

WOMEN AND THEIR INTERESTS

TABLOID TALES

What, mother, is meant by a "house party"? I read of it often these days. A house party, child, is one where the hostess has to worry about sheets, as well as tablecloths.

What, mother, is a debutante? It is a name, my dear, given to a girl when she is about sixteen and which makes her more hard to get along with than if she goes by the old-fashioned name of "one of the young ones."

What, mother, is a compliment? It is that gentle art, my child, that if used with nicey as a handle will sweep any door.

What, mother mine, is ambition? It is a praiseworthy hope and desire, child, do you feelings. Every one is well supplied in youth, but it dwindles away in time like a cake of soap, so that by the time a man is seventy he can't remember that he ever had any in the tub with him.

What, mother, is a bookmark? It is something, a small woman uses to mark the place between the pages of uplift literature?

But, mother mine, what is it called when that literature is not uplift? You are so unsophisticated, little one. A bookmark is never used between the pages of trashy literature for the reason that it is not wanted in the end, the book is not put down till the end is reached. I am old, and I have seen many books, but I never saw a bookmark in a trashy novel.

Who, mother, is the ideal wife? It is the wife, my child, who when her husband shaves and puts on his suit and goes out to help a friend dig a well, believes him.

MEMORY'S MANSION

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

In Memory's Mansion are wonderful rooms, And we wander about them at will; And pause at the casements, where boxes of blooms Are sending sweet scents o'er the sill.

We lean from a window that looks on a lawn; From a turret that looks on the wave.

But draw down the shade when we see on some glade A stone standing guard by a grave.

To Memory's attic I clambered one day When the roof was resounding with rain, And there, among relics long hidden away, I rummaged with heartache and pain.

A pastime outgrown and forgot,

And a fragment of love all corroded with rust;

Were lying heaped up in one spot.

And there on the floor of that garret was tossed A friendship too fragile to last, With pieces of dearly bought pleasures that cost Vast fortunes of pain in the past.

A fabric of passion, once vivid and bright,

As the heart of a robin in Spring,

Was spread out before me—a terrible sight—

A moth-eaten rag of a thing.

Then down the deep stairway I hurriedly went,

And here the fragrance of home;

But the mansion seemed filled with the old attic scent.

Wherever my footstep would go,

Though in Memory's House I still wander full oft,

No more to the garret I climb;

And I leave all the rubbish heaped there in the loft To the hands of the Housekeeper, Time.

Say, These are Great!

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

"Great"—you'll hear that from almost everybody at the table every time a plate of Aunt Jemima's delicious pancakes comes in piping hot from the kitchen. Aunt Jemima's makes the finest cakes that ever went into your mouth—the plump, tender kind—light as a feather—temptingly browned, and Um! so delicious to taste. Spread thick with good, fresh butter and lots of syrup, they are great.

Have Aunt Jemima's for tomorrow's breakfast. Takes just a minute to stir 'em up. Good for waffles and muffins, too.

Your grocer has Aunt Jemima's in a bright red package. (Read what it says on the top about the funny Rag Dolls for the kiddies.)

Good Coal Means Less Coal

Buy only good fuel and you'll buy less. Good coal gives off heat steadily and the consumption is less than it would be if mixed with slate and other impurities which decrease heat value. To buy our coal is to buy good coal. It costs no more—try it.

811 Boy's Shirt, 6 to 12 years.

Boys always stand in need of new blouses. This one is cut on the latest lines. The yoke across the back allows fullness that is both becoming and comfortable. The sleeves are without fullness at the shoulders and there is a high turned-over collar that is separate and adjusted over a neck-band and attached by means of studs. Madras and percale are the preferred materials for blouses of this kind, but for really cold weather, boys like flannel. There is a patch pocket on the left front, for no masculine garment is complete without such a convenience. At the lower edge, there is a hem in which elastic can be inserted to adjust the size.

For the 10 year size, the blouse will require 2 1/2 yds. of material 27, 2 yds. 36, 1 1/4 yds. 44 in. wide.

The pattern of the blouse 811 is cut in sizes from 6 to 12 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents.
