DRAW FIRST PANEL JOINT HOSTESSES

President Judge Kunkel Today Signs Venire For February Common Pleas

The first panel of jurors to be drawn by Dauphin county's new jury c o m m i ssioners, Edwará Dapp and Samuel M. Taylor and Secretary Marion Verbeke, was ordered selected to-day by President Judge Kunkel.

Fresident Ju d g e Kunkel.

Sixty talesmen will be selected to serve at the February session of Common Pleas Court beginning February 29. The drawing will be held early next week and it is probable that Monday or Tuesday will be chosen. Sheriff Harry C. Wells who will help at the drawing with the jury commissioners will fix the date definitely to-day.

After the February Common Pleas panel is chosen the two commissioners will probably begin their tour of Dauphin county to inquire into the voters with a view to giving everybody a chance at jury service.

Called Him Dear; What Could He Do?

During the latter part of yesterday afternoon John P. Bonadio edified Courtroom No. 2 with quite a tale of how pretty Mrs. Lillian B. Hardesty called him dear heart, slipped her arm around him, urged him to marry her and incidentally kept him a trifle or edge with laughing, though pointed, references to the possible danger to both of them from jealous lovers she had spurned.

references to the possible danger to both of them from jealous lovers she had spurned.

Bonadio was acquitted to-day of the charge of "unlawfully marrying a married woman." He was fairly well excited about it. During the trial Mrs. Hardesty, who was exonerated by the grand jury of charges of bigamy and perjury, added the beauty touch. She wore a dark blue gown and hat with gray furs that matched her eyes.

Bonadio had to answer for running away with Mrs. Hardesty and her four children from their home in Mary-land. They came to Harrisburg and got a license, Mrs. Hardesty declaring that she had answered falsely to the marriage clerk's questions as to her age and former marital relations at Bonadio's suggestion.

"Why did you run away with him?" suddenly inquired Judge Rush Gillan.

Mrs. Hardesty dropped her eyes.
That, 'she hesitated, "that I refuse to answer"—

The judge wanted to know, Mrs.

"That," she hesitated, "that I refuse to answer"——
The judge wanted to know. Mrs. Hardesty murmured something. "We can hardly understand you. Suppose you raise your veil," suggested the court kindly, "or wouldn't you want to do that?"

"Please—no, sir, your Honor," whispered Mrs. Hardesty.

"Well, then, why did you run away with him?"

"Why—why, because," the witness with him?"

"Why—why, because," the witness blushed, "because"—she finished defiantly—"because I—liked him."
"Oh, well, now," gravely nodded Judge Gillan, "that's a good reason, surely."

On, well, now, gravely nodded Judge Gillan, "that's a good reason, surely."

Bonadio declared he never knew Mrs. Hardesty was married and never really suspected it until one time she was arrested for stealing chickens. Love and duty called him to the police station and while he was pleading for her another man stepped up. Bonadio demanded the why and wherefore of his presence. So did the other.

"Why. I told him," declared the witness, "I'm her husband."

"Hah! said he, 'but I was her husband first."

And the pretty cause of it siggled delightedly along with the court, the attorneys and the crowded courtroom.

Appropriate $50,000

By Associated Press Berlin, Jan 15.—The budget committee of the imperial parliament today rejected a proposition to appropriate $50,000 for the Olympic games priate $50,000 for the Olympic games to be held here in 1916.

The rejection of the appropriation was due largely to the feeling of resentment prevailing among the Socialists over the government's alleged systematic persecution of the workingmen's gymnastic societies. The Socialist deputies voted in a body against the appropriation and the clericals joined them, declaring that it was no busines of the empire to support such "trivial affairs." The Polish deputies made up the remainder of the adverse majority.

Did You Pay Your Ten, Mr. Citizen?

Every Harrisburger pays a little less than $10 a year on an average, to support and maintain the city government. That fact, along with some other interesting matter as to the cost of Harrisburg's government as compared with the expenses of running cities of the country, was received to-day by Charles A. Miller City Clerk, in a little booklet of statistics compiled by the Robert L. of Hookenn N. G. municipal research, of Hookenn N. G. municipal research, of Hookenn N. G. municipal research, of the cities cited, Harrisburg ranks sixth in the cost per capita for running the government and sixth in the same ten cities in the cost of maintaining the government. According to the statistics the average cost per capital is $9.56.
