NINTH SECTION

In the regimental matches at the State rifle range in 1913, the Eighth Regiment team won both the rapid fire and the skirmish trophies, shooting against teams from all the regiire and the skirmish trophles, shooting against teams from all the regiments in the State. On the Eighth team this year were three members of Co. De-Corporal Claude W. Gerdes, Corporal Charles A. Burtnett and Private Albert L. Dunn.

Corporal Gerdes made such a high average for the week's shoot at the State matches that he won a place on the Pennsylvania team to the national matches at Camp Perry, Ohio. The Pennsylvania team stood very high In the matches, but did not win any prizes. Corporal Gerdes brought honor to his State, his regiment and to his company by winning the individual surprise fire match in competition with the best shots in the United States, in shooting that is recognized as the most difficult of all rifle practice—"Surprise Fire"—where the target bobs up at unexpected times and remains in sight but a few seconds. There were seven ties in this match—each with ten straight bulls' eyes for a possible score of 50. In the shoot off Corporal Gerdes made five more 'bulls'—a total of 25, giving him 15 straight, with a total of 75, and winning the match.

Captain Owen M. Copelin, inspector of small arms practice of the Eighth Regiment, who was with the Pennsylvania State team at Camp Perry sent the following telegram to Colone Joseph B. Hutchison, regimental commander:

During the season of 1898 nothing was done in rifle practice in the National Guard of the State nor did the usual competition take place owing to the fact that the entire division was ordered to Mt. Gretna for muster into the United States Volunteer Service for the war with Spain. Under the circumstances it was impossible for the members of the Guard to qualify as usual and it was decided to issue the sharpshooters' and first and second class marksmen's decorations to all the sharpshooters' and first and second class marksmen's decorations to all of the officers and men who qualified in 1897, thus making a continuous record for the men who remained in the Guard and qualified in 1899, and also to provide a special decoration for all marksmen who volunteered for the war with Spain.

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips, and tired bodies—sometimes eruptions of the skin and the utter lack of the ambition and animation with which their younger years were filled.

Budding into womanhood and man-hood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated nourishment which is readily convertible into red blood which is readily convertible into red blood corpuscles, energy and strength, and the very best thing for this changing age is the medical nutriment in Scott's Emulsion—it possesses the rare blood-making properties of cod liver oil in a predigested form; hypophosphites for the nervous system, with the healing, soothing qualities of pure glycerine.

Its nourishing force promites assimilation, yields direct returns in abundant, red blood, fills hollow cheeks, toues the nerves, makes all good food do good, and does it in a natural easy mauner.

The sustaining nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is so helpful to this changing age that it should never be neglected—every druggist has it.

der No. 32, A. G. O., was issued, which provided:

"To every officer and enlisted man of the National Guard of Pennsylvania who did not enter the United States Volunteer Service and remains a member of the National Guard of Pennsylvania on October 31, 1898, and who qualified in the year 1897, will be issued the decoration to which he would have been entitled had he qualified this year with the same score as he made in 1897."

""To the officers and men who qualified as sharpshooters, first class, second class or third class marksmen in 1897, and who entered the United States Volunteer Service, an oval bronze medal will be issued, inscribed on the reverse side as follows: To the marksmen of the National Guard of Pennsylvania who entered United States service in war with Spain, 1898."

Royal Votes "No"

And when the vote was called for everybody voted for the adoption of the measure but Mayor Royal who excused himself thus:

"I vote 'no' as I do not think the office of highway commissioner should be abolished and be filled later on."

Council passed finally the ordinance introduced a month ago by Commissioner Taylor providing for the issue of the $300,000 worth of bonds authorized in the fourth improvement loan. This measure gives the sinking fund commissioners the authority to float $100,000 for park improvement, $25,000 each for new bridges, fire apparatus, public comfort station, municipal repair plant and $50,000 for sewers.

At the request of Commissioner Taylor the Royal ordinance prohibiting children under the age of 15 from attending moving picture theaters, etc., after 8 o'clock in the evening or during school hours unless accompanied by an adult was postponed. Mr. Taylor wants to look into it a little more thoroughly, he said.

Bowman Saves City Money

More than $1,100 is again saved the city by City Commissioner Bowman, of the Department of Public Safety, as a result of the conference he recently had with George B. Tripp, vice-president and general manager of the Harrisburg Light and Power Company, relative to the underground conduit system. The light company was the only bidder for the placing of the wires of the police and fire alarm in conduit, its figure being $3,190.93. The light company, however, has offered to put the wires down for a lump sum of $2,400 in view of the fact that it has to provide for its own conduits. Mr. Bowman was directed to close the contract after an opinion from City Solicitor Seitz on the subject had been read.

The Bowman ordinance lopping a dollar from the yearly minimum domestic water rates was introduced. It reduces the rate from $6 bett or Mulberry. Commissioner Lynch — Authorizing the opening and grading of Nineteenth street from Chestout to Mulberry.

A bill of $33.75 for damages to carpet caused by an overflowing sewer, tendered by Brown & Co., North Third street, was referred to Commissioner Lynch with instructions to confer with Mr. Seitz as to the city's liability. Council was invited by the Washington Fire Company to inspect its Christmas tree to-morrow evening. The ordinances providing for an arc light at Third and Locust, re-enacting the old paving advertising ordinances and constructing sewers in Fourth and Daisy streets were passed finally.

Chamber of Commerce Expresses Desire to Work With Council

in hand with the Councilmen for the betterment of the peopl of Harris burg.

Following is the letter:
Mayor John K. Royal and Members of the New City Council, Harrisburg, Pa.
Gentlemen: The directors of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce take this opportunity of expressing to you, as the new city officials, their desire to work in harmony with you.

The policy of the new organization will not be one of criticism or complaint, nor one of passing various resolutions. There are many ways, we believe, in which the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council can work together. The directors do not believe the members of the Chamber of Commerce will ask for changes and improvements in the conduct of the city which are not practicable, and we believe as a general policy it is better to promote things by personal conferences than to first express desires through the newspapers.

Very truly yours,

GEO, B. TRIPP,

President.

Lebanon, Pa., Jan. 27. — William

Middletown, engaged as horseman for Daniel B. Kieffer, a widely known horse trader, yesterday afternoon discovered the lifeless body of Jacob Artz in a room on the second floor of the Drovers' Exchange stables here.
Mr. Kieffer was conducting a large horse sale, and his men had gone to the room of the chief hostler, Artz, to inspect the premises when they were shocked beyond measure to find the men in a kneeling position with his face thrust into an open trunk.
As the entire party had conversed with Artz just half an hour before, it was first suspected the man was sick, but when he was laid upon his bed he was found to be dead, having been overcome by heart disease. Artz was a native of Berks county,

Lane Wants Radium Prices

Reduced For Sufferers

Washington, Jan. 27. — Secretary Lane told the House Mines Committee that Congress should break up "the monopoly that keeps radium at a fabulously prohibitive price" and enact legislation to put the curative on the market cheaply for large nums bers of sufferers.

Secretary Lane declared it was the government's duty to get all the ratium it could. He combatted arguments against withdrawal of lands saying there was no intention of setting aside a vast area nor to look up the mineral ore lands indefinitely, but simply to get radium out for public use where it would not be in the hands of a monopoly.
