$40,000,000 FOR ART
 By Associated Press
 Copenhagen, Jan. 15.—Dr. Carl Jacobson, the rich brewer who died last Sunday, bequeathed most of his fortune of $40,000,000 to art purposes. This was done, it is stated, with the consent of his children, who receive only small legacies. For years Dr. Jacobson devoted a part of his income to art and science.

Stomach Trouble Due to Acidity

So Says Eminent Specialist.
 So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The fermentation, in turn, may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop them before they start. Stop them before they prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. MOOSERS TAKING OFF COATS FOR WAR

Detrich and Flinn Say That There Will Be Straight Away Fighting Now
CONFERENCE VERY UNIQUE
 Young Looms Up as Candidate For Governor With the Big Bosses Behind Him

"This conference is the taking off of coats for the fray. We mean to start the campaign early and to conduct it on straight party principles," declared State Chairman A. Nevin Detrich last night after the elder statesmen of the Progressive party had had their final talk. William Flinn, who was getting ready to take a train for Pittsburgh, nodded in approval and said that he considered the conference the start of the greatest campaign in the history of the State. Other Progressives, of course, "went along" on that statement. However, the thought was in the minds of a good many people who watched the conference and its side issues that the Bull Moosers did not have many new faces in the throng. Most of the people there were militants in 1912 and there were few converts noticeable. The management of the party is in the same hands, the workers are the same and the methods are the same. Even the resolutions, which are the platform, sound like 1912 with exception of the initiative for the liquor problem, woman suffrage and no fusion. The question is whether they can get away with it.
 The staging of the conference would have delighted the heart of the Colonel. No more dramatic introduction than that of Pinchot, along with James R. Garfield could be imagined. He was acclaimed as the candidate for Senator and Flinn and the others who depreacted talk of states smiled while the crowd yelled.
Young to Front
 State Treasurer Young's speech on the governmental ills of Pennsylvania put him in the front for Governor. He showed in his speech sympathy with the State government and naturally the Bull Moosers thought of him as the physician to cure. Young's speech simply put Clyde Kelly out of the running and made people forget H. D. W. English. General Hullings never was in it and the only man Young has to fear for the Washington nomination for Governor is William Draper Lewis.
 It was noticeable that the Philadelphia contingent was absent in great measure. Hardly a corporal's guard from Philadelphia was here. The contingent consisted chiefly of followers of Van Valkenburg, who is for Young. The anti-Van men are for Lewis. Lewis has friends all over the State and his many courses in taking a big part when he has been given the hint that he would be a better attorney general than Governor, made him friends. If the people who are believed to want to unhorse Flinn and Van Valkenburg, who, by the way, did not do any insuring yesterday that you could find with a microscope, get together they might upset the game.

Lex Mitchell is in line for the lieutenant-governor nomination. If he wants it, and Major Brown for secretary of internal affairs to run against Henry Houck, who defeated him for the nomination in 1906. Ex-Judge James M. Galbreath, of Butler, is wanted for supreme court justice. Pinchot is all alone for senator.

The Congressmen
 Kelly will now turn in for another term in his district. His speeches have failed to get him the gubernatorial consideration. As is well known Morin will seek a Republican nomination in his home district. Anderson Walters, Johnstown, and Fred E. Lewis, Allentown, are the only ones sure of being backed for renomination of the congressmen-at-large. There are rumors that if John R. K. Scott runs he will be given some countenance, but they are only rumors. Robert D. Towne's mention for congress is regarded as a compliment. If Flinn does not try to name some one from Allegheny for congress-at-large, Kelly, for instance, ex-Senator George T. Weingartner, of New Castle, may be trotted out.

Temple and Hullings will run again in their districts. The Bull Moosers will put up men for congress in every district, they say.
 The plank inserted on taxation is a glittering generality and was laughed at last night. Why Edmiston stood for it no one knows. It does not mean anything and sounds like tinkling brass or a statement from Democratic State headquarters. Just why Flinn, with his hard commonsense, let it get in, no one could say; at least, would not, but there are suspicions.

The Same Old Flinn
 Where Flinn gave a real old-time exhibition of putting a damper on ambitious young men was when Samuel S. Shapiro, of Pittsburgh, offered this resolution: "We believe that the indiscriminate use of more than one party column at primary elections by candidates is destructive to political principle and urge the limiting of candidates by law to one party column." Mr. Shapiro was sitting in the front row and meant well. The trouble was that he had not consulted Flinn.

"I'm not in favor of that resolution," said Flinn with his old-time ginger. Then he went on to say that the political situation was the result of an upheaval and that the non-partisan spirit had almost destroyed party lines in local elections. He averred that the time was ripe for non-partisan election of county officers, instancing the election of George W. Richards, the new sheriff of Allegheny, who ran on three tickets. "Let the people put whom they please on their tickets," said he. "As a matter of fact there are no political lines except in the election of congressmen, United States Senators, national tickets and possibly governors, State officers and legislators. Nonpartisanism in the States may come. We don't need this."

STRIKERS RESUME WORK
 By Associated Press
 Portsmouth, Ohio, Jan. 16.—The shoe workers' strike, which has been in progress in this city for the last six weeks, came to an end last night when the strikers voted to accept an agreement ratified yesterday afternoon by the shoe manufacturers and a committee representing the United Shoe Workers of America. All strikers, except the two whose discharge precipitated the trouble, will return to work to-day.

