TENDERLOIN PAIR GET STIFF TERMS IN PENITENTIARY
From Three to Five Years For Mendel Gross and Florence Miller
Mendel Gross, ex-convict in at least two "different States" prisons to-day was sentenced to a long term in a third.
Gross and his companion, Florence Miller, were sentenced by Judge W. Rush Gillan in Dauphin County Court to serve from three to five years in the Eastern penitentiary for pandering.
The sentences, so far as the minimum time of the sentence imposed is concerned, are the stiffest doled out thus far in January quarter sessions.
An extraordinary criminal record was produced against Gross by Col. Joseph B. Hutchinson, chief of police, Newark, New York, Kansas City, Mo., or two in Colorado, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, D. C., and Seattle were among the cities of the country in which Gross has been in police toils.
For five years he served in the New Jersey State's prison at Trenton; for five years he wore the stripes of the New York State prison at Sing Sing. The report of Colonel Hutchison, son covered varying periods dating from 1885 when Gross was first imprisoned on a larceny charge on down to 1912 when he was arrested by the police of the nation's capital. In addition to his States' prison record Gross has spent months and months of his life in various jails of the country and for a while he was confined in a New Jersey institution for the criminal insane.
The insanity plea was offered as a basis for a request for leniency, but Judge Gillan firmly held that, not only did the law provide a way to determine a suspected insane person, but—that the authorities at the Eastern penitentiary had the right and power to inquire into the alleged insanity of any inmate.
Judge Gillan indicated his attitude soon after Gross and the Wilson woman were arraigned. "What do you want? What do you wish to ask?" he demanded of W. J. Carter, counsel for Gross.
"We only want to ask your honor to be as lenient as possible—and to impose a jail sentence, rather than a term in the penitentiary."
"Well, we won't," promptly cut in the court.
Assistant District Attorney Robert Fox called attention to the fact that the Wilson woman had painstakingly slapped one of the girl witnesses, Hattie Fleck, as the convicted woman was on her way to the courtroom.
"She slapped her right over the face," repeated Mr. Fox.
"Well, we'll not consider that,"

Brook Bell Cause of Ohio's Hard Luck
Smallpox Crashed Day After Bell Was Crashed to Pieces on Forecastle Deck
Says Defeat in All But Two States Show Adverse Sentiment
Special to The Telegraph
New York, Jan. 15.—Shoe manufacturers from all parts of the United States gathered here at the annual convention of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association and adopted resolutions in favor of increased freight rates for the railroads and declared against the proposed pure shoe legislation in Congress.
The resolution in favor of increased freight rates set forth that "the transportation system of the country is developing at a retarded pace and the consequent depression in favor of basic iron, steel and other industries has become a leading if not the determining factor in the general business recession."
A. S. Kreider, of Pennsylvania, president of the association, in his annual report, characterized the pure shoe legislation as "ill-considered."
"It would seem to me," he said, "if public sentiment and the demands of constituents are to be guides to legislative action, particularly where it affects industries and sectors of patronage, the defeat of these bills in all the States (except two) in which they have been introduced should have been sufficient to prevent their introduction of bills along similar lines in the House of Representatives."
"No doubt the advocates of this legislation are well meaning and honest, but they cannot and do not realize the injury these laws would inflict upon the people whom they desire to serve, nor the result upon the selling price of the commodity affected."
Mr. Kreider urged the members to exert their influence upon their representatives in Congress in favor of the enactment of a law forbidding the transportation of convict-made goods in interstate commerce.
He also suggested the appointment of a committee to ascertain the practicability of the organization of a mutual association among shoe manufacturers to insure against losses incurred under workmen's compensation laws.

Size of Witness in Burglary Case Makes the Court Gasp
When He Rose From His Chair and Straightened Up He Looked Like Second Cousin of Goliath
The tallest witness that ever testified in the Dauphin county court was on the stand this morning during the course of a trial before President Judge Kunkel; he is William C. Roberts.
Roberts appeared as chief prosecuting witness against James Graham and Tondo Zonkovic, employed at the Central Iron and Steel company mills, who were charged with burglarizing the store conducted by young Roberts' father; the youthful Roberts helped to run down and bring the pair to justice. Graham pleaded guilty.
When District Attorney Stroup called the first witness, "W. C. Roberts," a little gasp went round the courtroom. Gradually Roberts rose from his chair and straightened up. The courtroom gasped again.
"May I ask how tall you are?" inquired a court attendant who felt he just had to do it.
"Six feet, seven and a half inches," "Six feet, seven and a half inches,"

HIGHER LAW BEATS OUT MAN'S JUSTICE
COLORADO SENATOR SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT
Defendant Reported Dead When Case Is Brought Before the Grand Jury
The Dauphin county grand jury to-day didn't need to act in the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania against G. W. Kreiger; the higher law beat man-made law to the decision by several weeks. Kreiger had been dead for some days before January quarter sessions began. His death was reported to the grand jury simply reported "an true bill" to-day and marked "defendant dead."
"The grand jury should say upon whom the costs are to be placed, however," said President Judge Kunkel in receiving the report. The county, of course, will likely have to pay the bill.
The charges of selling liquor without license, etc., against A. A. Boschell and Jacob Eckert, former proprietors of the "Rosegarden" and the "Whitehall," the licenses of which were revoked because of the disorderly character of the houses several weeks ago, were considered by the grand jury this afternoon. True bills were found in each instance.
Bills ignored to-day included the charges against E. C. Fickes, recording secretary; George L. Lebo, corresponding secretary; G. C. Wolfe, corresponding secretary; G. E. Eschenover, membership; Joseph Summy; Sunday school, N. A. Burhman; missionary, F. E. Stouffer; societies, F. Hartman; refreshment, George J. Lebo. A committee will be held Sunday afternoon to complete these committees. The charter will be left open till February 25.
briefly replied Judge Gillan. "Have you any record of this woman?"
Neither Police, District attorney's office nor Clarence Funk who prosecuted the case so vigorously, were able to find anything of any previous crime.
"Very good then," briefly answered Judge Gillan, "the sentence of the court is that both of you pay a fine of $1, the costs, and that you both serve from three to five years in the Eastern penitentiary."
TOOL SHANTY ROBBER
S. L. Thompson, a contractor, employed on the Paxton creek sewer, reported to the police department this morning that his tool shanty at Camp Hill and Walnut streets, had been broken open last night and three pair of gum boots stolen.

Charged with stealing chickens from the coop of Harry Opel, living along the Jonestown Road, Thad. Toy, a neighbor of Opel, will take this afternoon a hearing before Alderman Caveny. Toy was arrested by Detective Charters.

Hauck, first vice-president; C. G. Fickes, recording secretary; George L. Lebo, corresponding secretary; G. C. Wolfe, corresponding secretary; G. E. Eschenover, membership; Joseph Summy; Sunday school, N. A. Burhman; missionary, F. E. Stouffer; societies, F. Hartman; refreshment, George J. Lebo. Water Damages Tiffany's
New York, Jan. 15.—The fire department rushed to Tiffany's immense Fifth avenue store to-day to combat water. An automatic sprinkler pipe had burst on the second floor, flooding stock and show cases. All entrances and exits were closed while the firemen spread tarpaulins and bailed out the water with buckets and pumps. The firm declined to give any estimate of the damage.
