correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, we collip these items:

The great literary event in Germany, is the announcement that the last volume of Alexander von Humboldt's Cosmos will appear in the beginning of the next year. I am informed that this last part of the great work of the illustrious natural philosopher will close in a brilliant manner one of the most important publications of our age. The King of Prussia called Humboldt "the greatest man since the deluge," and the learned of all nations will be glad to ratify this designation.

The old Lutherans of Germany, who recognize for their creed the Confession of Augsburg, walk more and more in the steps of the English Puseyites. In Bavaria, the clergymen endeavor to restore auricular confession.
