FIRE PROOF! THE SALAMANDER SAFES OF PHILADELPHIA AGAINST THE WORLD!

EVANS & WATSON, No. 26 South Fourth street, Philadelphia, have had the latest demonstration in the following certificates...

PHILADELPHIA, April 12, 1856. Messrs. EVANS & WATSON—Gents—It affords us the highest satisfaction to state to you...

When we reflect that these Safes were located in the fourth story of the building we occupied, and that they fell subsequently into the hands of burning fires, where the vast concentration of heat caused the brass plates to melt...

We shall take much pleasure in recommending to men of business as a sure reliance against fire.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12, 1856. Messrs. EVANS & WATSON—I have to offer you my testimony in favor of the great security afforded to my entire stock of jewelry, books, papers, &c., during the recent disastrous conflagration in Ransford Place...

Having fallen from the fifth story of the Artisan building, where they were previously placed, and exposed to a vast heat for a long time, the preservation of the valuable deposits seemed to every one who witnessed the opening and interior examination, a matter of profound astonishment.

To all who require a perfect protection for their valuables, I shall not hesitate to recommend the use of your Safes, as I consider they have now undergone the most trying test.

PHILADELPHIA, April 12, 1856. No doubt but that I discovered in your good condition in which I was so fortunate, the policy of insurance, certificates of stock, and other valuable documents, when on Friday last I opened the Safe made by your firm.

With my knowledge of its great exposure to the intensity of the heat from so hot a fire, as that which destroyed the Artisan building, as also from the force of the fall from its former elevated position in the third story, I feel confident that slender hopes prior to its interior inspection, should not have been so high, but as these fears are now happily removed, I feel it only due to say to you, that I can heartily recommend the use of your Safes to all who may wish to find a confidence in the perfect security which such means provides against a frightful element.
