GIVE THANKS FOR BLESSINGS By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

The track seems to shine in the light.

But it suddenly shoots over chasms
Or sinks into tunnels of night.
And the hearts that were brave in the morning
Are filled with repining and fears
As they pause at the City of Sorrow
Or pass through the Valley of Tears.
But the road of this perilous journey
The hand of the Master has made;
With all its discomforts and dangers,
We need not be sad or afraid.
Paths leading from light into darkness,

ness, Ways plunging from gloom to de-spair, Wind out through the tunnels of mid-spair,

Wind out through the tunnels of midnight
To fields that are blooming and fair.
Though the rocks and the shadows
surround us.
Though we catch not one gleam of
the day,
Above us fair cities are laughing.
And dipping white feet in some bay.
And always, eternal, forever.
Down over the hills in the West,
The last final end of our journey,
There lies the Great City of Rest.
'Tis the Grand Central point of all
railways,
All roads unite here when they end;
'Til the final resort of all tourists,
All rival lines meet here and blend.
All tickets, all mile-books, all passes,
If stolen or begged for or bought,
On whatever road or division,
Will bring you at last to this spot.
If you pause at the City of Trouble,
Or wait in the Valley of Tears,
Be patient, the train will move onward

All tickets, all mile-books, all passes, if stolen or begged for or bought, On whatever road or division, Will bring you at last to this spot. If you pause at the City of Troube, Or wait in the Valley of Tears, Be patient, the train will move onward And rush down the track of the years.
Whatever the place is you seek for, Whatever your game or your quest, You shall come at the last with rejoicing To the beautiful City of Rest. You shall store all your baggage of worries, Relm, You shall sail with old friends on fair waters, With joy and delight at the helm. You shall wander in cool, fragrant gardens With those who have loved you the best,

Take the very good, simple, kindly farmer's wife, whose whose whole joy of the Mose whose whole joy of the Mose who have loved you the life and simple, kindly farmer's wife, whose whose whole joy of the date in preparing food for he household, and in attending the church, and in retiring early and risting betimes, and place her in the home of the Duchess of Marlborough, in London, and she would be very miserable indeed.

Her ideas of life and pleasure and duty are wholly different from those of the Duchess. Yet both are good where when they pass on; but their heavens when they pass on; but their heavens will be unsumilar.

Yet no doubt they will be less unsumilarly to be cultivated. We must learn to discriminate between our needs and our desires, our wants and our necessities; between our physical tool—the body—and our Master Mind. The Tracher tells us this will develop the intellectual Soul and give spiritual life new imperus.

Devotion is another important factor in our growth.

To let no day pass in which we do not turn our thoughts reverently to Higher Powers and Invisible Help-ters, and give thanks and love to the Creator for all our blessings, and ask for more light and greater opportunities for usefulness.

Then comes the farm dunder-dunder with those who have loved you the best.

Divers Say Bodies of Dead in Old Dominion Steamer Can Be Saved

By Associated Press

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 9.—Expert divers who have thoroughly examined the wreck of the Old Dominion steamer Monroe, sunk in collision with the Nantucket, express the belief to-day while the bodies of the forty-one victims, as well as the cargo, can be saved, the vessel itself will be a total loss. They declare that the reason none of the bodies of the dead have come to the surface or been rescued is due to the terrific force of the collision which jammed the timbers and doors of the starboard saloons and doors of the starboard saloons and staterooms, practically and effectually sealing them from the action of the sea Divers have found it impossible to open these doors, even with the aid of heavy axes and say that explosives must be used to liberate the dead.

Examination of the exterior by the divers disclosed the fact that near the bridge on the starboard side below the water line and extending through the hull to the keel there is a ragged hole large enough to permit the passons as age of half a dozen men abreast.

badly they attack the system, or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each part selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attenion is being given to scientific medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line. Broadway, tired out, but rather happy when he came to think of it, went along the old, familiar street with a light heart. It might not be so very terrible to live in Jonesville. There were trains that ran to Broadway when the longing became irresistible, and very possibly this might be better as a steady diet. He was surprised to find himself admitting this. Sammy was hard at it as the convert turned in between the two white gate posts, each eight feet tall and capped by a great wooden ball which he had used as target when the snow
