Didn't Say Coeducation Caused Immorality Among Students, Declares Yates

School Director Makes Bitter Attack on Fellow Members of Board Whom He Accuses of Unfairness; Explains His Speech of Several Weeks Ago; Dr. Downes Makes Report Refuting Statement That There Is Anything Morally Wrong at Central High

Explanation was offered by the Rev. Dr. William N. Yates, the Bull Moose member of the City School Board, at a meeting of the directors last night, for his speech of several weeks ago on the question of co-education in the high school.

Points in Special Report of Dr. Downes

Declares not one case of immorality in this city is traceable to coeducation in high schools. Says coeducation tends to IMPROVE morality. Believes separation of sexes would cost more money than general high school. Suggests sending of all boys to Tech high if board separates boys and girls. Shows that double session arrangement is not satisfactory, but is best scheme possible under crowded conditions.

ROYAL HOPED TO USE POLICE FORCE IN HIS DELEGATIONSHIP FIGHT

Blasting of This Hope One of His Reasons for Rage Over Lynch Resolution

The announcement of Mayor Royal that, with the support of the McCormick wing of the Democratic party, he will be a candidate for State delegate explains to a considerable degree the rage into which he was thrown by the Lynch resolution removing practically all city employees from the city in the event that he had counted on swinging the police force into line in support of his candidacy for delegate and the threatened removal of all the present officers from office on one side and the powerful aid of the police force machine that has been used so effectively in the past.

MRS. GERHOLD AND HER MOTHER HELD; BAIL IS REFUSED

Court Refuses to Release Two Women Held on Murder Charge

Special to The Telegraph
Chambersburg, Pa., Feb. 7.—The habeas corpus hearing of Mrs. Zeida Keller Gerhold and her mother, Mrs. Jennie Ricker, was concluded this morning. Mrs. Gerhold was held with out bail last evening for poisoning her husband. Her mother this morning was also held without bail for court. The evidence of sixteen witnesses required all of Friday to hear. Mrs. Ricker was shown to have greatly disliked Keller. She told witnesses that she had placed a drug in his coffee to cure him of drinking. Then she denied this and said he never drank coffee. It was shown he did. She stated that he was dying from whiskey and did not recover, but it was shown he drank but little liquor. Mrs. Ricker with Mrs. Keller visited a negro fortune-teller three times and paid her $50 for prophecies about Mrs. Gerhold and her mother. The seeress told Mrs. Gerhold she would have abundance of trouble. Mrs. Ricker made arrangements with State Policeman Davies to have Mrs. Gerhold confess that she poisoned her husband. Davies could not promise that the woman would not hang or that she could go to jail instead of the penitentiary and that she could see her children often and Mrs. Gerhold refused to confess.

CUPPLES SUICIDE ON HEADS OF STATE AND BREWERS, SAYS HART

Methodist Preacher Shows Who Is Responsible For Enola Man's Slaying Self

WHOLE CHAIN OF GUILT

Makes Stirring Plea That Christian Citizens Arise and Throw Out Liquor

That responsibility for the suicide of Allen K. Cupples, the young Enola man who shot himself on Monday, rested not on him alone, but on the liquor dealers, the judges who grant the license, the State which grants a "take-off" on the license, and the public which, permits the liquor traffic, was the declaration made by the Rev. John H. Daugherty, pastor of Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, in the funeral sermon this afternoon.

The home in Enola was crowded when the services began at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The denunciation of the liquor business by the minister made a deep impression. Young Cupples shot himself Monday on his return home after spending hours in saloons trying to forget his domestic troubles. He died at the Harrisburg Hospital Tuesday night.

FRENCHMAN BLAMES LATE CATASTROPHES ON WIRELESS WAVES

When Stations Send Simultaneously, Unexplainable Phenomenon Occurs

CLAIM FOLLOWS EXPERIMENTS

Declares Steamship Volturno Was Burned at Point Where Waves Intercept

By Associated Press
Paris, Feb. 7.—Duroquier, an electrician, declares he has reason to believe that wireless waves have been responsible for several recent catastrophes notably the burning at sea of the liner Volturno, the Cardiff mine explosion and the destruction of the French battleship Liberté at Toulon.

M. Duroquier says that experiments made by him in his laboratory in the province of Touraine, which is situated about midway between the Eiffel Tower and the Rochefort, wireless stations, show that whenever the stations are set in simultaneously an inexplicable phenomenon is produced in the zone of intersection of the waves. Two glass globes filled with inflammable gas, Mr. Duroquier says, were exploded by the disturbance, although they were not connected with the antennae of his apparatus.