"A GIRL OF THE UNDERWORLD"
 "A Girl of the Underworld," a powerful and thrilling drama of New York life, will be the attraction at the Majestic Theater on Monday, January 19, matinee and night. Never has this vital subject been so delicately, yet so forcefully, presented as in this play, by Jack Gorman, a clever and daring New York playwright. There is nothing to offend in "A Girl of the Underworld." It is a beautiful story of heart interest that stirs and grips the audience from start to finish of the four unbroken acts. The scenes are laid in New York and the story is one of to-day, showing how the threads of life may tangle and twist in our struggle for existence.—Advertisement.

"BILLY, THE KID"
 "Billy, the Kid," a play well known to theatergoers, will be a rare engagement at the Majestic Theater January 20, matinee and night. This ever popular entertainment, which is now being offered for its seventh season, is undoubtedly the most successful story of western life ever written. It is full of thrilling situations, contains plenty of good, wholesome comedy and simply teems with heart interest. Plays of this kind never die; they live forever. It is claimed by the management that "Billy, the Kid," has been presented in every city of importance in the United States and Canada and that ever two million people have witnessed it.—Advertisement.

PANAMA AND THE CANAL
 The opening of the Panama Canal and the exposition commemorating it are of absorbing interest to all the world. The stage, always a reflex of the happenings of the times, will not be the least helpful in disseminating information as to this important event in the history of the world.
 Al. G. Field, who always has something pertinent to the times in his program, has taken advantage of the opportunities presented and will have a scenic production descriptive of the ceremonies attending the opening of the canal that will bring two worlds nearer.—Advertisement.

MISS LEE IS PRETTY
 One of the cutest and most popular little girls to appear at the Orpheum for some time is pretty Miss Lee, of Ryan and Lee, who present one of those classy song, dance and patter skits in the current offering. Both Miss Lee and her partner are clever and original entertainers and their sparkling patter is crisp and new. They dance a little, sing and talk, and patrons who attend the theater more than once are discovering that their twenty-minute entertainment is different from almost every show. So much for the originality of Ryan and Lee. The pleasing personalities of the two must be seen to be appreciated. Ryan and Lee offer one of the splendid turns of the well-balanced and strongly

Mifflintown Coasters

Hurt When Big Sled Hits Telegraph Pole
 Special to The Telegraph
 Mifflintown, Pa., Jan. 16.—While a party of nine young folks were coasting on Rowe's hill, above Basin bridge, at Mifflintown, last evening, a large bob-sled, guided by James Robinson, ran into a telegraph pole at the foot of the hill, with disastrous results. Robert Kulp had a hip dislocated; Miss Green, a trained nurse in the Lewistown Hospital, had her hip dislocated, and James Robinson, finger broken and otherwise injured. The others, Benjamin Swager, Roswell Botty, James McCauley, Blair Earnest and John Patterson, were slightly hurt. Dr. B. M. Crawford and Dr. William Banks attended the injured coasters. Miss Green was taken back to Lewistown Hospital this morning.

Baby in Suitcase Is Saved by Strong Lungs

Special to The Telegraph
 Hoboken, N. J., Jan. 16.—If the baby who is being cared for at police headquarters had not used his lungs to register a protest, he might have been left to perish on one of the shelves in the "lost parcel" room at the Lackawanna Railroad station yesterday. Wrapped in warm blankets and resting his tiny head on an elderdown pillow, the baby had been placed in a suitcase and left on the upper deck of the Lackawanna ferryboat Netherlands. He is six weeks old.
 Giuseppe Accetto, a bootblack, found the suitcase, and it was while he was talking to the clerk in the lost parcel room that the baby gave vent to the plaintiff wail that revealed his presence. The child bore evidence of having been well nourished, and was prettily dressed.

Skeleton of Man Missing 5 Years Found in Mine

Special to The Telegraph
 Pittsburgh, Jan. 16.—The mysterious disappearance of Edward Joyce, mine superintendent for the Carnegie Coal Company, five years ago was explained this morning, when his skeleton was discovered in an abandoned part of the mine at Glendale, on the outskirts of Pittsburgh.
 Miners went through a part of the mine that had been worked out and abandoned some years ago and stumbled across a skeleton.
 On making a search they found a gold watch, which served to identify the man as Edward Joyce. There was also $75 in paper money among the rags which still clothed the bones of the lost man.

Pope's Vicar Forbids Dancing of the Tango

Special to The Telegraph
 Rome, Jan. 16.—Cardinal Basilio Pompili, Vicar General of Rome, representing the Pontiff, has issued a pastoral letter denouncing the tango and also certain newspapers, theatrical performances and fashions, which, he declares, are perverting souls. The Cardinal says:
 "The tango, which has already been condemned by illustrious bishops, and is prohibited even in protestant countries, must be absolutely prohibited in the seat of the Roman Pontiff, the center of the Roman Catholic religion."

James Gordon Bennett Is Robbed of $28,000

Special to The Telegraph
 London, Jan. 16.—A Frenchman, Ernest La Porte, was arrested at Southampton and charged on an extradition warrant at Bow street with stealing $28,000 from James Gordon Bennett. The accused, who formerly was employed on the Paris Herald, said when arrested: "I might have taken more. I left 15,000 francs in the safe." Notes and coins totaling $5,000 were found on him when arrested. He was remanded to custody.

ENTERTAINED SLEDDING PARTY

Special to The Telegraph
