"Sammy!"

"The judge had heard and now joined his wife at the window. 'What's the matter, mom?'"

"Oh, you've spoiled that boy! What he needs is a good spanking."

"The judge was not impressed. Sammy often got on his mother's nerves. He rarely did on his. He smiled. Smiling, he saw the waiting gentleman in motor car and goggles.

"Who's the stranger?"

"I don't know."

natured curiosity she left her place by the open window and went out to the porch.

"I beg pardon," said the traveler, "I should like to speak to Mr. Wallace, if you don't mind telling him."

"Thank you come in."

"Won't you, I'll wait here."

"Shall I give any name, sir?"

"Just say to him that his father is here."

The judge and his good wife were taken much aback. So this was the great Wallace, the richest and most powerful advertising man in New York city, perhaps in the United States!

"Oh, certainly, sir," said Mrs. Spotswood and vanished within doors while the judge advanced genially.

"Have I the honor of addressing Mr. Grover Wallace?"

"I am Grover Wallace."

"I'm mighty pleased to meet you, sir. My name is Spotswood—Judge Spotswood."

"Pleased, I'm sure."

"Your son has told me all about you. You have a very fine boy, Mr. Wallace—smart as a steel trap. I've taken a great liking to him. Mr. Jones has just opened up the old house tonight, and we all came over to supper—or dinner, as he calls it. The judge smiled tolerantly. "Perhaps you'd better come inside."

"No, I'll wait out here."

"Hello, gov'nor!" Bob cried heartily—or tried to exclaim heartily; he was more than a little worried as he sprang through the door, across the porch and down the steps. "Well, you have handed me a surprise!"

His father answered coldly. "You've handed me a surprise, also."

"Why, what's the matter?" Bob knew perfectly; but it is always best to let your adversary state his grievance before you try to answer him. He may forget a point or two in his excitement.

"That's what I've come here to find out. I want to find out what the devil is the matter with you."

Broadway had heard the voices, Mrs. Spotswood had conveyed the news to him, and now he himself hurried down the steps.

"Have your father come right inside, Bob," he urged, "and make himself at home."

He went on to the elder Wallace, holding out his hand, and then, when it was not seized eagerly, gripping earnestly for Wallace's.

"By gracious, I'm awfully glad to see you! Bob has spoken of you so often and told me so much about you that I feel as if I know you almost as well as he does."

The elder Wallace showed no answering enthusiasm. He only tried to get his hand away from Broadway's cordial grasp.

"Did you know he was coming?" Broadway demanded of the visitor's son.

"No."

"Oh, a little surprise, eh? Well, just in time for dinner! Come along inside and meet the folks. Having a bully time, aren't we, Bob?"

"Yes; fine. This is Jackson Jones, gov'nor. You've heard me speak of him."

"Yes; I've heard of him," his father answered dryly.

"Isn't it strange we never met before?" said Broadway effusively. "Bob and I being such good friends. But we're going to get better acquainted, aren't we. Come inside."

ALL WANT TO HEAR MILITARY BAND PLAY

Concert in Tech Auditorium Tuesday Night Will Draw a Big Crowd

Classic music as well as the popular selections along with vocal and instrumental solos will make up one of the best concert programs ever offered in Harrisburg and will be a feature of the concert to be given in the Tech high school auditorium, Thursday night, February 26, by Tyrell's Military Band of Lebanon, under the auspices of the Allison Hook and Ladder Company, No. 12.

The concert proceeds will go to the fund now being raised to pay for the entertainment of the visiting firemen who will come to Harrisburg in October, and the Allison boys are anxious to give the best of their talents. The concert will be directed by George F. Tyrell, one of the State's famous band leaders, who will be assisted by a number of popular soloists, including:

Miss Lillian Miller, the 8-year-old daughter of M. Miller, employed at the Diener Jewelry store, a violinist who studied under Miss Sara Lerner; Miss Leah Fletcher, pianist, Harrisburg; and George Martin, monologist, and Mrs. George Martin, pianist, of Paxtang, and the following from Lebanon:

Miss Mae Kellar, cathedral chimes; George F. Turnidge, cornetist; Alfred Phasey, euphonium; Irwin Longenecker, soprano saxophone; Harry Frank, alto saxophone; Henry H. Hershberg, tenor saxophone; Harry Liepeltz, baritone saxophone; and Paul Deitzler, bells and tympanies. The program includes thirteen numbers, one of which is a selection to be played by the band, a serenade, "Old Church Organ," composed by the late William Paris Chambers, a former Harrisburg resident and which will be played in memory of this once famous composer.

