GAME SEASONS IN NEED OF REVISION

Dr. Kalbfus Says It is a Wonder We Have Any Game Left in Pennsylvania

Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the State Game Commission, declares in his annual report which he has just placed in the hands of the Governor, that the game seasons are so mixed up that some readjustment must be made if the game is to survive. He says in one portion:

"When I consider that our game birds are not migratory, that they must stay in the section where they are reared to face not only men with guns, but vermin, disease, starvation, consequent climatic conditions, it is a wonder to me that we have game at all and it seems to be imperative if that game is to continue that the seasons during which men may hunt must be restricted, that vermin must be exterminated, that disease must be cured for during severe winter weather."

In another section he says: "It seems to be that because of improved methods of transportation to hunters and their dogs, automobiles, etc., improved guns and expert marksmanship, that our game, especially quail, cannot stand a longer season than thirty days, and considering all conditions, that it should be the season of November only for birds. The season for bear and deer might well be fixed outside of this month without danger to birds. If bear and deer hunters are limited to the possession of rifles when hunting big game the season for deer should be extended to the end of December, if the use of bird dogs was forbidden during the month of December."

Legislative Blunder The report shows that eleven of forty-one bills presented to the Legislature passed, including the resident hunters license act, which the secretary points out that the failure to attend to the appropriation end of the license act properly will force the secretary to put out that the failure to pass the bill during the winter, provided sportsmen do not do it themselves, that there is no money at hand to buy deer for Somerset, Cambria, Westmoreland and Fayette counties, which have been closed to deer hunting in the hope that the game may be propagated.

Goodies of Work The report states that the rearing of his not native has been more or less difficult and unprofitable. In regard to native game it is said that they must tend against vermin and lack of food and that if people are to care for them they must care for the game in winter. Birds raised in captivity have a hard time scratching for themselves. How increasing the six preserves have aided much in increasing and maintaining game and more are needed, although the State provides them are scanty owing to the legislative mix-up referred to.

The report also expresses the regret that three times as many members of the State police force are not available. The work of the policemen is appreciated by many hunters as well.

GOOD SUGGESTION TO HARRISBURG PEOPLE

It is surprising the amount of old, foul matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-I-ka, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowel so thoroughly that ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Harrisburg agents for Adler-I-ka. Geo. A. Gargas.—Advertisement.

HIS FRIEND HAD BRIGHT'S DISEASE

A. B. Edwards, an engineer, of Hamlet, N. C., wrote a couple of years ago giving the name of a friend who had Bright's disease but no means. Said his own wife was recovering and asked if we would give him a trial. He was very unfortunate. We sent $10.00 worth with our compliments. We had forgotten the matter till the following was received: "Hamlet, N. C., Feb. 16th, 1913. John J. Fulton Co. Dear Sir:—I have been waiting to see how the patients were going to hold out after they had stopped using the Compound. As this has been the case for some time, I am delighted to tell you that the cases of Bright's that you recover are really cured. My friend, who was not expected to live, recovered and the case I mentioned the ten bottles for yielded and the patient is well. He was given up to die. I will tell people of it as I live. Yours truly, A. B. EDWARDS."

If you have Bright's disease do you not owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up? It can be had at J. H. Boher, druggist, 209 Market Street. Ask for pamphlet or write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.—Advertisement.

(Continued) Industrial Disturbances in Anthracite Coal Region September 22, 1910, about 2 o'clock in the morning, Captain Finney received orders to report with his company for duty at Shenandoah, Schuylkill county, Pa., on account of labor disturbances and rioting in that town, caused by the strike of the anthracite coal miners of Pennsylvania. The company was on duty with the regiment from September 22 to October 4. [Details of the strike service of Company I in 1900 and 1902 in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania will be given in a separate chapter.]

