STEELTON MIDDLETOWN CHICHESTER ROYALTON OBERLIN ENHAUT

SENIORS TO GIVE "SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER"

PASS QUESTION TO BE HELD UP A WHILE
SENIORS GIVE PLAY IN JUNIORS' HONOR
CHARITY BRANCH FOR STEELTON PLANNED

The Public Service Commission will study it from some New Angles. Elaborate preparations have been made for the presentation of the sixth annual play by the senior class of the Steelton High School in honor of the juniors, in the High School auditorium this evening.

This year's class has made a radical departure from custom and will present Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" in five acts, instead of one of the Shakespearean plays. Under the direction of Professor William Harclerode, teacher of literature in the High School, the big cast had attained an ability seldom seen in an amateur production.

The big cast is elaborately costumed and the stage has been rearranged to care for several acts of the play. The advance sale this year has broken all records and it is expected that the attendance at this evening's presentation will surpass all former years.