Part First—March, "National Guard," Mackie; overture, "Pique Dams," Suppe; saxophone quartet, "Fannhauer," Wagner; patrol, "U. S. A.," Coxmore; violin solo, Miss Lillian Miller, 8 years old; serenade, "Old Church Organ," Chambers, transcribed by Tyrell. Note—Number six is played in memory of the late William Paris Chambers, composer, cornet soloist and bandmaster; monologue, George Martin.

Part Second—Caprice Heroique, "Le Reveil Du Lion," Kontski; Valse Re-spectueuse, "Old Wedding Gown," Smith; cathedral chimes, "Church Bells," Lindahl, Miss Mae Kellar; selection, "Alma, Where Do You Live?"; Biquet; saxophone quartet, overture, "Lostspiel," Keler Bela; finale, "Triumph of Liberty," Brooke; "Star Spangled Banner."

Talks on Home Rule

In regard to home rule for Ireland which for the moment is the subject of paramount national and imperial importance, the king by the emphasis of his words and his manner indicated his personal realization of the gravity of the situation. He said: "I regret that the efforts which have been made to arrive at a solution by agreement of problems connected with the government of Ireland have so far failed. In a matter in which the hopes and fears of so many of my subjects are keenly concerned and which unless handled now with foresight and judgment and in a spirit of mutual concession threatens grave future difficulties, it is my most earnest wish that the good will and co-operation of men of all parties and creeds may heal the dissension and lay the foundations of a lasting settlement."

The king referred to his forthcoming visit to France as according "an opportunity of testifying to the cordial relations," between the two countries.

Suffragettes Make Strong Effort to Keep Bishop From Attending Session

London, Feb. 10.—The militant suffragettes made a strong effort today to prevent the Bishop of London from attending the opening session of the House of Lords of which he is a member. They made him the first victim of their new campaign of molesting public men. Their ire was particularly directed against the bishop for his alleged white-washing of the government in his report on the prison treatment of suffragettes.

The bishop's residence in St. James' Square was picketed early in the day by women. Two of them acted as sentinels on the doorstep. Two other women, Miss Dunlop and Miss May Richardson, then tried to gain access to the bishop but the House door was slammed in their faces.

A large knot of spectators meanwhile stood outside enjoying the scene and awaiting the result of the bishop's exit from his temporary prison.

Along the route from Buckingham Palace to the House of Lords, the authorities took the strictest precautions to prevent any attempt on the part of the suffragettes to break up the procession or reach the king with a petition.

children paraded the town, carrying banners in logans emblemized on banners and transparencies.

More than 2,000 others stood along the route of the parade and cheered the marchers and followed them into the opera house and Memorial Hall, where two mass meetings were held simultaneously.

The seven counties which sent representatives to the meeting yesterday were Chester, Lancaster, Berks, Delaware, Lebanon, Montgomery and Bucks. Dr. George W. Hull, professor of mathematics at Millersville State Normal school, presided. Twenty-nine leaders in county campaigns attended the meeting, which was held at the headquarters of the Chester County No-License Campaign.

Fight on 33 Counties

A representative from each county addressed the meeting on the progress of no-license sentiment in his county. John H. Cole, general secretary of the five-county campaign, said he had received requests for campaign material from thirty-three counties where fights have been begun.

The campaign of remonstrances, to be organized in these thirty-three counties as a result of the Harrisburg meeting, will be supplemented by a battle at the polls to elect local option legislators. The Chester county executive committee, at a meeting yesterday resolved to quiz every candidate for the legislature before the primaries and leave where they stood on the question of local option.

