Act to increase the State debt, to plunder the State, and to feed the hungry brigands and plunderers who infest the public councils and legislative halls, and to continue the circulation of poisonous and unconstitutional shin-plasters."

The Governor, we would not satisfy the extravagance of the ruling powers, but the cancellation of the relief notes must be apparent to him, and he will interfere with the immense projects and charities contained in the bill, so that we have in the year before us, the doors of the treasury opened to flow off millions of dollars, in channels hitherto unknown, and millions of dollars in the pocket of every reckless manner, and old exploded claims paid probably ten times over, and new ones received to swell the enormous aggregate contained in the bill. Is this honest or Democratic ? We say no ! and the people say no ! and their voice will be heard in time to arrest the enormous iniquities which will shake the seats of these official cormorants to be hurled in the midst of which the Convention adjourned to Thursday.

It was thought the Convention would sit until Friday or Saturday.

Mr. Dallas, of this State, is now spoken of as the candidate on whom the friends of the Convention may ultimately fall. Doubtful !

What will be the Result ?

We judge from the course things are taking that Gov. Bigler will not demand Ridgely, who shot Senator Broderick, for trial, and that if he does, Gov. Johnson will entrench himself behind the opinion of the Commissioners, declare that the whole affair was the result of accident and that he will not therefore consider he is called to a Jury. We will not believe, until compelled by the fact, that Gov. Bigler can find it in his heart to disregard all the claims of justice, or to consent to a surrender of that sacred right—trial by Jury. If the shooting was accidental as alleged by the South and intimated by the Examiner, cannot a Lancaster county Jury be trusted to try the case? Twelve honest citizens are more likely to do justice to the parties, than two lawyers sent into our State to go through a mock investigation in the hope of finding something to excuse the Governor and citizens of Maryland from the performance of the highest obligatory by the plainest dictates of Right and the clear intention of the National Constitution.—Lancaster Union.

[COMMUNICATED.

Messrs. Editors :—

The time is approaching when the Whigs of Adams assembled in Convention must select one from their number to represent them in the State Legislature. In behalf of many Whigs, allow me to present the name of Dr. Ruth. Ellis Engl., of Oxford, as a man every way fit for that responsible position. In doing so, I am actuated by no personal motives but the good of the party and our County, and a conviction of the qualifications and merits of the gentleman named.

Possessed of sound judgment, of excellent business tact and habits, poor in goods, but rich in integrity, a Whig who has long labored, and that too with effect, for the good of the party, and contributed much to its success, he deserves well of his party and of his fellow citizens. A large body of warm friends urge his nomination respectfully upon the consideration of the Whig friends, confident that he would make a faithful, laborious, and efficient Representative.

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS.

A barrel of superfine flour out of 240 pounds of wheat—and no mistake!!

GEORGE ARNOLD

HAS introduced into his Mill at Locust Grove, Germany township, BONNEL'S PATENTED PROCESS OF FLOURING, and is now making a barrel of superfine flour from 240 pounds, or four bushels of clean wheat weighing 60 pounds to the bushel. The grain in the former of from ⅔ to ¾ bushel of wheat to the barrel over the ordinary process of grinding—there is also a gain in the offal, in there being more shorts and shipstuff and little or no bran. This improvement consists in the manner of grinding the grain, by it, the quality of the flour is improved, separating the starch from the gluten, and the former is ground to flour, and by it the quality of the flours improved, not grinding so close the first grind as by the old process, the farina or starchy part of the grain, and grinding so close the second grind as to take out all the flour from the inner skin of the berry which remains in the offal with the old method of grinding, and which is the most nutritious part of the flour ; this being ground separately by it, improves the quality of the flour, makes it more nutritious, will always insure good weight to the barrel, and make it more easily digested as a proper quantity of flour, as white and better than the old process, and the old way, preserving all the good qualities of the flour.

Farmers wanting a barrel if superfine flour made from 240 pounds of good clean wheat, will please call on Locust Grove.
