No valuation of the terminals in the large cities will be attempted until all of the roads havo been covered. At first the roads will be invoiced one at a time, but as the work mogresses and the number and efficiency of the men increases the scope will be en-larged until work will be in progress on several roads simultaneously. Object to Passes.—A second objec-tion to passes has come from the Mt. Union Tanning and Excact Company. It states objection to the issuing of railroad passes except to employes, contending that granting of free passes has been unproductive for the rail-roads, and has been conferring a favor to a large number of people who have no claims. The company says that it buys considerable freight and passen-ger transportation, for which it re-ceives full value. It expects no favors and this principle should obtain with all other persons. Steelton Pickleweight MERCURY DOWN TO 6

Because Mary Grazeon, of 907 South Front street, last night made an "Enoch Pickleweight" out of her hus-band Nicolo, she and one Janko Lan-carinic are in jail awaiting a hearing this evening before Squire Dickinson. According to a story told by Mr. Grazeon in swearing out a warrant for his better—that is, his stronger—half, he, Mr. Grazeon, was thrown out of the house last night and told to sleep in the dog kennel by Mrs. Grazeon and Janko, who, it is alleged, is the star boarder of the Grazeon establishment. The Highspire borough council has ordered the removal of a 'arge frame barn standing near the post office, in Second street, that for years has been known as "the death trap at Highspire." The barn stands on a sharp curve in such a position that the approach of trolley cars cannot be seen by pedestri-ans and sits in what would be the mid-dle of the street, if the original lines of the old pike were restored. Con-demnation proceedings will be resort-ed to to gain possession of the prop-erty. The thirty For Workhouse The thirty men sentenced to the workhouse were arrested in a raid upon a club, the first since the order of last week to clean up the city. Many other arrests were made and several men must stand trial for violating the Suflivan law, which prohibits the car-rying of revolvers or other firearms. From the standpoint of the police, the killing of Straus is of more im-portance towards breaking up gang violence in New York than was the Herman Rosenthal, for which former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker and four gunmen were convicted and are now confined in the deathhouse at Sing Sing Prison. With the power to use their night sticks, and backed up by the city magistrates, the police claim they already have driven the gunmen and gangsters from their favorite haunts and that many of them with criminal records have left the city.

K. Thaw and his confidential adviser said to-day that while no definite plans had been formed for Thaw if he is released on bail, he would probably come to Pittsburgh and go into busi-ness. "Court action to establish Thaw's sanity in Pennsylvania will be re-opened." declared O'Mara. "He hav's the ability to start and maintain a successful business and he will do it."
