VOLUME: XXVII. }

GETTYSBURG, PA., FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 16, 1866.

Z'm with you once again.

I LEY GEORGE P. MORRIS. I'm with you once again, my friends, No more my footsteps roam; Where it began my journey ends; Amid the scenes of home No other clime has akies so blue, Or streams so broad and clear. And where are hearts so warm and true As those that meet me here? Since last, with spirits wild and free, I pressed my native strand, ve wandered many miles at sea, And many miles on land.

By rude commotion torn, Which taught me how to prize the worth Of that where I was born. In other countries, when I heard The language of my own, How fondly each familiar word Awoke an answering tone! But when our woodland songs were sung

With rapture thrilled the heart ! My native land, I turn to you, With blessings and with prayer, Where man is brave and woman true, And free as mountain air. Long may our flag in triumph wave Against the world combined, And friends a welcome—foes a grave -foes a grave, Within our borders find.

Upon a foreign mart, The vows that faltered on the tongue

The Bridge. There is a wondrous bridge, my lady,

In the softest clime I know,
Where the sweetest breath of balsam— Winds of spring eternal blow. From one heart unto another Leads this bridge's wondrous way;

Love it is who guards the portal, Opes to those who own its sway. Love it is the bridge that buildeth, Roses are the means supplied;

O'er it soul seeks soul in union, As a bridegroom seeks his bride. Love has spanned and capped the arches, Decked it with its fair array; Love, too, gathereth the taxes, Kisses are the tolls to pay.

Wouldst thou, willingly, sweet maiden, See this wondrons bridge of mine? Then it is that thou must lend me, If we build it, help of thine. From thy brow then drive the shadows, Smile but on me if thou wilt!

Then let's lay our lips together, And the bridge will soon be built.

In proportion as they loved and honored the Saviour, they wanted others to know him also, and to enjoy the light and comfort which he can give to the soul: so what did these poor little Al-pine churches do? Why, they sent missionaries out, two by two, to France, to Germany, to Piedmont, and all about .-On! its so beautiful to see how the love of Christ opens the heart ! The love of Christ not only makes us desire to be good but to do good: it leads us to go out from ourselves, and seek to relieve the sins and sorrows of others. That is just what Jesus did. He left his heavenly home to seek and to save a lost world; so also will his true followers, filled with his love, strive to resque their brethren from sin and hell. Not only were missionaries scut, but colporteurs too. Yes, the Waldenses employed colporteurs more than four hundred years ago-pious pedlars, who, with their goods, carried leaves of the Bible, and written tracts-for this was before the invention of printing and left them, wish those found willing to read and receive them. In ways like these, Biblo piety was kept alive in many hearts, and homes, and liamlets, while the darkness of Popery was settling down upon the Christian world. These dear missionaries and colporteurs, in their long and perilous jour neys, knew where to find those who loved the Lord Jesus; they held meetings at their houses, ordained deacons, administered the Lord's Supper, and comforted following axioms: fainting and tempted souls by the precious

Western Immigration.

The rush Westward is without precedent the history of the country. For the past hree weeks the arrivals over each of the Michigan roads—the Central and Southern -have been not less than fifteen hundred and often they have averaged two thousand daily ! Of these, it is estimated that fully two thirds are emigrants seeking homes in the West, and of the two thirds, nige-tenthe are Americans by birth, mostly from New York and New England. Only a few days since, and we mention the fact to show the character and extent of the movement, one hundred and forty persons, from one neighborhood in Maine, passed through the company on their way to lowa. This was but the avant guard of more to come. According to the best estimates we have been able to make, the Wost-that is to say, he States of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin, and the territories of Minnesota and Kansas-are receiving now about 2,000 new inhabitants every day over the great East-ern roads alone. This estimate does not include the emigration from Indiana and Ohio by the roads traversing the State laterally, nor the emigration arriving by the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, from Virginia, Penns sylvania, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee, which, by the way, is larger than ever before. We are safe in saying that the in-crease from all quarters is not less than four thousand souls a day, and the tide is not yet at its beight. . This year the movement has commenced earlier than usual, by about three weeks .-The better information diffused throughout to accommodate six or seven thousand hurried and impatient people, we do not undertake to say .- Chicago Tribune.

The Potato Question.

We notice the arrival at New York, from Londonderry, of a barque with 180 tons of potatoes on board, and a schooner from The invention of gunpowder is not a progress; Machines derange all agricultural labor; Industrial discoveries are a sign of abasement in this supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his supper, and bid, she shared with his little charge his country, who was stitle gruin to forty again visited Edinburgh.
