Miss Ethel Dickerson Bride of Frank Hoffman Last August

MR. AND MRS. FRANK HOFFMAN

Special to The Telegraph. Manheim, Pa., Jan. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman were married at the residence of Dr. J. B. Groh, 505 Cumberland street, Lebanon, by the Rev. H. J. Behney, pastor of the United Brethren Church of Manheim, on August 18 last, and announced their marriage on Monday. The bride before marriage was Miss Ethel A. Dickerson, of Roanoke, Va., and the young couple first met several years ago while she was visiting among friends here. Mr. Hoffman went to Carlisle for his marriage license and the announcement of their marriage came as a surprise to all. Mr. Hoffman is an athlete of no mean order, playing left field on the Manheim baseball club for the past six seasons. They will reside at Lebanon where the bridegroom will engage in the harness business.

CHAUTAUQUA FENCE WILL BE REMOVED

Admission to Reservation at Mt. Gretna Will Hereafter Be Free to All

Lebanon, Pa., Jan. 7.—Patrons of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua in various parts of Pennsylvania from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, and especially the cottage owners residing in the vicinity of Lebanon, Lancaster and Harrisburg who patronize Mount Gretna as a summer resort, will be interested to learn that the Chautauqua managers have decided to abolish the fences and gates which have enclosed the Chautauqua reservation ever since it was organized. For some years past members of the association, as well as directors, have contended that the Chautauqua reservation suffered as a summer resort by reason of the restrictions imposed upon ingress and egress at the gates, the necessity of producing tickets at the gates upon passage either way being an inconvenience which in recent years was running close to a nuisance. The increasing demand for freedom in the grounds has now given way to the order for the removal of the gates and the gate tenders and hereafter the grounds will be open to everybody just as at the camping grounds and the rest of the Gretna summer resort. The Chautauqua managers will continue to provide entertainments at the auditorium, but admission will be charged for each entertainment to make up for the decline in the revenue at the gates and by the sale of season tickets to Chautauquans. It is understood that moving pictures will be considered for daily entertainment of the cottagers, with frequent variations in the shape of lectures and high-class musical concerts, etc.

Enola Boy Strikes Match and Is Seriously Burned

John, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Reiker, of Summit street, Enola, was seriously burned yesterday morning. In company with his sister, aged 5, he arose from bed and on account of being cold went to the kitchen to get warm. The mother was attending to her housework on the second story. John found a match and lighted it, when his night clothes caught fire, burning his flesh on his right side to a crisp. His mother, alarmed by the cries of the children, rushed to the lower floor, where she found her son ablaze, and in extinguishing the fire she was badly burned about the hands. The boy has been in an unconscious condition ever since.

Radium Treatment Is Halted For Few Days

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 7.—Radium treatment for cancer in the case of Representative Robert Gunn Bremner, of New Jersey, has been suspended for a few days, according to a statement made yesterday by his sister, Miss Helen Bremner. Miss Bremner could not give the reason for the removal of the radium, but she understands that there is no abandonment of that form of treatment. At the sanatorium where the patient is being treated no information was obtainable concerning the case.

Trenton, N. J., Mother Saves Her Baby

Mrs. Clara Seabridge, Trenton, New Jersey, tells in a letter how valuable Goff's "No Dope" Cough Syrup was to her in a time of need. She says: "I felt that I must send you a testimonial of what your Cough Syrup did for my little girl. "When she was a baby she had the croup and thank goodness you had just sent me a sample of your remedies, and the night she got the croup I gave her some of your Cough Syrup and it relieved her very soon, and now I would not be without it. "I always keep it in the house, and it has saved her life many times, and I have praised it to many and always will, and even my mother should have it in the home. I think it is worth its weight in gold. "Use this testimonial as you please."
