The detailed accounts of the attack on the Malakoff and Redau towers made by the Alhes on the 18th ult., have been received, and are published in extenso in the London morning journals. The various correspondents ascribe the repulse and great loss which the French and English experienced to the want of proper management, and the total absence of that military knowledge and judgment so requisite in such hazardous and difficult undertakings.

The detailed accounts of the attack on the batteries at the mouth of the Narva river, on the south the mouth of the Narva river, on the south the south of the Gulf of Finland, without effect, and then withdrew. The allies afterward made a desocut on Kotka Island, and destroyed the government stores there: Subsequently an attack was made on the port of Ruel, without effecting any thing.