"We must fight this battle out at the polls," said the Rev. J. Mitchell Bennett, of Darby. "Our only hope is

YOU CAN'T BRUSH OR WASH OUT DANDRUFF

The simplest and quickest way is to Dissolve It

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this to-night and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustreous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, brush it by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

Evangelist Minges Consents to Stay Another Week at Fourth Street Church of Christ. Over 400 Converts. Scores Being Baptized

The Evangelist consents to continue one more week. While it was announced the doors would not be opened until 7 last night; the people began crowding around the church shortly after 7. The doors were forced open before 7 and every available seat was taken in a few minutes. Professor Rockwell soon appeared in front of the church with a large bulletin announcing that the church was packed and that the Evangelist would repeat his lecture on "The Passion Play" next Monday night for the benefit of those who could not get into the building. At the close of the service Sunday

Anonymous Letters Are Sent to No-License Workers by Enemies of Temperance

Some person or persons opposed to the activities of temperance advocates in Harrisburg have begun to annoy those most conspicuous in the no-license movement through the medium of anonymous letters.

Two prominent women of this city who work for the cause of temperance and prohibition has been well known have received letters not of the most flattering kind, in which the writer scoffs at the cause they champion, and criticises the personality of those to whom the letters are addressed.

A third letter has been received evidently from the same source by the Rev. John H. Daugherty in which he is criticised by the writer for his statements against the saloon and the liquor traffic.

One sentence from the letter to Mr. Daugherty says: "It seems strange how some people go out knocking a business that has been going on ever since the world began and will always continue to do so." He advises the minister to get out and do some hard

National Association, which meets in Los Angeles, Cal., in April.

The resolutions committee, composed of J. J. McLarin, W. L. Fosnot, Dietrick Lamade, E. M. Finney and E. S. Gray, urged the association to continue to fight legislation making advertisement of legal notices in legal publications mandatory; to urge the establishment of a State School of Journalism; and to have newspapers and magazines admitted to the parcel post. All of these matters were adopted at the meeting last year, and were unanimously approved again this year.

The executive committee will hereafter decide upon the time and place of meeting. It will probably decide upon the city as the meeting place next year.

Allied Organizations Meet

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the two allied organizations, the Pennsylvania Associated Dailies and the Association of Pennsylvania Weeklies met in separate rooms at the Board of Trade Building. Ex-Postmaster E. J. Stackpole, president of the Associated Dailies, presided at the meeting of that organization and George W. Wagenseller, of the Middleburg Post, presided at the meeting of the Associated Weeklies.

At the closing session of the State Editorial Association it was decided to hold the meeting set for this evening as soon as the allied associations had closed their sessions this afternoon.

At 4 o'clock the State Editorial Association met for the closing session. C. Goodwin Turner, of New York city, a newspaper efficiency expert, made the address on "Organization, Leaks" at this meeting. George W. Wagenseller talked before the Weeklies Association on "Organization," and Jason Rogers spoke to the daily men on "Development of More Advertising for the Newspaper."

How to Avoid Those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered.

It is a pity more women do not know of Mother's Friend. Here is a remedy that softens the muscles, enables them to expand without any strain upon the ligaments and enables women to go through maternity without pain, nausea, vomiting, sickness or any of the dreaded symptoms so familiar to many mothers.

There is no foolish diet to harass the mind. The thoughts do not dwell upon pain and suffering, for all such are avoided. Thousands of women no longer suffer themselves to the thought that sickness and distress are natural. They know better, for in Mother's Friend they have found a wonderful, penetrating remedy to banish all those dreaded experiences.

It is a subject every woman should be familiar with, and even though she may not require such a remedy, she will now and then meet some prospective mother to whom a word in time about Mother's Friend will come as a wonderful blessing. This famous remedy is sold by all druggists, and is only $1.00 a bottle. It is for external use only, and is really worth its weight in gold. Write to-day to the Broadfield Regulator Co., 127 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most valuable book.