McKinley Inauguration On March 2, 1901, the company went to Washington for its first big ceremony away from home, the occasion being the inauguration of President William McKinley. A provisional brigade of Pennsylvania National Guard was present and the company was quartered in the State, War and Navy Building, Seventeenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Old Home Week Parade October 3, 1905, the company took part in the military display during Harrisburg's Old Home Week celebration. Company I helped to entertain the out-of-town companies of the Eighth Regiment and those of the Fourth Regiment who were in Harrisburg for the parade. They were quartered in the Army at Second and Forster streets.

Pennsylvania's Beautiful Capitol Dedicated—1906

Ceremonies of the dedication of the new Pennsylvania State Capitol took place on October 4, 1906, and Company I paraded as part of the provisional regiment made up from the Third Brigade and commanded by Colonel Charles M. Clement. Major General J. P. S. Gobin was in command of the military division of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, consisting of a regiment made up from each of the three brigades. Companies I and D represented the Eighth Regiment in the Third Brigade allotment. This ceremony was of unusual importance and dignity, as it marked the dedication of the magnificent Capitol Building and also because of the presence at the ceremony of the President of the United States, Theodore Roosevelt. The President made an address and then reviewed the parade from the stand at Third and State streets.

Co. I at Philadelphia Founders' Week Parade

Founders' Week was celebrated in Philadelphia during the first week of October, 1908, and the company took part in the great military display on October 5, when the entire division of the National Guard of Pennsylvania was on parade, wearing the new full dress uniform of the United States Army for the first time. The company went to Philadelphia on the 4th and returned home on the 6th. Camp in 1909 was by brigade and was held at Mt. Gretna July 10 to 17.

"The Inside of the White Slave Traffic," one of the greatest photodramas ever produced will be the attraction at the Majestic Theater this afternoon and presenting four exhibitions daily, and presenting four exhibitions daily, 2, 3, 30, 7, 30 and 9, portrays every angle of the white slave traffic in this country and other countries, and was compiled by Samuel H. FATIMA

Fatima, who had all New York at her feet during the past summer, while she played an extensive engagement at Hammerstein's Victoria Theater, opens a week's engagement at the Orpheum to-day, heading a gala array of Keith Colonies. Keith Colonies more big names than any offering that has been uncovered there for some time. Naturally enough the greatest interest is centered in Fatima, who, it is alleged, has been a Turkish harem, and whose wonderful grace and bewitching dancing was declared by William Hammerstein to be incomparable. Fatima, though not a singer, is said to be like that coveted article in that she is "distinctly individual." She offers a pleasing and unusually dancing specialty in an attractive way, offering the greatest clever light effects. Supporting Fatima will be Ryan and Lee, clever couple in a breezy song, dance and patter skit; the Joe DeCos Troupe, seven of the best comedians of the day; acrobatic offering in present day deville; Clark and Verdi, two men in an Italian character comedy act that is as original as it is eccentric; Harlan, O'Brien and Corne, a three clever youths in a spirited singing turn; John Hilton and Company, presenting a comedy drama entitled "Ten Forty West" and Sprague and McNessee, man and woman in a beautifully staged and skilled roller skating specialty.—Advertisement.

BILL LOOKS GOOD

A bill that looks as though it will measure up strongly with the pace set by late offerings at the greatest of the Colonies will be inaugurated to-day. The feature attraction will be a decidedly interesting protean sketch called "A Gay Old Boy," to be played by Graham and Referring. The theme is unusual, the lines clever and the players are artists, so that "A Gay Old Boy" will leave nothing to be desired. Roxy LaRocca will offer a clever musical feature, and Howard Howe with a comedy novelty act will be entrusted to serve up the smiles of the offering. "The Stolen Heart," a splendid feature film in two parts will also be an added attraction to-day.—Advertisement.

VICTORIA THEATER

To-day leads off with a big three-act feature picture entitled "Ben Bolt," taken from the famous English poem and dramatized by American people and the costumes are exactly the same as supposed to be worn by the people in the days of Ben Bolt. "The Irish Heart" in three acts is a beautiful story of the devotion to his country by an Irish lad who has the true Irish heart and he fights with his comrades and leads them to victory.—Advertisement.
