MATT HITS SELF AND COLLEAGUES

Attempting to sidestep responsibility for the public service company law by its uncertainty about passes, and the it to the Republican members of the Legislature, hit Democratic legislators of 1913 a terrific backhand blow. The division met yesterday at Altoona, with Representative John T. Bedford, the chairman, presiding. Matt was a legislator who voted the first vote on the public service company law, but voted for a bill when it came up finally on the 25, 1913, in the House. This solution was passed by the committee of which he is boss: "Resolved further, That the attention of the voters of this district be called to the fact that the public utility bill, the placing in operation of which has deprived the families of broad employees of their railroad wages, was strictly a Republican measure, and that the Democratic members of the last Legislature as the product of the corporate and opposed until the very last of the Democratic members of the Legislature, the public utility bill as advocated by the Democrats restricted the issuance of passes to public officials only, namely, national, State and county, and city employees." The Journal says the Legislature says that the conference committee report on the bill, which was the final one, was adopted in both houses on the 25, 1913, in the Senate the vote was 0 to 0 and in the House 179 to 9, and 161 to 0. Among the members of the Legislature who voted for the bill and who are mentioned in the bill as "Democratic members of the Legislature" are: E. Lewry Humes, now United States District Attorney for Western Pennsylvania, the reorganization floor leader; E. H. Burnett, of Cumberland; Mellett, of Fulton; Donnelly, Perry; Geisler, of Northampton; W. H. Montgomery; Kuhns, of Lehigh; Post, of Washington; Uman, of York; and others. It will be recalled at the House had to vote twice on a bill on June 26, owing to a mix-up on a page. The first vote is to be found on page 5218 of the Journal and the second on page 5246 and 5247 to 0. The name of Mr. Matt appears among other Democrats on the list voting for the bill, and therefore is censured by his own resolution.

Mrs. Cordelia Quiggle Was Well Known Here

Mrs. Cordelia Quiggle, widow of J. W. Quiggle, one of the best known of Pennsylvania's diplomats of a quarter century ago, who was buried from the beautiful family home at McElhattan yesterday, will be recalled by many of the older residents of this city as a guest at the Executive Mansion and at a number of Harrisburg homes years ago. She was a close friend of the wife of Governor John W. Geary, who later became Mrs. Goodman and who was buried here a short time ago. Mrs. Quiggle was a member of one of the old families of the State and a number of residents of this city have been entertained at her home.

Telephone Goes Ahead of Pass Questions Today

The telephone superseded the railroad pass and the reduced rate at the Public Service Commission today, the hearing on the objections of the Bell Telephone Company to the proposed telephone rate schedule being resumed in the House caucus room. A number of experts were heard. This hearing has been in progress for months and is the most exhaustive ever undertaken in the State. The commission spent practically all of yesterday in continuation of the hearing on the company's protest against the schedule. The testimony was largely of details of business management, J. H. Hons, auditor of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and associated companies, being the chief witness. He was followed by Nathan Hayward, chief engineer, who presented a number of maps and charts and traced the development of the company territorially since the opening of its first exchange in 1880. H. P. Gillette, of Philadelphia, formerly connected with the railroad and public service commissions of Pacific States, gave expert testimony on the appraisal valuation of the companies' properties at $74,450,611, fixing what he considered as proper returns at 8 per cent. Other testimony was presented in the physical valuation of the properties, this being the first case of the kind to arise in this State.

Mouth Wash For Those With Cigaret Habit

By Associated Press. New York, Jan. 22.—Men and boys to the number of 300 last night crowded into the court room of Recorder John J. McGovern in the City Hall in Hoboken, N. J., about fifty of whom joined actively in the Recorder's crusade against cigarettes by taking a treatment to break the habit.

Two physicians from the medical staff of the Hoboken Board of Education administered the treatment which consisted of painting the palates and throats of the smokers with a solution guaranteed to produce a repulsive taste for cigarettes. In addition each patient received a prescription providing for a mouth bath after meals and whenever the desire to smoke comes upon him.

