GIFTS FOR MRS. LEHR DISTRICT PRESIDENT

Members of Camp 23, P. O. of A., Delight to Honor Popular Officer

The banquet arranged by Camp 23, P. O. of A., in honor of Mrs. William K. Lehr, of 1229 Berryhill street, the district president, was a delightful event of the week. Festoons of red, white and blue, mingled with greenery and masses of carnations, under the decoration of the hall in the fraternal building, and after a program of music, readings and an all course turkey dinner.

Marriage License Held Till Oath Is Explained

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 23.—Because he did not get a license, the nature of an oath as required by law when application is made for a marriage license, Roda Nikica, a foreigner from Harrisburg, who applied to D. Gilbert, the marriage license clerk in this city, became unduly embarrassed yesterday and endeavored to explain in "pigeon English" that he did not understand. The process of issuing the license was delayed until the clerk made it clear to the applicant that he was to swear to the answer he made in reply to the questions, and not in any other way. Nikica got a license to marry Florita Milk, also of Harrisburg, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. A. B. Statton.

Events in Compliment to Mrs. Cunningham

Quite a number of social events are being arranged in compliment to Mrs. Jess E. B. Cunningham, wife of the Deputy Attorney General, who will arrive from Pittsburgh Monday to visit Mrs. William B. McCaleb, 27 North Front street. Among them will be a bridge Tuesday evening with Mrs. McCaleb hostess, and a bridge Wednesday afternoon followed by a tea, also given by Mrs. McCaleb.

A Real Snow Ball For Central High Students

A delightful and novel dance, arranged for the students of the Central High School at Henshaw's Hall, will be an affair of this evening. The committee in charge, Edward Roth and Samuel Froehlich, have lost no opportunity to make their guests feel that they are at a snow ball, and the hall will be appropriately decorated, representing a snow globe; the piano will be covered with foaming suds of Sour-Beer. Many of the guests will come dressed as snowmen, Miss snowwomen or in other appropriate garb. The guests are looking forward to a most novel and jolly time.

STAR COURSE CLOSING WITH A FINE MUSICAL

The closing entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course was given in Fainstock Hall last evening by Miss Mary Wall, of New York, the well-known harpist, and Miss Edna Kimball, vocalist and reciter. The program was one of great excellence, and the artists were received with favor, and because of their splendid work won merited applause. As a lyceum combination it would be hard to improve upon this one. They were listened to by a good-sized audience and should they return again next season they will be heard by even a larger one, because of their fine efforts last evening.

PARTY FOR MRS. MAXWELL

The guests attending the birthday party given to Mrs. Albert Maxwell at her home, 1804 North Sixth street, were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hillbusch, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Batey, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. Steward Foutz, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bailey, Miss Edna Fenton, Miss Violet Fenton, George Hivner, Miss Helen Batey, Miss Pauline Bailey, Miss Iva Bailey, Miss Tressa Maxwell, Albert Maxwell, Ralph Batey, Eva Maxwell, Katherine Batey, Percy Batey, Jr.

MISS GINGRICH'S PUPILS IN A RECITAL TO-MORROW

The first recital given by the pupils of Miss J. Blanche Gingrich, will be held Saturday afternoon, January 24, at her studio, 2286 North Sixth street. Participating in the program will be Miss Ruth Drake, Miss Ruth Hoffman, Miss Mary Loban, Miss Kathryn Bradigan, Miss Helen Minnick and Miss Sophia Milliken.

HARRY MURPHY IN HOSPITAL

Harry R. Murphy, of 749 South Twenty-first street, son of F. P. Murphy, formerly of New Bloomfield, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Keystone Hospital Wednesday morning and is making a good recovery, so the physicians say.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Speace, of 130 South Second street, returned last evening from a pleasant trip to Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Barnett Patrick is suffering from a severe attack of the grip.

Mrs. Mary Culp, of Hartford, Conn., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. L. Kerns, at 2022 Susquehanna street.

Mrs. P. W. Greene, of 1519 State street, is in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., attending the funeral of her uncle, ex-Senator William H. Hines.

MAJOR MORAN IN THE CITY
Major Thomas P. Moran, formerly military instructor at Scotland and Chester Springs Soldiers' Orphans' Schools, and a prominent member of the John Jacob Astor Camp, No. 28 Spanish-American War Veterans, of Atlantic City, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Saltzman, at 2223 North Third street.
