Bought Cultivator In 1877; Takes it Home 37 Years After

Frank Hipple, of Marietta, Recovers Farm Implement Sold at Auction and "Knocked Down" to Him Long Ago

Marietta, Pa., Jan. 28.—Frank Hipple, 89 years old, the third oldest man in the borough, while standing in Boreman's coach works yesterday suddenly thought of a cultivator that he had purchased thirty-seven years ago at the public sale of the late M. Kline and that it was still where he had purchased it. Jacob Rhoads, a veteran of the Civil War; Henry Pickle, 79 years old, and John Pflizer, a man of 50, with Mr. Hipple, went to the spot, half a mile away, and together they took down the cultivator, which had been knocked off to him at 50 cents long ago. Mr. Hipple, when he purchased it, was told by the auctioneer that "there it hangs; now get it down," and Mr. Hipple, becoming angry, never look it down. After the cultivator was taken down Mr. Hipple secured a wheelbarrow and hauled it home. The cultivator, which was practically unused, was made in Marietta.

Bold Highwayman Tries to Rob Railroad Employee

Columbia, Pa., Jan. 28.—A bold highwayman made a desperate attempt to rob Emlen P. Fetter, engine hostler at the Reading and Columbia Railroad roundhouse here, early this morning, as he walked outside the building. The man met him as he came out and demanded his pay envelope, which he must have known the railroad had received yesterday. In this however, the robber was foiled, for Mr. Fetter had sent his money to his home, at Lancaster Junction, on an evening train. Mr. Fetter at once gave an alarm and a brakeman, who was in the roundhouse at the time, ran to his assistance, which caused the highwayman to beat a hasty retreat.

A Plain Business Proposition

Can you afford to go on suffering from biliousness, sleeplessness, heart flutter and various other troubles so often brought on by coffee drinking, just because you like coffee? Thousands have quit coffee and are using Postum, and to their joy find that the annoying coffee troubles have quickly disappeared. Not only that, but they find Postum a delightful beverage, with a rich flavour resembling that of Old Gov't Java. Postum, unlike coffee, contains no caffeine nor other drug. Made only from clean hard wheat, with a small per cent of New Orleans molasses, it is a pure, wholesome food-drink which can be freely enjoyed with benefit by all the family. Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be boiled 15 to 20 minutes. Instant Postum—is a soluble powder. A scant teaspoonful to each cup of hot water dissolves instantly. The convenience of Instant Postum is apparent. But, when prepared according to directions both kinds are exactly the same. The cost per cup is about the same.

—Grocers everywhere sell both kinds. If coffee don't agree, try POSTUM "There's a Reason"

Hot Tea Breaks a Cold—Try This

Get a small package of Hamburg Brest Tea, or, as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, mix with boiling water, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure a grip, it opens the pores, relieves congestion, also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Advertisement.