"If the treatment proves a success we shall introduce it in the public schools," said the Recorder. "We shall either get permission from the parents of the pupils or else make the treatment compulsory."

"SNOBBISHNESS" IN U. S. NAVY IS BRANDED UNTRUE

By Associated Press. Washington, Jan. 22.—Accusations of "snobbishness" in the United States navy are branded as "untrue" and "unjust" in a letter from an officer of the Naval Reserve to Secretary Daniels today. For obvious reasons, the officer's name was not made public. The officer in his letter refers to published statements attributed to an officer who recently resigned from the naval service and who is alleged to have stated that navy officers in general were snobbish and looked with disdain and contempt upon all who were not graduates of the Naval Academy and, furthermore, that the Navy Department had investigated the report.

COAL TAX SUIT IS INAUGURATED HERE

Scranton Coal Company Starts Test on Ground That It Is Unconstitutional

NO PASS DECISION TODAY

Governor Tener Returns From Philadelphia and Meets With Commissioners

Suit to test the constitutionality of the anthracite coal tax of 1913 was instituted in the Dauphin county court by the People's Coal Company, of Scranton, in the form of a bill filed by F. M. Flanagan, attorney at law of the company. The Attorney General's Department accepted the service of the suit through Deputy Attorney General W. M. Flanagan, and will defend the action. The proceeding is on the ground that the tax violates the constitution in that it is confiscatory and the officers would not be doing their duty in enforcing it. The bill charges that which buys the coal if they did not test the law. It is contended that it is a commodities tax, levied in one commodity and illegal and arbitrary and that the distribution of the proceeds is arbitrary in that the State collects the tax and without an appropriation returns it to the counties which produce coal, but none to the coal mine districts. The distribution is to districts of coal producing counties on a basis of population whether they mine coal or not. As an instance of this distribution at large it is stated that in Dauphin county three districts produce coal and all of the divisions of the county get a share of the coal tax, while in Lackawanna county seven districts will receive more from the coal tax than they receive from all other taxation.

TREE COMMISSION TO BE APPOINTED

[Continued From First Page] made up of three members of the shade tree commission would not be discussed by Commissioner Taylor, although, it is said, the names of Disbrow, Bailey and Hershey are being considered. Mr. McFarland's country-wide experience and activity in the shade tree crusade and general park development work already done in this place on the new commission, too, it has been pointed out. Mr. Brady has also been talked of. Both of the new bodies will be appointed to serve for the two-year term and will be under the jurisdiction of the Park Commissioner.

Marks Passing of Old Board

The selection of the Park Commission by the City Planning Commission will probably mark the passing of the former body as an advisory board to Commissioner Taylor. Warren H. Manning will be retained as the city's park expert. The resolution appointing the new commissions to be introduced Tuesday will include a clause Mr. Taylor said, that will provide for the abolishing of the park board.

"While I have not determined definitely as to the appointees," said Commissioner Taylor, "I've practically decided to put in the resolution providing for the creation of the commission on Tuesday. You can at least say that I contemplated so anyway."

"Will you discuss the probable make-up of the Shade Tree Commission?" was asked. "No, no now." I've about decided about it, but I'd rather not talk on that subject before Council meets."

"Is it your plan to combine the park, city planning and shade tree commissions so as to concentrate them in one office?" "No, my idea now is to do away with the present park board," said Mr. Taylor. "This will be provided for in Tuesday's resolution. I think."

"What about Warren H. Manning, the landscape expert?" "Mr. Manning will remain as the city park expert."

Old Well Found on Camp Curtin Grounds

Several boys coming to school at the Camp Curtin building discovered a hole about two feet wide and seemingly without a bottom in the school yard back of the building. An investigation showed that the hole was caused by the sinking in of the covering of an old well. The well was found to be thirty-six feet deep and about six feet in diameter. It had been covered over with earth supported on railroad ties and these had decayed. The hole was covered with heavy plank. The school board will fill the well at once.
